Judge 'Invites' Richland Commissioners to Move

Probate-Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer gave the county commissioners a pointed "invitation" to move out of their office to make the space available for use as a courtroom.

The judge's request was made in a letter he addressed to the board, in which he remarked that there is a statutory procedure by which he could enforce his request.

". . . It is not my attitude to take these steps if you will indicate to me that arrangements may be made in the line which I have indicated," wrote Judge Cramer.

Just where the commissioners would set up an office was not known late yesterday. Judge Cramer handed his letter to Guy F. Stewart, chairman of the board of commissioners shortly before noon Saturday. The other two commissioners, C. L. Shoup and Fred W. Dill, had already left for the day.

Asked what he had to say about the request, Stewart said "the others haven't seen it" (the letter.) He said he would show it to them the first thing Monday morning.

When asked for his personal idea on the request, Stewart replied: "I couldn't say anything. I don't know what the others would say. That's a matter I'll have to discuss with the other commissioners."

Judge Cramer said in his letter that for the past eight years he has called to the board's attention the fact "that I am obliged to hold all my hearings and trials in my private office, a room approximately 12 feet by 15 feet." He added that in the office are "six bookcases, a filing cabinet. my desk and as many chairs as we are able to place in the space. It is wholly inadequate."

MAKES REQUEST FORMAL

He asserted that he has by personal contact with members of the board indicated what should be done to relieve the situation. "Now," the letter added, "I wish to formally request that the room which you now occupy, together with the private office, be equipped with a bench, a jury box, counsel tables and proper lighting in order to make it at least a workable courtroom for probate and juvenile cases."

Judge Cramer's letter stated: "As some of your members already know, the large court of appeals room on the third floor is largely waste space."

He said Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch had indicated if the bench in that room was moved to the common pleas courtroom, enabling him to accommodate visiting judges, he would arrange his schedule of cases so that the court of appeals might carry out their semi-annual assignments in the common pleas courtroom. Judge Cramer said that is done in nearly all counties in this judicial district.

The letter said this arrangement would permit commissioners to have the bench and part of the equipment now in the common pleas courtroom removed to a new probate-juvenile courtroom in the offices now occupied by them.

Judge Cramer said that handling cases of both adults and juveniles in the same courtroom was contrary to law and proper practice. He said the commissioners are required by law to provide separate rooms for both.

At one time, probate court was held in a large room now partitioned off into small offices. Former Probate-Juvenile Judge C. J. Anderson, said he did away with that courtroom early in 1934 because the room was dark and there was poor air regulation. Opening the door resulted in a great deal of noise from the hall, he said.

Under the present setup the court has no facilities for witnesses. In the event of a jury trial, the case must be handled in the common pleas courtroom.

Judge Cramer said that last Friday a case came up with a number of witnesses. He declared the case could not have been held if there had been a hearing set for the common pleas courtroom.

He stated he wanted to have a courtroom available at all times for cases in which a number of people are involved. Cases of minors would still be held in his office to insure privacy for the youngsters, he declared.

Jury Acquits Pair In Playboy's Death

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Mrs. Betty Ferreri, pretty young carhop, and Charles Fauci, a roomer, were acquitted yesterday of charges of murdering her playboy husband.

The trial of the 26-year-old waitress and Fauci, 35, who lived at the Ferreri home, lasted six weeks.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said last night that Congress has a "mandate" to keep the Taft-Hartley labor law on the books.

Injuries Fatal to Dale Fry

Funeral Will Be Held Tuesday

Dale M. Fry, 28, of Mansfield, R. D. 5, died at General hospital Saturday afternoon of injuries received in an accident several hours earlier.

He suffered a head injury and a crushed chest when his car was hit by a westbound Pennsylvania freight train at 11:30 a. m. Saturday. The accident occurred at a crossing on Sites road three miles southeast of Mansfield.

According to sheriff's deputies the train hit the right front of the car and threw it 159 feet down the track where it came to rest on the east track. The crash victim was still in the car when an ambulance arrived to take him to the hospital.

The motor was knocked out of the car which was demolished.

Mr. Fry was traveling north toward Mansfield when the accident occurred. Approaching from that direction, motorists must go down a hill before reaching the track. There are no blinker lights at the crossing.

FIFTH FATALITY

The death marks the fifth traffice fatality in Richland county this year. Last year at the same time there had been only two traffic fatalities.

Survivors include his wife, Beulah, and two daughters, Carolyn and Marylin; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fry, Bellville; and four sisters, Mrs. Mildred Mansuetti and Mrs. Marcile Rita, both of Crestline, and Mrs. Margaret Smith and Miss Viola Fry, of Bellville.

Mr. Fry also leaves four brothers, Robert, Leo, Eugene, and Charles, all of Bellville.

He entered the Army in February 1941 and served with the Third Armored division in Holland where he was wounded. He was discharged Dec. 9, 1945.

Funeral services will be held at the Snyder funeral home, Bellville, at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Luther Buchholtz, St. Paul's Lutheran church, Bellville, will officiate. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

Poles Oust U. S. Envoy

WARSAW — (AP) — The Polish government, objecting to a U. S. information service bulletin calling Poland a Soviet satellite, has ordered expulsion of the service's chief, Chester H. Opal.

Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzelewski told U. S. Ambassador Waldemar Gallman that Opal was persona non grata and must leave the country shortly.

(The U. S. State department said it is considering what to do about the demand. The normal procedure is to heed such an order, since a diplomat out of favor in a foreign capital loses value in service there.)

The Opal case flared at the same time Poland protested Yugoslavia's action in closing the Polish Information Bureau in Belgrade March 15 as a hostile act.

LATE WINTER SCENE—Old Man Winter finally came out of hibernation after waiting almost until the dawn of spring. No one was particularly anxious to see him, but his belated arrival at least gave opportunity for snow photos. This picturesque scene was taken at Mohawk Hill between Lucas and Pinhook. Friday's light snow made the hazardous hill beautiful but dangerous.

801 Criminal Acts In 1948

Crime In Mansfield Takes Few Holidays

Crime takes few holidays in Mansfield, the cold, hard facts of the FBI's annual report show. The figures for various cities, compiled by the national crime-fighting agency, are supplied by police departments.

In the latest FBI report, it was revealed that Mansfield ranked very near the top in the number of crimes committed last year as compared with Ohio cities of a comparable size.

The report revealed that during 1948 there were two murders (the figures did not cover the Niebel murders since they took place outside the city limits), 38 robberies, 11 cases of aggravated assault, 160 burglaries, 87 cases of grand larceny, 394 cases of petty larceny, and 109 auto thefts.

In the 144 Ohio cities there was a murder committed on each of two days out of every three last year.

Each 24 hours there were seven robberies, six cases of aggravated assault, 42 burglaries, 112 miscellaneous larcenies. And in those communities 17 automobiles were stolen every day.

OHIO TOTAL DROPS

Taken together, the FBI reports these crimes totaled 68,747 last year against 71,632 offenses in the same categories in 1947 for Ohio.

This drop contrasts with a 1.3 per cent rise in major crime for the whole United States, including rural territory.

The FBI says long term U. S. trends show that auto thefts and negligent manslaughters fell in 1948 to points below the pre-war average. But other categories or crime stand well above pre-1941 levels.

Measured by the number of offenses reported per 100,000 inhabitants, Ohio's 1948 showing in crime was generally better than the national average. But the margin usually was not wide.

In murder and non-negligent manslaughter, Ohio's rate was 5.35 per 100,000 against a national rate of 5.99.

In robberies, Ohio actually exceeded the U. S. average with a rate of 62.7 per 100,000 against the national figure of 56.2.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Farmers may top total crop production records this year.

Pact Draws Red Anger

LONDON —(AP)— A Soviet commentator charged last night that "Anglo-American war-makers" will use the North Atlantic treaty to gain military bases for carrying out "their plans to dominate the world."

Another Moscow broadcaster charged: "This pact means war on the Soviet union."

Russian commentator M. D. Melnikov declared in an English-language broadcast heard in London that the treaty has a "purely military aggressive aim."

The military articles of the treaty, he said, "provide the Anglo-American war-makers with an opportunity to utilize any pretext that suits them in order to unleash aggression."

Swallows Back At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. —(AP)— The swallows of San Juan Capistrano are back home.

Father A. J. Hutchinson, pastor of the San Juan Capistrano mission, said the birds began flying in at dawn yesterday under the eaves of the north building of the hoary old mission, built in 1776.

Legend has it that the swallows arrive here on St. Joseph's day, March 19, and depart on St. John's day, Oct. 23.

"But conditions change," said Fr. Hutchinson, "and because of insecticides and other sprays in use today we find the swallows quit us in July."

100 Attack Non-Striker

Witnesses Claim Worker Beaten

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky. — (AP) — Officials and principals declined to comment yesterday on the reported beating and threatening of a coal company employe yesterday by a group of 100 unidentified men.

Witnesses said the men, arriving in a motorcade of 18 automobile and a truck, struck Everett Rains, 45, and forced him to stop loading coal. He was an employe of Cheek and Gorrell Coal company.

Whitley county Sheriff J. L. Davis said he knew nothing of the incident, and Rains declined to be quoted.

The company formerly operated a strip mine six miles away and some of the coal was hauled to the yard for distribution. The mine had employed United Mine Workers while it was in operation.

Rains was said, however, not to be a union miner.

All UMW-operated mines in this area have been closed this week.

Fund Drive Gets Impetus

Chances of reaching the Red Cross goal of $48,835 looked much brighter yesterday as headquarters reported a total of $31,791.99, including $3,643 from Shelby.

So far only $300 has been turned in from township workers. Their quota is $4,595, Glenn L. Bierly, campaign chairman, said. There still are several large industries out, Bierly said, and much to come from the retail division.

"We are quite optimistic about the outcome today," Bierly said. "According to last year's figures, we are going along about on schedule, although the bad weather has hindered us some."

Breakdown of the Shelby figure follows: residential, $1,167; organizations, $219; east side retail, $250; west side retail, $475; schools, $138; industry, $1,395.

Tiny Village Howls About Canine Woes

GUADALUPE, Calif. —(AP)— This little community of 3,000 is having dog trouble.

City Clerk Lorraine Spencer told the city council yesterday that there are 3,000 persons here and three times that many dogs.

The trouble started some time ago when somebody cut the wire fence around the area reserved as a dog pound. Now many outside people are dropping their surplus pooches off at Guadalupe.

It's the doggondest situation!

Indonesians Attack U. N. Observers

U. S., British Officers Hurt

BATAVIA, Java — (AP) — A Dutch army lieutenant was credited by his superiors last night with beating off, single-handed, an ambush attack by Indonesian guerrillas on a United Nations observer team.

The story of the attack and the lieutenant's action was told by a Netherlands military spokesman. He said the ambush occurred in Sumatra between Brastagi and Medan.

The two U. N. observers, Maj. John Albert Simmons, an American, of Montclair, N. J., and Bangor, Me., and Lt. Col. H. D. Chaplin, a Briton, were wounded. Chaplin's condition was said to be serious, but not critical. Simmons' injuries were reported as not serious.

The Dutch officer, Voorst Tot Voorst, also was wounded.

The Dutch army spokesman gave this account of the ambush:

Chaplin was driving the white jeep, plastered with U. N. signs, around a hairpin turn when the guerrillas opened fire. The British observer was hit and lost control of the jeep, which skidded off the road.

Both Chaplin and Simmons managed to take partial cover in a ditch. Presumably both were unarmed, as it is U. N. policy for observers to travel without weapons.

The Dutch lieutenant crawled out to engage the attackers and exchanged fire with them for half an hour before they withdrew. A Dutch army patrol came along an hour later and took the men to a hospital at Medan.

The Dutch government expressed sympathy to British and American diplomatic representatives. Five U. N. administrative officials flew from Batavia to Medan to investigate the incident.

Youth Badly Injured By Polar Bears

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—A polar bear dragged 13-year-old Donald Carey into the bear's pit yesterday, clawing and biting the boy seriously.

The boy had climbed a fence at the St. Louis zoo and was sitting on the edge of a moat surrounding the pit.

The bear, Snowball, weighing 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, grabbed Donald's leg. Four other children who were with young Carey ran for help.

Guards rushed to the pit with rifles and called to Donald to stop struggling. When he did that the bear and his mate, Frisky, began to lick the boy.

The keepers brought automobiles to the pit and began honking horns and shouting. The noise frightened the bears back into their den and young Carey was rescued.

Truman Calls Safety Talks

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A safety conference sponsored by President Truman starts next Wednesday, opening a campaign against industrial accidents which now kill or cripple an American worker every four minutes.

The President himself will open the three-day session. Top management, labor and public officials concerned with industrial safety will attend.

Mr. Truman and Secretary of Labor Tobin have appointed a coordinating committee headed by William D. Conolly, director of the Bureau of Labor Standards.

Toledo 5 Stalls to Cop Title

Time Defeats Mansfield Rally

By FRED THARP
News-Journal Sports Editor

TOLEDO — One of the greatest last half drives in the history of Ohio high school basketball fell just one point short here last night as a fighting Mansfield Tyger aggregation came to the end of the tournament trail.

The Tygers trimmed a 16-point half time deficit to almost nothing as Toledo Central Catholic advanced to the state tournament 54 to 53. Mansfield controlled the ball all the way, but unbelieveable 'deadeye' shooting by Toledo in the first half spelled the difference.

That was the Tygers' misfortune as they bowed out after winning six tournament games and nailing down sectional and district championships.

Mansfield controlled the ball in the second half just as in the first and the Tygers fought the Irish off their feet in the great surge.

At the half, Toledo had a 37-to-21 lead and figured to have the championship in the bag. The rangy Catholic crew had racked home 16 or 33 shots and six straight from the foul line to build up the advantage.

Conversely, the Tygers connected on only eight of 39 and five of 10 from the gratis line.

Once again statistics proved how much Mansfield controlled the ball. The Bengals sent the leather goalward some 85 times while the harassed Toledo crew managed only 53 shots. In the final quarter, when Mansfield almost made it, Toledo could get only five shots at the basket.

EXPERTS FOOLED

Not many experts figured Mansfield had a chance for the regional crown. The Toledo betting gentry had made Central a 20-point favorite but they reckoned without the drive and determination of the Tygers. Mansfield managed to tear the Toledo lead to 47-36 as the contest headed into the final eight minutes. Repeatedly during the entire last half the Irish went into a stalling, tight offense that almost proved their downfall.

Ed Schmitt hit a one-hander to open the last half push of Mansfield. However, Dick (Specs) McCloskey quickly nullified that two-pointer with one of his own. Al Marshal swished a free toss for Toledo and the crowd of 5,000 clearly believed that it was all over for the fighting Tygers.

Then came the deluge. Norb Shibinski hit a rebound shot. Jimmy Anderson flipped home a one-hander and Ed Demyan was successful from the foul line. Don Donoher temporarily stalled the drive with a push shot connection. Little Pinkie Ferguson, one of the finest pieces of court machinery in the state, got a foul shot, and Shibinski scored on a fast break.

That cut the advantage to 52-46. Dick McCloskey's foul shot was quickly tossed into discard.

Illness Hits Senator Smith

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) was stricken with a sudden illness yesterday when she left a train at the Pennsylvania railroad's 30th street station.

She was to have addressed 400 members of the American association of University Women.

Her illness was diagnosed as a digestive upset and she was taken to her room at the Warwick hotel, where she was attended by Dr. Helen Hayes Ryan of Temple university.

Youths Confess To 70 Burglaries

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Police said five youths arrested yesterday confessed to participating in 70 residential burglaries in Cleveland and its suburbs in the last two months.

Detective Arthur Pagel said an arsenal of 14 rifles and shotguns and several cameras, jewels, watches, rings, movie projectors were found in the home of one of the men, who he said acted as "fence" for the mob.

Injured Soldier, Polio Victim Join Forces for Life

Religion Gives Crippled Vet, Bride Light of Hope

FORT WORTH, Tex. —(AP)— Beneath an archway of pink and blue flowers, Warren Gilbert Coffer and Virginia Maserang exchanged marriage vows here last night.

He was in a wheel chair and she was on crutches. Both are paralyzed.

Coffer, 26, has been paralyzed from the waist down since Nazi shrapnel nicked him in the spine Nov. 16, 1944. Miss Maserang, hazeleyed and 23, was crippled by polio when she was 10 years old.

Coffer lay in a German field without food or water for three days and nights until members of the Quartermaster corps "came out to pick up the bodies." The road back for him has been long and tough.

Detroit, Mich., was his hometown. He had been a 170-pound ice skater and public speaker at the University of Michigan. After he was wounded, he was completely discouraged—then his religion came to his rescue.

At Lisbon, Tex., veterans hospital in 1946, Dr. Irving Cramer called him "an amazing case." "The spirit of the man is enough to make you humble," the doctor added.

At Hines veterans hospital in Chicago, Coffer had a talk with Dr. J. Frank Norris, preacher and head of the Bible Baptist seminary, Fort Worth. Coffer enrolled in the seminary to become an evangelist.

He still has a year to go but already he has preached sermons.

Dr. Norris performed the ceremony tonight.

Miss Maserang, of Midlothian, Tex., met Coffer in a Dallas Baptist church in 1946. She was an artist with a photographic firm.

Of Coffer, she said: "He's wonderful. I'm so excited I can hardly stand it."

And the 120-pound, brown-eyed Coffer, said of her: "She's really swell—I think she has proved that by the way she gets along."

"I'm pretty nervous about getting married," he added.

The double-ring ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. Gorman Fuller, Miss Maserang's aunt.

Excitement rang at MHS Friday as the students saw their basketball team off to Toledo to seek the state championship title. . . The Hi-Y presented another one of their rollicking assemblies with Phil Pendleton acting as master of ceremonies. He started by calling the team to the floor. . . The Tyger members could probably be called one of the best dressed teams of the season. They were all dressed up in their Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes. . . .

Hostesses for the affair were the accounting and purchasing departments of the Ohio Brass corporation. Miss Eichin and Mr. Lehman will exchange nuptial vows Sunday at 2:30 in the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. David N. Roller will officiate for the formal ceremony.

THE SMALL HOSTESS HAS A PARTY

Easter time is a time for social doings. School vacations make it possible for the young hostess to entertain her friends and, with spring in the air, it is a time for her to put her best foot forward and plan her parties in a ceremonious, though simple manner. A pretty, inexpensive table decoration that she has arranged herself gives a party effect, and she will enjoy the results of her own handiwork.

What to serve her guests will be a matter for her to plan, too. She will probably decide upon something like dainty fondant-iced cakes and a good, refreshing drink. The younger set are particular about their drinks. Pale dry ginger ale is a popular one, and they like it plain or with a big scoop of ice cream. It is a perfect mixed with fruit juices and combined half and half with orange juice or grape juice pale dry ginger ale is a delightful thirst quencher. Ginger ale should be thoroughly chilled before serving as it keeps its carbonation longer when cold. Here is a nice drink for an Easter party.

STRAWBERRY DELIGHT

1½ cups seived fresh or quick-frozen strawberries

St. Peter's Sewing Club Has Luncheon

St. Patrick's day decorations appointed the tables for the 12 o'clock luncheon of the Ladies of St. Peter's Sewing Circle. It was held at the K. of C. home with 47 in attendance, Thursday.

Mrs. William Clay and Miss Edna Horning were awarded special prizes. Mrs. James Herlihy was given the attendance prize.

Mrs. Louis Simonis, Mrs. John Dalton, Mrs. Thomas Kenney, Mrs. George Stuhldreher and Mrs. Catherine Foltz were the hostesses.

The next meeting time will be announced at a later date.

BIBLE CLUB

The Esther Bible Club met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Stottler, 235 Richland avenue, this past week. The meeting was in charge of the hostess, who is also president. Mrs. Allen J. Stoner led devotions and showed an illustration of the 23rd psalm. Miss Edith Price conducted the lesson study, taken from the eighth chapter of Hebrews. The next meeting will be held March 31 at the home of Mrs. Essie Bell, 28½ North Diamond street, at 2 p. m.

Circle One Convenes

Nineteen members and three guests, Mrs. H. D. Bishop, Mrs Alice Vonada and Mrs. E. G. Schmidt, were served at a table appointed in keeping with the St. Patrick's day theme when Circle One of the Cental Methodist church met. The 1 o'clock luncheon was held at the Women's club Thursday afternoon with Mrs. George Graham serving as hostess.

The president Mrs. C. N. Schultz, conducted the business session. Mrs. C. P. Nye led the devotions using, "Christ Spoken Against" as her theme.

Mrs. Bichop sang the prayer song, "Jesus Kneel Beside Me." Mrs. Earl Hartley reviewed part of the study book, "Christian Voices in China." After the review Mrs. Bishop gave two piano selections. The reading, "Out On a Limb," was given by Mrs. Grant Ward.

The next session will be a combined meeting of all the circles on April 21 at the church

FRIDAY SESSION

The Galilean Bible club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Harman, 125 West First street. "Christ in His Day" was the topic of the devotions given by the hostess. The next session will be at the home of Mrs. Mae Hollingsworth, 126 Prospect street, April 1.

Indian pudding may be topped with shredded coconut before serving.

Priscillian Club Hears History

Eight members of the Priscillian Club met Friday for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Mansfield Leland hotel with Mr. C. W. Handley as hostess. Later the group adjourned to the YWCA clubrooms where Mrs. E. S. Lincoln gave a resumé of the history of the club and read newspaper clippings of the club's earlier activities.

Later members presented current events. On April 1 Mrs. L. H. Beam will be hostess to the group at the Women's Club.

COVERED DISH DINNER

All members and their families of the U.T.K. club will meet this evening at 5:30 in North Lake park pavilion for a covered dish dinner.

YOUNG FOLKS FROLIC—Students from nine county schools and also Shelby and Hayesville in Ashland county, jammed into the Grotto hall Thursday night as the guests of the Richland county Farm Bureau Youth council. The party was attended by over 200 youth council members and high school pupils. In the top photo at left the group is lined up to get a part of the dozens of cakes and gallons of ice cream provided by the Farm Bureau group. In the lower photo the boys and girls try out some of the steps used in square dancing. Hit of the evening was square dancing to the music of the band shown in the middle picture. There is no name to the band as Thursday night was the first time the group had ever played together; they hadn't even rehearsed before the party, yet dancers declared the music compared favorably with the best square-dance music they had ever danced to. The musicians are Glenn Stitzlein, guitar; Johnny Mack, bass viol; George Fike, violin; Don Stitzlein, piano, and Walter Berry, caller for the square dances. One of the square dances was in full swing when the photo at right was taken, and "swing" is just what the boys were doing with the girls. For the final square dance 18 sets were on the floor of the hall—144 dancing at one time. The group also enjoyed ballroom dancing and circle games led by youth council member Eileen Cole. Purpose of the party was to introduce the program of the Richland county Farm Bureau Youth council to the high school boys and girls of the county, Lyle Berry, president of the council, said. Berry invited the students to attend the council's meetings the second Tuesday of each month at the Liberty park pavilion, and said that his group is interested in helping the boys and girls form their own youth councils in their respective school districts.

U. S. Firms Build Plants In Scotland

New Business Given Backing

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND — (AP) — More than a dozen United States firms are expanding in the European field and have set up factories in Scotland since the war.

The factories were established on sites developed by the Scottish government as "nurseries of fresh enterprise", and American industry now holds a big stake in Scotland's economic recovery drive.

Among the factors figuring in the trend is skilled labor, which is a third cheaper here than in the United States. And Scotland has had no major labor-management trouble for years.

American experts say, however, the influx is due even more to government help making it relatively easy and inexpensive for an approved firm to open a plant, and also to a highly favorable position for exports, especially to the sterling areas.

Elsewhere in the British Isles, other American companies, most of them long residents, have embarked on extensions for similar reasons.

The principal American firms in Scotland employ thousands of persons and last year produced for home and export goods valued at an estimated $5,500,000.

They are making now, or will soon, typewriters, adding machines and other office equipment, electric razors, safety razors, safety razor blades, paring knives, mining machinery, clocks and watches, dress patterns, electronic pyrometers, pumps, dehydrating machinery, high vacuum apparatus used in connection with atomic research, farm machinery and soft drinks.

"It will be a long time before the foreign exchange situation is cleared up," said one industrialist, "and the companies naturally find it easier meanwhile to sell their products in the sterling area for pounds sterling rather than for dollars."

The government, industrial organizations and businessmen welcome this American "invasion." It fits in with the campaign for more production, and in some instances it may help the drive to get more dollars.

A big attraction to American firms are the government's "industrial estates," which afford the outsider and in many instances local companies with the simplest means for starting a factory. Here modern machinery with light, heat, power, water and transportation are leased to approved tenants without any capital expenditure.

Firms must show they have an export potential or are making essential goods for the home market, and they must show they are likely to employ additional labor. They often get priority for materials.

Young Greek Refugees Sing 'Hate' Songs

(Editor's Note—This is the first comprehensive report on living in Yugoslavia. The particular center inspected and the children interviewed were selected by the Yugoslav Red Cross and "free Greece" authorities. They offered, however, to arrange similar visits to other centers. There were no barriers raised against interviewing any of the children.

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

BELA CRKVA, YUGOSLAVIA — (AP) — They sang as they marched — this Tom Thumb army of greek refugee children who have found food and shelter in Yugoslavia away from their country's civil strife.

The songs were songs of hate. A youthful voice called the tune. A half - thousand youthful voices, boys and girls, seven to 14 years old, picked up the melody.

"Out with Anglo - Americans from our country," they sang. "We don't want them. The Anglo-Americans, the new occupiers, came to our country and helped the monarcho-fascists kill our countrymen."

A thousand boots clumped with rythmic precision into the courtyard behind the spic and span white buildings which house 560 of approximately 11,600 Greek children in Yugoslavia.

Clad in powder-blue wool uniforms, modeled on GI battle dress, the youngsters marched three abreast from classroom to courtyard for their drill and organized folk dances, part of their daily routine. Bright yellow American pencils, left behind from the days of UNRRA, peeked from their breast pockets.

Great Britain has charged many of these youngsters were "kidnaped" by the northern neighbors of Greece. Chiefs of Greek partisan factions denied this. So did Yugoslavia. Both claimed the youngsters were given sanctuary to save them from battleground bombs and bullets.

How are these younsters faring?

So that foreign correspondents might see for themselves, the Yugoslav information office arranged an inspection trip to the refugee center here, 80-odd miles from Belgrade, two miles from the hills that trace Romania's borders. The Red Cross of Yugoslavia, which pays the bills, says the childrens' mental and moral training is left solely in the hands of the Free Greek commission for protection of Greek children.

To even an untrained observer, the answer to the question of how the young Greeks are faring physically is obvious. They are looking good.

They are well-scrubbed, plainly, but adequately fed. They are warm, in well-made clothes designed to stand the blast of Yugoslav winters. They are warm, too, indoors, where ornate dormitory stoves challenge the winter chill.

Let's look at the quarters for Greece's exiled young in this town in the heart of Yugoslavia's richest agricultural district. A left-angled row of buildings overlooks a prim, tree-lined park sheltering a red brick memorial to Partisans killed in the German occupation.

The first one was a private home. Now it is the hospital. There were seven patients. Most of them had the grippe. The hospital seemed clean and friendly and efficient. There was fresh linen; blue blankets for the boys, pink for the girls.

The next two buildings are dormitories. One formerly served as headquarters for the people's committee of Bela Crkva; the other was a district court for petty criminals.

The big rooms house from 12 to 25 Greek children each. They have an atmosphere of collective austerity rather than individualism. There are few decorations. On the walls of each room are pictures of Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito and Russia's Josef Stalin.

Adjacent are the collective washrooms and shower baths. Each child's basin is carefully labeled with his name. Each has his own tooth brush, tube of paste, bar of soap and towel. Soap is a luxury in Yugoslavia.

The kitchen and dining rooms formerly served as barracks for a cadet officers training school. The kitchen is well stocked. Row upon row of smoked hams hang from the rafters.

The youngsters eat well by European standards: milk, marmalade and bread for breakfast; soup, meat, vegetables bread, milk and dessert for dinner; milk, bread, butter and vegetables for supper. The Yugoslav Red Cross says the average diet is between 2,800 and 3,000 calories.

The children get up with the sun at 6:30 for exercise. Breakfast is at eight. Then school until noon, followed by lunch and more marching. Back to school for two hours, then drill and dancing, then another meal. There is an hour for "playtime' before bed at eight.

The schedule is much the same on Sundays, except there is no school. Nor is there any religious instruction. Center authorities say clergy of the Greek orthodox faith are not available.

Nikola Georgiades, once a school teacher in Greece and now administrator of the childrens' center for the Greek commission, said education is designed primarily on the three R's. In response to questions, he acknowledged that what history is taught follows the viewpoint of communist governments.

He put it frankly: "There can be only one teaching in a people's government."

Rap Postal Rate Boost

CINCINNATI —(AP)— A resolution protesting a proposed increase of second class postal rates was adopted yesterday by the nine-man executive board of the AFL International Brotherhood of Paper Makers.

The executive board, which has been meeting in preparation for the union's biennial convention here next week, said in the resolution that the proposed increases, contained in a bill in Congress, would reduce the amount of reading matter now going into millions of homes in the United States and throughout the world.

"This bill, if enacted into law, would seriously handicap the easy exchange of news, ideas and information, thus adversely affecting the very foundation of our democratic way of life," the resolution said.

It added that enactment of the proposed legislation would cause many small publications to curtail or suspend publication and that "large commercial publications would find their independence jeopardized by a staggering drain on their income and profits."

Slayer of Sister Freed on Parole

DENVER —(AP)— Jimmy Melton, 13-year-old boy slayer, was paroled from the Colorado state penitentiary yesterday to go to Boy's Town, Nebr.

"He's a real American boy; he'll make a good American citizen," said Monsignor Nicholas Wegner, director of Boy's Town.

CRASH KILLS CYCLIST

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Norval Stockwell, 49, of Route 1, New Carlisle, was killed yesterday when his motorcycle crashed head-on into an auto.

Modesty Becomes A Torrid Issue

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Modesty was a hot issue for six-year-old Johnny Clark yesterday, and he solved it by taking off his pants.

Johnny's pant leg caught fire when he stood too close to a burning rubbish heap. Dropping his pants, Johnny sprinted for home in his shorts. He had minor burns on his right leg and hand —and some pretty worldly experience.

HOW ABOUT A LOAN?
Maybe a private cash loan is just the thing for you. It's far better than worry and sacrifice. O. K., let's take $275 for example. Think what you can do with it right now. Plenty of things! You can get it quickly, and we mean today, on just your own signature and security. But how can you repay? Easy enough! Only $17 a month takes care of it, everything included. That's our new 21 month plan. Just give us a call or stop in our nearest office. There's a friendly welcome awaiting you and a helping hand with plenty of cash for any of your needs.

Proposes City Manager At Bucyrus

Councilman Asks Vote on Plan

BUCYRUS — A city manager form of government has been proposed for Bucyrus by Councilman C. V. Vollrath, Bucyrus attorney and Republican leader.

Councilman Vollrath, speaking at a meeting of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, urged that group to circulate petitions asking adoption of the manager plan.

The Jaycees indicated their 100 per cent support of the program and appointed a committee to visit cities in Ohio where the city manager plan has been put into effect.

Vollrath pointed out that the petitions would requre about 400 signatures and if they were circulated within the near future, it would be possible for the proposal to be put before voters at the November election.

The Jaycees were told by Vollrath that a city-manager type of government here would "eliminate politics in local government and save at least 30 per cent of present municipal governments costs."

He asserted that three of the four mayoralty candidates at the May primary here favor the plan

Vollrath stated that a competent city manager could be obtained for the city at an annual salary of between $8,000 and $10,000. The present salary of the mayor is $2,400

Experimenter Developing Ultrasonics

Studies Power of Super-Silent Sounds

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — An experimenter in a small laboratory here is head-over-heels in ultrasonics, the new science of sound you can't hear.

Processes he's perfecting, he says, may one day revolutionize industrial work such as recovery of pure metal from ore, hardening of steel, sterilization of food. Some day you may wash clothes, instantly, with sound. It will mix paint, and keep it mixed.

The experimenter, Jack Hibbard of Los Angeles, for 25 years has been a mining operator, oil driller and manufacturer.

He got into ultrasonics in trying to find a new method for extracting pure graphite from ore in a deposit near Lake Hughes, Calif.

He says he has produced 99.8 per cent pure carbon flake graphite with sound.

Hibbard's associate is Hal C. Thomas of Los Angeles, business executive of their unincorporated general sound laboratories.

The partners have surrounded themselves with consulting experts, engineers, electronics men, chemists and metallurgists.

Ultrasonics utilizes sound vibrations of tremendously high frequency, produced electromagnetically. The human ear can detect sound vibrations up to 20,000 a second; the dog, up to 35,000 a second.

But in ultrasonics frequencies run to more than 3,500,000 vibrations a second.

"I don't know how high we can go, but it will be much higher than that." Thomas said.

Hibbard showed on a test tube scale how he can precipitate copper from the traditional solution of smelted copper ore and sulphuric acid. In the usual electrolytic process copper is deposited slowly on a cathode. In Hibbard's ultrasonic experiment pure copper dropped instantly to the bottom of the vessel.

Similar experiments have been done with zinc. Thomas said any reductions in costs and time, or increase in production or purity of zinc, one of the nation's critical materials, would be invaluable.

Astonishing things happen to steel, too, when ultrasonics is applied to the quenching or tempering of it, they said.

"It changes the molecular structure," Hibbard said. "It will harden common, garden-variety steel almost to the fineness of high grade alloy tool steel."

Again Thomas speculated: there could develop elimination of the need for costly alloys in making steel. Some of them are extremely scarce, like tungsten.

Howard Morton, biological chemist associated with the laboratory, said:

"Our experiments indicate that with sound we can kill bacteria in food and thus sterilize it to keep indefinitely.

Hibbard is working to make practical the idea that clothes can be washed by sound.

"What happens now?" he demanded. "The clothes are swished or whirled or tumbled around in the water and soap in the washing machine. It takes time, causes wear.

"If we apply ultrasonics to a washing machine, we'd do things the other way 'round. The sound vibrations will force the water, and detergent, through the cloth, and do it instantly. You'll put your clothes in the machine and —ph-h-t-t—they'll be washed, in a second, and cleaner than any washer could ever do it."

"We think we can apply the process to milk, or orange juice, or whole fruit, to make it sterile and stay that way."

"Speaking of killing bacteria," Hibbard chimed in. "I foresee the use of ultrasonics in killing diseased tissue, or in therapy-treatment of human bruises or of a race horse's bad leg. Maybe we'll be able to do something about cancer."

2 Sentenced In Slaying

Town Seeking New Police Chief

HARLAN, Ky. — (AP) — The Evarts police chief and his only assistant were convicted in Harlan circuit court yesterday of voluntary manslaughter and were held in jail without bond.

The jury recommended a 10-year prison sentence for Police Chief Isachar Combs, 28-year-old law enforcing veteran of World War II, and Policeman Lewis Deaton, 32. They were accused of killing Bryan Middleton, restaurant owner, in a wild-shooting street battle last Dec. 17.

The jury's verdict left Evarts, southeastern Kentucky coal mining town, without a police chief for the sixth time since early August.

Special Judge B. B. Snyder of Williamsburg said state law prohibits bond for the two officers because their sentence would be in excess of five years in prison. Defense counsel said a new trial will be sought and if necessary the case will be taken to the court of appeals, Kentucky's highest court.

City officials at nearby Evarts said no steps have been taken yet to fill the police chief's post. Both Combs and Deaton remained on duty following their indictment on a murder charge after Middleton's death.

Election Over, Fight Goes on

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday was asked to reverse a Stark county Court of Appeals decision preventing the Stark county election board from recounting votes cast in last year's sheriff race.

Sheriff Henry W. Grossglaus obtained a restraining order stopping the recount shortly after he was elected sheriff by 1514 votes. The recount was requested by the other candidate, Richard R. France.

Hospital Treats Boy Attacked By Dog

James Frantz, aged 9, was bitten by a dog Friday night and treated at Mansfield General hospital, the sheriff's office reported. Officers said the boy who lives at Shelby, R. D. 2, was bitten by the dog, while on a neighbor's property. The dog was tied.

Deputies said they ordered the dog owner to keep the animal tied for 10 days. The boy was bitten on both cheeks and scratched about the face, deputies said.

Three Records Fall In Meet

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Three new meet records are in the books today after old marks were broken in the pole vault and the college divisions of the mile and two mile relays at the ninth annual Knight of Columbus track meet at the arena last night.

Richmond (Boo) Marcom of New Hampshire made the jump of his life as he cleared the bar at 14 feet, nine inches to better his old mark of 14 feet, 7⅞ inches. It was the best jump of the indoor season and gave the crowd of 7,226 fans their top thrill of the night.

Middlecoff, Harrison Tied

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., — (UP) — Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Dutch Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., shared the lead at the start of the second round today in the $10,000 Jacksonville open golf tournament.

Both golfers proved to be good "mudders" as they battled high winds and a sweeping rain to plod through the first 18 holes with six-under-par 66's yesterday.

Skee Riegel of Tulsa and Dale Andreason of Glen View, Ill., tied for third with 67's, while Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del., Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill. and Frank Kiraly of Jacksonville followed with 68's.

Oklahoma A&M In NCAA Finals

KANSAS CITY, MO. — (UP) — Oklahoma A and M's rangy cowpokes, seeking their third national championship in the past five years, were favored to defeat Oregon State tonight in the western regional finals of the N. C. A. A. Basketball tournament.

The Aggies, champions of the midlands, reached the western finals by eliminating Wyoming's skyline six titleholders, 40 to 39, last night. Oregon State, Pacific coast conference champion, made it by trimming Artives, 56 to 38, on a strong rally in the second half.

Hamilton Sweeps By Middletown

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's high school cagers swing into regional championship games today with the most unusual 16-team cast in history.

The Class A contingent has one unbeaten club, Lakewood; two Catholic schools, Toledo Central and Akron St. Vincent; three "Cinderella" outfits in Mansfield, Niles and Struthers which have lost a total of 28 games, and a couple of "solid" representatives in Lancaster and Hamilton Public.

Over in Class B, the clubs have better records. North Canton, only team left of the eight qualifiers for last year's state meet, has the worst percentage with six defeats in 27 starts. Pacing that pack is little Salem Township of Wyandot county, with 28 in a row, but three other teams, Lockland Wayne, New Lexington and New Vienna have been beaten once.

Class B boasts one Catholic entry in Delphos St. John, and one all-Negro school in Lockland Wayne.

Winners of tonight's frays qualify for the state finals here next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Pairings will be made at 11 a. m. Sunday in the offices of Commissioner H. W. Emswiler.

No one was guessing today on the outcome of tonight's contests, after some resounding upsetting of the dope bucket in last night's games.

In Class B the semi-final regionals went practically according to the form sheet, but in Class A the results were startling.

The top upset was furnished by Struthers with a 45-44 win over Garfield Heights. The Heights quintet had rolled up 22 straight victories for the No. 1 record in the circuit, while Struthers, beaten 12 times in 21 starts, had the poorest performance wrapped up. But when the smoke cleared away, Struthers was still in the tourney and Garfield Heights was out.

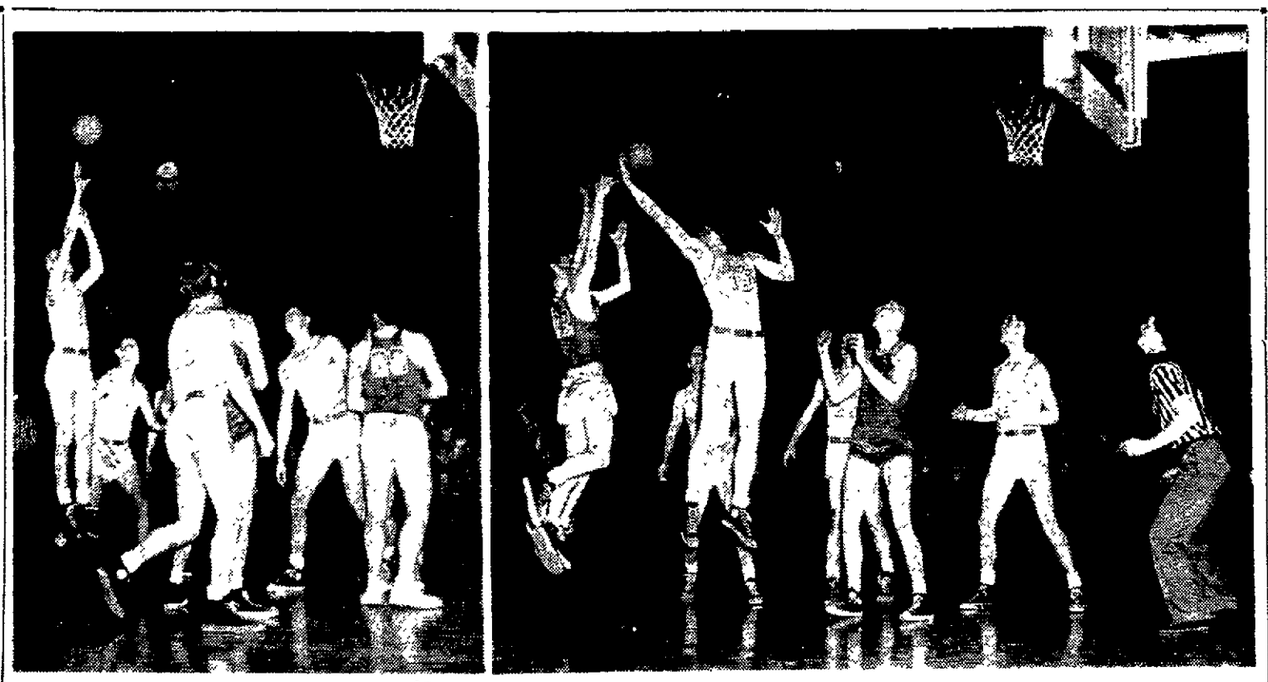
Another surprise was the huge margin in Toledo Central Catholic's 61-30 win over Columbus Central. The Capital City crew had dropped only one of 25 games, while Central Catholic had been whipped three times, once in the sectional tourney, once in the city league, and once by Delphos St. John, one of the Class B survivors.

Niles, which failed to break even during the regular campaign, and which had won only 11 of 20 including the preliminary tournaments, ousted New Philadelphia 49-46. New Philly, the 1940 state champ, had won 16 and lost five before the Niles upset.

Lakewood retained its unbeaten status by getting its 19th in a row with a 39-28 win over once-defeated Cleveland Central. Down at Cincinnati those old rivals, Hamilton Public and Middletown, tangled for the third time this year, and Hamilton won for the third time by a 41-36 count. That tosses the Big Blue into the finals against Lancaster, which boasts the best defensive average in the state along with a potent offense.

Class B Lockland Wayne showed plenty of power in ousting Hollansburg 67 to 39, and now once-beaten New Vienna gets a crack at the Lockland club which is favored to grab the statewide crown.

Of the 16 teams still in the race, only three have ever won the Ohio laurels. Mansfield won the opener in 1909. Hamilton copped the Class A championship in 1937, and North Canton was ruler of the "B" domain in 1939.



WE TRAILED—THEN SHIBINSKI—Big Norb Shibinski demonstrates at right just why Mansfield eked out a 50-43 victory last night. At left, in the first half, Kenny McCally shoots to bring Mansfield from its biggest deficit, shown on the scoreboard as 18-13, but in the other picture Shibinski was in form as the Tygers led 36-35. The big center was a bear on the rebounds throughout the entire second half.—(News-Journal photos by Jim Switzer)

Invitational Finals Are Set Tonight

By JOHN BARRINGTON

NEW YORK — (INS) — Loyola of Chicago is a slight favorite over the San Francisco Dons in the final of the national invitation basketball tournament at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Possibly the reason for installing the Chicago Ramblers as the choice in this clash of two Cinderella teams is the fact that they were the only favorite to win earlier in the week.

Another reason may be that Jack Kerris, Loyola's big man is figured to be more consis-high scorer of the Dons. Kerris is the tourney's high scorer to date with 64 points. Lofgran has tallied 55.

Regardless of either reason, San Francisco's coach, Pete Newell, was tickled pink that his team is not the favorite. No mentor in this dark horse derby relishes that tag.

In earlier games both set up offensive and defensive patterns that stopped their rivals from playing their usual type of basketball.

The consolation opener between the two semi-final losers finds Bowling Green rated at six points over Bradley.

Georgian Shows No Hospitality

AUGUSTA, GA. — (UP) — Dot Kirby of Atlanta and Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., who have matched leading cards during the first half of the women's title holders golf tournament, today were threatened by a late rush from Louise Suggs, the Lithia Springs par-buster.

The Misses Kirby and Kirk reached the end of the second round yesterday tied with 36-hole cards of 151 each. But Miss Suggs attracted the most attention, firing a 34 for the first nine holes—two under men's par—and winding up with a 72, par for men. She has 152.

Pesek Quits Bucyrus High

BUCYRUS — Al Pesek resigned today as coach at Bucyrus high school to accept similar post at Hiram college. Pesek was both football and basketball coach here and will hold the same positions at Hiram.

He succeeds Steve Belichick who followed his former college coach, Bill Edwards to Vanderbilt.

Pesek had an unbeaten football team at Bucyrus last fall and his basketball team this year lost only one regular season game.

Mat 'Murder' Scheduled for Armory Ring

There's 'murder' in the air today. Mat murder, that is.

It's all scheduled tonight in the Ashland road armory when Clete Kauffman stages his second Mansfield wrestling program at 8:30. Last week, Kauffman brought professional grappling back to Mansfield before a "standing room only crowd."

He promises more seats in the armory tonight.

The villain of the piece, Whitey Whittler, will be back but is ticketed to meet Karol Krauser, a 244-pound Polish giant, who is also some shakes as a "rough" guy. They will battle in the one-hour main event.

Colliding in the 45-minute semi-final will be Stacy Hall, the Columbus city detective, and Benny Trudell, a slam-bang artist. Hall has always been a favorite with Mansfield grunt and groan audiences.

The tough in the opener is Jim Wright, a big gent from Glendale, Cal. He will meet Ronnie Etchison, a Missouri product.

Aggies Touted As Top Team

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (UP) — It was the Oklahoma Aggies against the field as the NCAA western playoffs get under way tonight in Municipal auditorium before an expected capacity crowd of near 10,000 persons.

The Cowpokes foreman, Hank Iba, was sending another great defensive machine into the fray and to Ev Sheltons Wyoming team, winner in the mountains, went the task of facing the Oklahomans.

In tonight's second game, it will be the Oregon State Beavers against Arkansas, representing the southwest district. The winners meet tomorrow night.

4 Honor Roll Scores Fired In 5 Leagues

Four men cracked the honor roll in last night's bowling, three of them in the Moose league on the Colony lanes.

Phil Warga led the way with a 220-210-213—643. John Bernat came in with 608 and John Leppo just made the mark with an even 600.

Other scores in the league included: H. Uplinger 587, Art Hilborn 582, Hal Robinson 565, M. Rohal 561, and Jim McPherson 545.

Helen Wilhelm of Urschel Insurance topped Women's Commercial B league bowlers with a 550 score. Billy Cleckner, Ingram-Martin, came in with 541, Kate Warga 527 and Mary Dintamin 501.

Gay Nineties stretched its league lead to seven games as it registered the only sweep over Saprano's Bar.

Vincent Kutchell tossed a 541 series to set the pace in the Independent league. Bob Simpson was runner-up with 514, while Jim Cunningham got 505 and Leo Saltzgaber and Steve Mansfield even 500's.

J. Polem concocted the fourth honor roll score of the night with a 603 in the Westinghouse D circuit. He put together games of 165, 214, and 224 for the score.

Lou Tridico came in second with 573, H. Dowds took 547, and Nick Komjenovich, 535.

★

Gene Rudolph led Barnes Manufacturing bowlers over the Richland slides with a 558 pin count. J. Rhoads tallied 554 in that circuit and Walker 545.

Oma, Down In First, Throws Hat In the Ring

NEW YORK — (AP) — Lee Oma, says "count me in" in the heavyweight picture.

The 33-year old heavy, who has kicked opportunity in the face time after time in an erratic 10-year career, toyed with one Omelio Agramonte last night in Madison Square Garden.

By copping the unanimous decision after being floored for nine in the first round, Oma stretched his victory string to six in his latest comeback campaign.

"Look, I can lick Joey Maxim and Maxim gave Ezzard Charles a close fight," Oma said. "I can beat any of those guys who want to be champion, and, you know, I might be champion at that."

Big Norb Sets Pace With 13

68 to 46, and in the district it smashed Bellevue, 74 to 43.

The whole story of last night's game can be wrapped up in one sentence. The Tygers just couldn't pry the lid off the baskets. They shot more times than in any other game this season and easily put together their worst percentage from the court and from the free throw line. Only in the first quarter did the Tygers shoot anything near their mark of previous tournament games.

In that stanza Mansfield made six of 17 shots but trailed, 16 to 13. The shooting didn't get better but the Tygers attempted more shots and managed to lead through most of the remainder of the contest. Senior high was in the van at the half, 23 to 22 and ahead as the fourth quarter started, 36 to 35.

Mansfield counted four of 28 shots in the second period, five of 24 in the third and six of 22 in the fourth. That made a total of 21 in 91 for the game. Bowling Green which didn't have much but determination tossed home 15 of 51 shots. Many were off balance heaves but they connected frequently to keep the Falcons in the running until the late Tyger surge.

During the course of the battle, if it could be called that, the score was tied eight times and the lead changed hands on 10 occasions.

BEEGEES LEAD

The teams fought on even terms until late in the first quarter when Bowling Green picked up eight points in a stretch to Mansfield's pair. The BG's increased the margin to 13-13 at the start of the second quarter but Ken McCally hit from the foul line and Paul Ferguson dribbled the length of the floor to cage a bunny shot and pare the margin to 18-16. Bowling Green moved back in front 20 to 16 but the Tygers finally caught fire.

Norb Shibinski dropped one in on a fast break and McCally, followed with a free toss. Ed Demyan banged one in from down under and Jimmy Anderson sent home a one-hander to give Mansfield a 23-20 lead.

From this on until the closing minutes the game was nip and tuck. The tally was knotted three times in the early stages of the fourth quarter, at 38-38, 39-39 and 41-41. At that time the clock showed 4:16 to go.

Shibinski swished the net from under the basket and Demyan rammed in a pivot shot with three minutes left. Anderson dribbled all the way to cage a bunny and Ferguson tallied on a fast break. Demyan's gratis shot ended the Mansfield scoring but Brian Firsden hit two fouls for Bowling Green in the final five seconds.

OFF ON FOULS

From the foul line, Mansfield hit only eight of 23 tosses while Bowling Green connected on 13 of 21. Bowling Green lost Norman Mooney in the third quarter and Jim Cranker in the fourth. Demyan fouled out with five seconds to go.

Ed Schmitt provided the pleasant surprise for the Bengals. He counted three baskets and one free throw and all when they counted. He put the Tygers ahead 36-35 at the close of the third quarter with a one-hander from the corner and increased the margin at the start of the fourth period with a under-basket two-pointer. His foul shot tied the score at 39-39.

Defending Champ Two Strokes Back

SEBRING, Fla. — (AP) — Match play in the 15th annual amateur seniors golf tournament began here today with M. E. Stephens a home town product, holding the edge.

Stephens shot 74 over the Kenilworth club course yesterday for medalist honors. That was two strokes better than Allen R. Rankin of Columbus, Ohio, defending champion.

Tourney Cuff Notes

By CHARLEY STINE

Like the Cleveland Indians of last summer, Senior high's Tygers seem to face just one big one after another. Every game in tournament play is a "money game" but to fans who saw last night's regional, this is IT.

Several of Mansfield's tourney opponents have looked good on paper but slipped on the floor. Toledo Central Catholic, however, gave a first-hand glimpse last night of just what it can do.

If Toledo also folds tonight, then there can be but one conclusion: Mansfield has a team which can make any opponent look bad and need never be regarded as an underdog again.

The Tygers looked to be the better team all through last night's game but they couldn't prove it. Time and again they worked the ball in for nice shots and then fizzled.

The players, themselves, knew that they were off form and there was no wild celebrating in the dressing room. There was just a determined bunch of kids who knew they had been lucky to win and vowed they would never again give any team that good a chance to beat them.

Big Norb Shibinski probably sounded the keynote when Coach Vern Hoffman asked if the team wanted to stay to see all of the Toledo-Columbus game.

"Let's stay until the half and go to the hotel and get some sleep" was Norb's prompt answer. Not that he disregarded Central Catholic, but he knew the most important thing was the way Mansfield played, not the opposition.

★

Charlie Brown, the slide-rule shot statistician discovered a good luck omen of his own after the game. He was going over the game totals when the book fell to the ground. He picked it up and began to leaf from the back to find the right place.

Just three blank pages left! And he vows he didn't tear any out.

One motive for tonight's victory (?) is revenge. Central Catholic beat Mansfield in the finals of the 1943 regional tournament, the last time the two team met.

★

One of the wierdest shooting exhibitions ever seen was turned in by Columbus Central in the last half of last night's second ball game.

Central made its first shot—missed 39 in a row and then made its last with only 15 seconds to go.

★

Tragedy struck in the midst of Toledo Central Catholic's victory. Joe O'Donnell, a Central fan, died during the ball game in the stands after being stricken with a heart attack.

His physician had reportedly warned the man going around excitement, but didn't want to miss seeing his team in action.

Tribesmen Bombard Cubs, 10-3

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Winners in five of seven exhibition tilts, including a 10 to 3 pasting of the Chicago Cubs yesterday, the world champion Cleveland Indians are now counting pitchers for an extended double team coast tour.

"I don't know how we're going to have enough pitchers ready for such a heavy schedule," said coach Bill McKechnie who is in charge of the tribe's 15-pitcher staff. "There'll be 15 games in nine days including our trip to San Francisco after we leave Los Angeles."

Manager Lou Boudreau announced a split of the team for four doubleheaders in six days in this area.

Veterans Boudreau, Joe Gordon, and Ken Keltner played most of the Chicago game in Tucson, but rookies contributed heavily to the tribe's 11-hit attack.

In the four run eighth, Herman Reich poled a 370-foot home run to score Al Rosen, who had doubled. Artie Wilson, replacing Boudreau, started the spree with a single.

Boudreau played six innings and slashed a pair of singles in two trips. The hustling frenchman also surprised all hands by booting an easy roller as his sole fielding chance.

Lefty Gene Bearden and early Wynn pitched seven-hit ball. Roy Smalley cracked a homer and two doubles to take cub hitting honors.

Bob Kennedy boomed a homer and a single to drive in three tribe runs and strengthen his bid for the right field post.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. — (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates will wind up their tour of northern California today and tomorrow with single games against Lefty O'Doul's San Francisco Seals.

The Bucs will return to their camp at San Bernardino in time to greet the Leo Durocher's New York Giants Monday.

The Pirates took the first of the three - game inter - league series with the Seals by a 5 to 2 count last night.

A two-run rally in the eighth inning and a home run by catcher Eddie Bockman in the ninth clinched the victory. The Bucs broke a two-all tie in the eighth when singles by pitcher Elmer Singleton, Stan Rojek and the venerable Dixie Walker drove two runs across.

CLEARWATER, FLA. — (UP) — Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, who generally was regarded the top spring hitter of 1948, was well on his way today to the same distinction in 1949.

Ashburn climaxed a week of heavy hitting yesterday by smashing four singles although the Phillies bowed to Cincinnati, 9 to 8.

The Phillies tangle today with the Washington Senators, who have trimmed their squad by the outright release of pitcher Ray Garcia to Chattanooga of the southern association.

SARASOTA, FLA. — (UP) — The Boston Braves and Boston Red Sox, two clubs who have not enjoyed too much success this spring, square off against each other today in a prelude to their intracity series at home which takes place next month.

The Braves, despite two timely hits by Clint Conatser, bowed to the Cardinals, 2 to 1, yesterday, while the Red Sox were held to two hits in losing to the New York Yankees, 5 to 0.

Judge 'Invites' Richland Commissioners to Move

Probate-Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer gave the county commissioners a pointed "invitation" to move out of their office to make the space available for use as a courtroom.

The judge's request was made in a letter he addressed to the board, in which he remarked that there is a statutory procedure by which he could enforce his request.

". . . It is not my attitude to take these steps if you will indicate to me that arrangements may be made in the line which I have indicated," wrote Judge Cramer.

Just where the commissioners would set up an office was not known late yesterday. Judge Cramer handed his letter to Guy F. Stewart, chairman of the board of commissioners shortly before noon Saturday. The other two commissioners, C. L. Shoup and Fred W. Dill, had already left for the day.

Asked what he had to say about the request, Stewart said "the others haven't seen it" (the letter.) He said he would show it to them the first thing Monday morning.

When asked for his personal idea on the request, Stewart replied: "I couldn't say anything. I don't know what the others would say. That's a matter I'll have to discuss with the other commissioners."

Judge Cramer said in his letter that for the past eight years he has called to the board's attention the fact "that I am obliged to hold all my hearings and trials in my private office, a room approximately 12 feet by 15 feet." He added that in the office are "six bookcases, a filing cabinet, my desk and as many chairs as we are able to place in the space. It is wholly inadequate."

MAKES REQUEST FORMAL

He asserted that he has by personal contact with members of the board indicated what should be done to relieve the situation. "Now," the letter added, "I wish to formally request that the room which you now occupy, together with the private office, be equipped with a bench, a jury box, counsel tables and proper lighting in order to make it at least a workable courtroom for probate and juvenile cases."

Judge Cramer's letter stated: "As some of your members already know, the large court of appeals room on the third floor is largely waste space."

He said Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch had indicated if the bench in that room was moved to the common pleas courtroom, enabling him to accommodate visiting judges, he would arrange his schedule of cases so that the court of appeals might carry out their semi-annual assignments in the common pleas courtroom. Judge Cramer said that is done in nearly all counties in this judicial district.

The letter said this arrangement would permit commissioners to have the bench and part of the equipment now in the common pleas courtroom removed to a new probate-juvenile courtroom in the offices now occupied by them.

Judge Cramer said that handling cases of both adults and juveniles in the same courtroom was contrary to law and proper practice. He said the commissioners are required by law to provide separate rooms for both.

At one time, probate court was held in a large room now partitioned off into small offices. Former Probate-Juvenile Judge C. J. Anderson, said he did away with that courtroom early in 1934 because the room was dark and there was poor air regulation. Opening the door resulted in a great deal of noise from the hall, he said.

Under the present setup the court has no facilities for witnesses. In the event of a jury trial, the case must be handled in the common pleas courtroom.

Judge Cramer said that last Friday a case came up with a number of witnesses. He declared the case could not have been held if there had been a hearing set for the common pleas courtroom.

He stated he wanted to have a courtroom available at all times for cases in which a number of people are involved. Cases of minors would still be held in his office to insure privacy for the youngsters, he declared.

Injuries Fatal to Dale Fry

Funeral Will Be Held Tuesday

Dale M. Fry, 28, of Mansfield, R. D. 5, died at General hospital Saturday afternoon of injuries received in an accident several hours earlier.

He suffered a head injury and a crushed chest when his car was hit by a westbound Pennsylvania freight train at 11:30 a. m. Saturday. The accident occurred at a crossing on Sites road three miles southeast of Mansfield.

According to sheriff's deputies the train hit the right front of the car and threw it 159 feet down the track where it came to rest on the east track. The crash victim was still in the car when an ambulance arrived to take him to the hospital.

The motor was knocked out of the car which was demolished.

Mr. Fry was traveling north toward Mansfield when the accident occurred. Approaching from that direction, motorists must go down a hill before reaching the track. There are no blinker lights at the crossing.

FIFTH FATALITY

The death marks the fifth traffice fatality in Richland county this year. Last year at the same time there had been only two traffic fatalities.

Survivors include his wife, Beulah, and two daughters, Carolyn and Marylin; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fry, Bellville; and four sisters, Mrs. Mildred Mansuetti and Mrs. Marcile Rita, both of Crestline, and Mrs. Margaret Smith and Miss Viola Fry, of Bellville.

Mr. Fry also leaves four brothers, Robert, Leo, Eugene, and Charles, all of Bellville.

He entered the Army in February 1941 and served with the Third Armored division in Holland where he was wounded. He was discharged Dec. 9, 1945.

Funeral services will be held at the Snyder funeral home, Bellville, at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Luther Buchholtz, St. Paul's Lutheran church, Bellville, will officiate. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

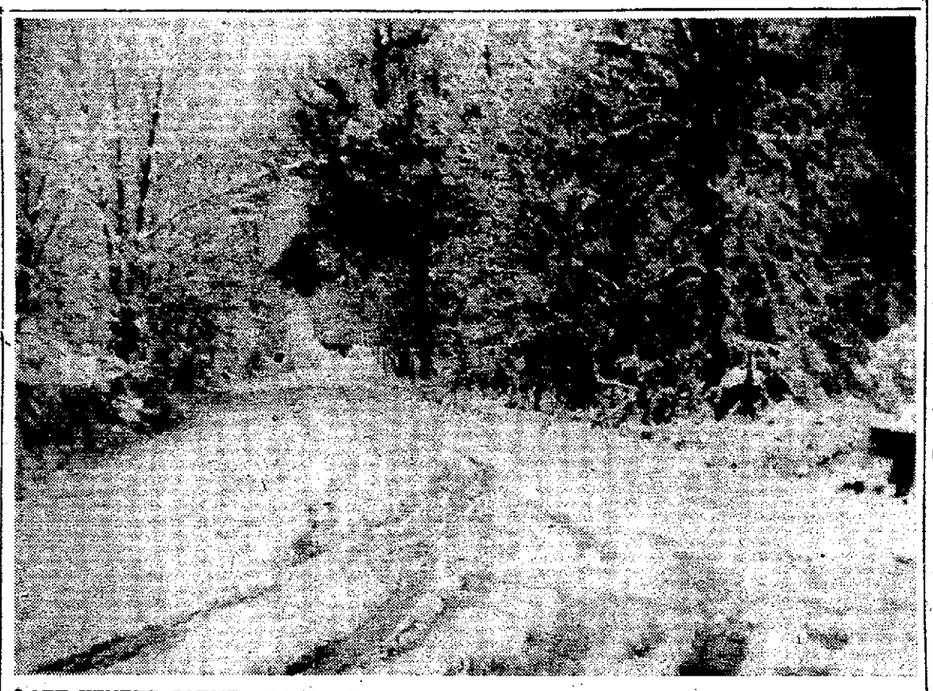
Poles Oust U. S. Envoy

WARSAW — (AP) — The Polish government, objecting to a U. S. information service bulletin calling Poland a Soviet satellite, has ordered expulsion of the service's chief, Chester H. Opal.

Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzelewski told U. S. Ambassador Waldemar Gallman that Opal was persona non grata and must leave the country shortly.

(The U. S. State department said it is considering what to do about the demand. The normal procedure is to heed such an order, since a diplomat out of favor in a foreign capital loses value in service there.)

The Opal case flared at the same time Poland protested Yugoslavia's action in closing the Polish Information Bureau in Belgrade March 15 as a hostile act.



LATE WINTER SCENE—Old Man Winter finally came out of hibernation after waiting almost until the dawn of spring. No one was particularly anxious to see him, but his belated arrival at least gave opportunity for snow photos. This picturesque scene was taken at Mohawk Hill between Lucas and Pinhook. Friday's light snow made the hazardous hill beautiful but dangerous.

801 Criminal Acts In 1948

Crime In Mansfield Takes Few Holidays

Crime takes few holidays in Mansfield, the cold, hard facts of the FBI's annual report show. The figures for various cities, compiled by the national crime-fighting agency, are supplied by police departments.

In the latest FBI report, it was revealed that Mansfield ranked very near the top in the number of crimes committed last year as compared with Ohio cities of a comparable size.

The report revealed that during 1948 there were two murders (the figures did not cover the Niebel murders since they took place outside the city limits), 38 robberies, 11 cases of aggravated assault, 160 burglaries, 87 cases of grand larceny, 394 cases of petty larceny, and 109 auto thefts.

In the 144 Ohio cities there was a murder committed on each of two days out of every three last year.

Each 24 hours there were seven robberies, six cases of aggravated assault, 42 burglaries, 112 miscellaneous larcenies. And in those communities 17 automobiles were stolen every day.

OHIO TOTAL DROPS

Taken together, the FBI reports these crimes totaled 68,747 last year against 71,632 offenses in the same categories in 1947 for Ohio.

This drop contrasts with a 1.3 per cent rise in major crime for the whole United States, including rural territory.

The FBI says long term U. S. trends show that auto thefts and negligent manslaughters fell in 1948 to points below the pre-war average. But other categories or crime stand well above pre-1941 levels.

Measured by the number of offenses reported per 100,000 inhabitants, Ohio's 1948 showing in crime was generally better than the national average. But the margin usually was not wide.

In murder and non-negligent manslaughter, Ohio's rate was 5.35 per 100,000 against a national rate of 5.99.

In robberies, Ohio actually exceeded the U. S. average with a rate of 62.7 per 100,000 against the national figure of 56.2.

Pact Draws Red Anger

LONDON —(AP)— A Soviet commentator charged last night that "Anglo-American war-makers" will use the North Atlantic treaty to gain military bases for carrying out "their plans to dominate the world."

Another Moscow broadcaster charged: "This pact means war on the Soviet union."

Russian commentator M. D. Melnikov declared in an English-language broadcast heard in London that the treaty has a "purely military aggressive aim."

The military articles of the treaty, he said, "provide the Anglo-American war-makers with an opportunity to utilize any pretext that suits them in order to unleash aggression."

Swallows Back At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. —(AP)— The swallows of San Juan Capistrano are back home.

Father A. J. Hutchinson, pastor of the San Juan Capistrano mission, said the birds began flying in at dawn yesterday under the eaves of the north building of the hoary old mission, built in 1776.

Legend has it that the swallows arrive here on St. Joseph's day, March 19, and depart on St. John's day, Oct. 23.

"But conditions change," said Fr. Hutchinson, "and because of insecticides and other sprays in use today we find the swallows quit us in July."

100 Attack Non-Striker

Witnesses Claim Worker Beaten

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky. — (AP) — Officials and principals declined to comment yesterday on the reported beating and threatening of a coal company employe yesterday by a group of 100 unidentified men.

Witnesses said the men, arriving in a motorcade of 18 automobile and a truck, struck Everett Rains, 45, and forced him to stop loading coal. He was an employe of Cheek and Gorrell Coal company.

Whitley county Sheriff J. L. Davis said he knew nothing of the incident, and Rains declined to be quoted.

The company formerly operated a strip mine six miles away and some of the coal was hauled to the yard for distribution. The mine had employed United Mine Workers while it was in operation.

Rains was said, however, not to be a union miner.

All UMW-operated mines in this area have been closed this week.

Fund Drive Gets Impetus

Chances of reaching the Red Cross goal of $48,835 looked much brighter yesterday as headquarters reported a total of $31,791.99, including $3,643 from Shelby.

So far only $300 has been turned in from township workers. Their quota is $4,595, Glenn L. Bierly, campaign chairman, said. There still are several large industries out, Bierly said, and much to come from the retail division.

"We are quite optimistic about the outcome today," Bierly said. "According to last year's figures, we are going along about on schedule, although the bad weather has hindered us some."

Breakdown of the Shelby figure follows: residential, $1,167; organizations, $219; east side retail, $250; west side retail, $475; schools, $138; industry, $1,395.

Tiny Village Howls About Canine Woes

GUADALUPE, Calif. —(AP)— This little community of 3,000 is having dog trouble.

City Clerk Lorraine Spencer told the city council yesterday that there are 3,000 persons here and three times that many dogs.

The trouble started some time ago when somebody cut the wire fence around the area reserved as a dog pound. Now many outside people are dropping their surplus pooches off at Guadalupe.

It's the doggondest situation!

Indonesians Attack U. N. Observers

U. S., British Officers Hurt

BATAVIA, Java — (AP) — A Dutch army lieutenant was credited by his superiors last night with beating off, single-handed, an ambush attack by Indonesian guerrillas on a United Nations observer team.

The story of the attack and the lieutenant's action was told by a Netherlands military spokesman. He said the ambush occurred in Sumatra between Brastagi and Medan.

The two U. N. observers, Maj. John Albert Simmons, an American, of Montclair, N. J., and Bangor, Me., and Lt. Col. H. D. Chaplin, a Briton, were wounded. Chaplin's condition was said to be serious, but not critical. Simmons' injuries were reported as not serious.

The Dutch officer, Voorst Tot Voorst, also was wounded.

The Dutch army spokesman gave this account of the ambush:

Chaplin was driving the white jeep, plastered with U. N. signs, around a hairpin turn when the guerrillas opened fire. The British observer was hit and lost control of the jeep, which skidded off the road.

Both Chaplin and Simmons managed to take partial cover in a ditch. Presumably both were unarmed, as it is U. N. policy for observers to travel without weapons.

The Dutch lieutenant crawled out to engage the attackers and exchanged fire with them for half an hour before they withdrew. A Dutch army patrol came along an hour later and took the men to a hospital at Medan.

The Dutch government expressed sympathy to British and American diplomatic representatives. Five U. N. administrative officials flew from Batavia to Medan to investigate the incident.

Youth Badly Injured By Polar Bears

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—A polar bear dragged 13-year-old Donald Carey into the bear's pit yesterday, clawing and biting the boy seriously.

The boy had climbed a fence at the St. Louis zoo and was sitting on the edge of a moat surrounding the pit.

The bear, Snowball, weighing 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, grabbed Donald's leg. Four other children who were with young Carey ran for help.

Guards rushed to the pit with rifles and called to Donald to stop struggling. When he did that the bear and his mate, Frisky, began to lick the boy.

The keepers brought automobiles to the pit and began honking horns and shouting. The noise frightened the bears back into their den and young Carey was rescued.

Truman Calls Safety Talks

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A safety conference sponsored by President Truman starts next Wednesday, opening a campaign against industrial accidents which now kill or cripple an American worker every four minutes.

The President himself will open the three-day session. Top management, labor and public officials concerned with industrial safety will attend.

Mr. Truman and Secretary of Labor Tobin have appointed a coordinating committee headed by William L. Conolly, director of the Bureau of Labor Standards.

Time Defeats Mansfield Rally

By FRED THARP
News-Journal Sports Editor

TOLEDO — One of the greatest last half drives in the history of Ohio high school basketball fell just one point short here last night as a fighting Mansfield Tyger aggregation came to the end of the tournament trail.

The Tygers trimmed a 16-point half time deficit to almost nothing as Toledo Central Catholic advanced to the state tournament 54 to 53. Mansfield controlled the ball all the way, but unbelieveable 'deadeye' shooting by Toledo in the first half spelled the difference.

That was the Tygers' misfortune as they bowed out after winning six tournament games and nailing down sectional and district championships.

Mansfield controlled the ball in the second half just as in the first and the Tygers fought the Irish off their feet in the great surge.

At the half, Toledo had a 37-to-21 lead and figured to have the championship in the bag. The rangy Catholic crew had racked home 16 or 33 shots and six straight from the foul line to build up the advantage.

Conversely, the Tygers connected on only eight of 39 and five of 10 from the gratis line.

Once again statistics proved how much Mansfield controlled the ball. The Bengals sent the leather goalward some 85 times while the harassed Toledo crew managed only 53 shots. In the final quarter, when Mansfield almost made it, Toledo could get only five shots at the basket.

EXPERTS FOOLED

Not many experts figured Mansfield had a chance for the regional crown. The Toledo betting gentry had made Central a 20-point favorite but they reckoned without the drive and determination of the Tygers. Mansfield managed to tear the Toledo lead to 47-36 as the contest headed into the final eight minutes. Repeatedly during the entire last half the Irish went into a stalling, tight offense that almost proved their downfall.

Ed Schmitt hit a one-hander to open the last half push of Mansfield. However, Dick (Specs) McCloskey quickly nullified that two-pointer with one of his own. Al Marshal swished a free toss for Toledo and the crowd of 5,000 clearly believed that it was all over for the fighting Tygers.

Then came the deluge. Norb Shibinski hit a rebound shot, Jimmy Anderson flipped home a one-hander and Ed Demyan was successful from the foul line. Don Donoher temporarily stalled the drive with a push shot connection. Little Pinkie Ferguson, one of the finest pieces of court machinery in the state, got a foul shot, and Shibinski scored on a fast break.

That cut the advantage to 52-46. Dick McCloskey's foul shot was quickly tossed into discard.

Illness Hits Senator Smith

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) was stricken with a sudden illness yesterday when she left a train at the Pennsylvania railroad's 30th street station.

She was to have addressed 400 members of the American association of University Women.

Her illness was diagnosed as a digestive upset and she was taken to her room at the Warwick hotel, where she was attended by Dr. Helen Hayes Ryan of Temple university.

Youths Confess To 70 Burglaries

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Police said five youths arrested yesterday confessed to participating in 70 residential burglaries in Cleveland and its suburbs in the last two months.

Detective Arthur Pagel said an arsenal of 14 rifles and shotguns and several cameras, jewels, watches, rings, movie projectors were found in the home of one of the men, who he said acted as "fence" for the mob.

Injured Soldier, Polio Victim Join Forces for Life

Religion Gives Crippled Vet, Bride Light of Hope

FORT WORTH, Tex. —(AP)— Beneath an archway of pink and blue flowers, Warren Gilbert Coffer and Virginia Maserang exchanged marriage vows here last night.

He was in a wheel chair and she was on crutches. Both are paralyzed.

Coffer, 26, has been paralyzed from the waist down since Nazi shrapnel nicked him in the spine Nov. 16, 1944. Miss Maserang, hazeleyed and 23, was crippled by polio when she was 10 years old.

Coffer lay in a German field without food or water for three days and nights until members of the Quartermaster corps "came out to pick up the bodies." The road back for him has been long and tough.

Detroit, Mich., was his hometown. He had been a 170-pound ice skater and public speaker at the University of Michigan. After he was wounded, he was completely discouraged—then his religion came to his rescue.

At Lisbon, Tex., veterans hospital in 1946, Dr. Irving Cramer called him "an amazing case." "The spirit of the man is enough to make you humble," the doctor added.

At Hines veterans hospital in Chicago, Coffer had a talk with Dr. J. Frank Norris, preacher and head of the Bible Baptist seminary, Fort Worth. Coffer enrolled in the seminary to become an evangelist.

He still has a year to go but already he has preached sermons.

Dr. Norris performed the ceremony tonight.

Miss Maserang, of Midlothian, Tex., met Coffer in a Dallas Baptist church in 1946. She was an artist with a photographic firm.

Of Coffer, she said: "He's wonderful. I'm so excited I can hardly stand it."

And the 120-pound, brown-eyed Coffer, said of her: "She's really swell—I think she has proved that by the way she gets along."

"I'm pretty nervous about getting married," he added.

The double-ring ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. Gorman Fuller, Miss Maserang's aunt.

Tygers Lose By 1 Point To Toledo

Bengal Drive Falls Short

when Anderson was "on the mark" with a long pusher.

At this stage the game went into the final three minutes with Toledo leading 53 to 48. Donoher dripped in a free throw which proved to be the winning margin.

Again Shibinski came through, this time on a pivot shot and Ferguson added a foul. The Toledo club began its stalling again. In efforts to get the ball away from the Irish, Mansfield committed five personal fouls in the last 90 seconds, and each time Toledo took the ball out of bounds.

The score stood at 54-51. With three seconds still on the clock, Mansfield pilfered the oval and Ken McCalley hit from in close. That was the game.

HIT FAST STREAK

Although the whole story of the game could wrapped up in the last half, there was a first quarter Toledo splurge which really hurt. The Central team used its celebrated press defense for just three minutes in the first quarter and then abandoned it as Mansfield moved ahead eight to four. But Donoher played sucker for one basket and got the next on a fast break.

Shibinski pushed Mansfield back ahead 10 to 8. However, Toledo picked up five straight baskets, missing only one shot in the drive, and Mansfield never caught up. The Irish were in the van at the quarter 18-14.

Ineptness from the free throw line was a big factor in the defeat as Mansfield hit only 11 of 28. Toledo was good on the first seven tries, and ended the game with 12 of 20.

Toledo will carry a 25-win, 3-loss record into next week's state competition, and clearly stamped itself as the team to beat for the diadem worn last year by the Findlay Trojans.

And to top it all off, Toledo got into the district and regional tournament on a pass. The Central team was defeated by Toledo Libbey in the sectional finals, 61-60, but continued in competition as runner-up. Then Central pushed Findlay into the discard in the district meet, 46-43.

Mansfield wrote finis to an amazing season. The Tygers faltered badly in the first part of the campaign, winning only six of the first 11 games. They then started clicking and reeled off 13 victories in the next 15 games before being stopped by Central.

So the Tygers completed the long basketball grind with 19 victories and eight losses. Senior high has been a distinct dark horse through all of its tournament games and turned in many an upset of the dope bucket. Four of the six players who wound up the 1948-49 season last night will be back next year.

Among them will be Anderson, the slender junior, who now stands as the second best scorer ever to wear the red and white of Senior high. He was second in the Tyger scoring last night with 14 points and finished the season with 365. Shibinski closed out his career with 15 points and a total of 294.

Roles Filled For Comedy

Joanne Beer and James Brightbill will play the leading roles in the annual Thespians' play to be presented at Madison high school auditorium next Friday at 8:15 p. m.

The play, "Parlor Story" will also include in its cast Joyce Elliott, Charles Frye, Lydia Gross, Carl Theaker, David Davies, Dorothy Estep, James Gatton and Neil Topper.

Cast members are being rehearsed daily by Miss Ileen Stout, dramatics teacher at the school.

"Parlor Story," a comedy written by William McCleery, concerns a professor who aspires to be president of the college in which he teaches. A former journalist, the professor is opposed by a newspaper publisher. Political intrigue and a love affair between the professor's daughter and a student in one of his journalism classes, provide suspense.

Tickets are now on sale from members of the cast or may be obtained at the Madison high school office. Seats may be reserved, Miss Stout said, but there also will be general admission tickets available.

Fast School Action Seen By Robinson

Gives Report on Mifflin Building

"Everything possible" is being done to hurry the construction of a new Mifflin township school building, Boyd Robinson, Richland county superintendent of schools told a meeting of parents in Vetsville hall last night.

The meeting was called by the parents in the township to find out why there had been a delay in starting the construction of the building planned more than three years ago.

Raymond V. Page, who had charged the present schools are in a decrepit condition, served as spokesman for the parents. He reported last night that Robinson had informed the group there is insufficient money available from the bonds to build a six-room building. The original intention was to build an eight-room building.

Robinson declared bonds would be printed and delivered in a short time and that bids could not be advertised until the bonds were delivered.

More than $72,000 in bonds were authorized for the school by voters in the past three years. An architect was hired to draft plans of a six-room building at U. S. Route 30 and Reid road, but construction has not been started.

Robinson had reported previously that a delay was encountered in the printing of the bonds. He said also the old school rooms had been repaired to assure safety, but that further remodeling would be needless with the proposed building plans nearing completion.

The Mothers' club had invited school board members to attend the meeting which was scheduled as a box social.

Strike Will Hit Missouri-Pacific

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— Leaders of the railroad brotherhoods will present a list of grievances against the Missouri Pacific railroad but not until "we get through with the Wabash."

W. C. Lash, vice president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, said a strike was authorized by Missouri Pacific operating employes last Dec. 15.

'LAYINGEST' HEN—As far as Connie N. Watts of Baldwin, Ga., is concerned, Bossie,, his Buff Orphington hen, is the "layingest" hen ever. She won her first local fame when she produced 16 chicks from 15 eggs in 1946. But that was a mild beginning. Now, in her eighth year, she has laid a huge three-in-one egg containing three well developed eggs, shells and all. And there are eight yolks, one for each of her years.—(International)

Inmate Pay Boost Asked

Inmates of the Mansfield reformatory and other state penal institutions would get a pay raise under a bill being studied by the state legislature.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Michael J. Crosser, of Cuyahoga county, a Democrat, calls for paying inmates on the basis of a percentage of prevailing union wages. OSR inmates now get four cents a day.

Rep. Crosser's bill asks for a wage that amounts to a minimum of 10 per cent of existing union scales for inmates and 20 per cent of union scales for inmates with dependents.

Acting OSR Supt. George J. Allarding, said inmates get four cents a day for their labors regardless of type of work or dependents. Most of the earnings, Allarding said, are sent to the families of the inmates.

The measure would turn over control of wages in penal institutions to the State welfare director. Affected would be inmates at OSR, the Ohio penitentiary and the London Prison farm.

Reveal Novel Coal Mining Experiment

GORGAS, Ala.—(AP)—An experiment seeking to develop a revolutionary process of mining coal by fire was proceeding according to plan yesterday.

The test was started with the lighting of a huge coal deposit about 150 feet underground near an Alabama Power company mine. The $500,000 experiment is being conducted by the U. S. Bureau of Mines and the power company.

It will burn for months while chemists and engineers seek to enrich the gas from the burning coal to the point that it could be used commercially.

Heart Attack Brings Death

Joseph Roy Halladay, 54, well known Ashland businessman of 884 Sandusky street, died at 4 p. m. Saturday at Samaritan hospital, where he had been taken Tuesday after a heart attack. He was Ashland division manager of the Ohio Public Service company.

Mr. Halladay came to Ashland 14 years ago from Alliance. He was active in civic affairs, being affiliated with the First Presbyterian church, Scottish Rites of Toledo, Al Koran Shrine of Cleveland, Ashland Rotary Club, American Legion Post No. 88, and the Ashland Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his wife, Marie; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Dever of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. Joanne Switzer of Cleveland; one son, Robert, at home; one sister, Mrs. Harriet Myers of Toledo; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the First Presbyterian church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. E. Andrews, in charge of the Denbow-Bear Funeral Home.

Irked Girls Oust Club President

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Attorney Leda Coassack Hartwell was ousted from the Youngstown Democratic Women's club because of her presence at a communist meeting here Feb. 13, club officials announced yesterday.

The motion to delete Mrs. Hartwell's name from membership said such action should be taken because of the "unfavorable publicity the club has received as a result of Mrs. Hartwell being at a communist meeting."

Record Set In Bomber Launching

37-Ton Plane Leaves Carrier

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A long-range bomber of a type which the Navy says can handle atom bombs took off from a carrier early this month, it was learned yesterday. The plane was the heaviest ever launched in that fashion.

Navy officials, in answer to questions, said a Lockheed Neptune P2V-C3 — weighing with its bomb load and fuel approximately 37 tons — flew off the carrier Coral Sea March 7.

The bomber, after a 2000-mile flight, dropped a load equivalent to 10,000 pounds of bombs, then landed at the Patuxent, Md., naval air base.

The plane carried standard combat equipment, with no special devices except rocket assistance for the take-off from the flight deck.

The previous weight record for a carrier take-off was set a year ago when an earlier model of the P2V took off from the Coral Sea at a gross weight of about 55,000 pounds.

The Lockheed P2V Neptune still holds the world's distance record of 11,236 miles, established in 1946 in a flight from Australia to Ohio. That plane, taking off from a land base with long runways, weighed 85,000 pounds when it went into the air.

Twins Pose Problem In 'Queen' Voting

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Capital university students will vote for four—or five—candidates for one—or two—May queens next week.

It will require two elections.

Monday, in a "pre-election election," the students will have to decide whether a pair of identical twins can be nominated as a single candidate.

The election also will involve the question of whether the junior class queen entry (or entries)—pretty Miriam and Carolyn Adams of Alliance—can be accepted under election rules.

Schoolboys Found In Gambling Place

THERE IS NO justification for expressions of either surprise or shock over yesterday's revelation of ten school boys, ranging in age from 14 to 18, being found in a gambling place — where the 18-year-old youth was "dealer" in the poker game in which some of the other youngsters were engaged.

If Mansfield is to continue as a wide-open city, in non-enforcement of anti-gambling laws, it is too much to expect that children will not feel it is their "right" to break laws, the same as grownups, and their gambling education on pinball machines naturally leads to desire to learn about other alluring forms of gambling, as evidenced by the Friday night episode.

It seems noteworthy that discovery of the group of boys playing poker in the back room of a pool hall was "accidental" on the part of police officers, who had been looking for a youth wanted on a felony charge.

It is quite evident, however, that if Mansfield patrolmen were permitted to act as law enforcement agents in stopping illegal gambling they would have no difficulty locating gambling places and closing them—as was done during February and March last year when the ban on commercialized gambling was ordered by Chief of Police Schwab, with sanction by Mayor Vaughn.

The mystery surrounding that shut-down of gambling places, including the bookie joint, and the April 1 lifting of the ban, has never been cleared, although the natural supposition is that some sort of "influence" caused a change in high level administration policy.

Residents of a number of other Ohio cities are showing an interest in ridding their communities of the gambling rackets that are draining immense sums of money from the channels of legitimate business—but thus far relatively few Mansfielders have seemed disturbed over local violations of anti-gambling laws or the "negligence"—to put it mildly—of administrative officials.

Free Nations of Asia Look Ahead

NOW that the free nations of Asia have had their first Asian conference, the leaders are anxious to carry the movement further. The conference was called to consider the question of Indonesia, about which no significant decision was reached. But the delegates also explored the possibilities of co-operation among the nations of Asia in other fields.

The immediate results were not especially encouraging. In fact the chief conclusion was that the region represented at the conference included "a vast area of differences". It is a good omen for the future that the advocates of Asiatic co-operation are not disheartened by the small results of their first conference, but are instead eager to carry on their explorations.

It would mean much not only for the peoples of Asia but for the rest of the world if a successful organization of these nations could be effected. Historically they have been inclined to distrust both their neighbor nations and foreigners. Co-operation belongs to a new era.

What About Children With High IQ?

NEARLY always there is an argument going on in educational circles about the value of intelligence tests in classifying school students according to their ability to learn. Critics claim, among other things, that the intelligence quotient or IQ, is not really a measure of ability to learn, but only of what already has been learned.

One of the defenders of the IQ test is Dr. Lewis M. Terman of Stanford University, who has published the findings of a long study of a group of children whose IQ scores put them in the "genius" class.

His study, covering about 28 years, followed these extraordinary children to learn how they made out in life. He found they fared better than average, not necessarily in making money but in the accomplishment of worth-while work. Even in the matter of income they did somewhat better than average, indicating that genius at least is rewarded with its keep, if not with its due.

Dr. Terman suggested, however, that both society and the individuals would reap more benefits from unusually good minds if the children with high IQ scores were given special schooling. This can be done most simply by permitting such children to progress through their schooling as rapidly as they can, and he said that, contrary to general opinion, speeded-up schooling for brilliant children does not harm them either physically or socially.

When Doctors Are Regimented

DR. WILLARD C. RAPPLEYE, dean of the faculty of medicine at Columbia University, recently said that there is little difference between a doctor under socialism and a doctor under fascism. All socialized medical plans, he added, lead toward mediocrity and ultimate destruction of medical education and practice.

There are wide theoretical cleavages between fascism, communism and socialism. But in practice, the end result is the same. The individual is subjected to rigid regimentation and dictatorship. Every calling is bound with bureaucratic red tape. A rule book takes the place of expert judgment.

This is true of medicine as of everything else. Objective reports on experiments with government medicine in England and elsewhere show little variance in the pattern. Doctors are required to treat an impossibly large number of patients, and an inferior system of assembly-line medicine results.

An excessive amount of the doctor's time is taken up with filling out reports and satisfying bureaucratic bosses. There is little money or leisure for research and experiment.

According to the census bureau, the United States started 1949 with a population of 147,946,000—an estimate, that is, as the actual count doesn't come until next year.

Claude Callan admits: "We used to be a strong party man, but we never got a political job, so party lines are beginning to weaken so far as we are concerned."

A Voice From the Country

Seeing Beauty In Life's 'Little Things'

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

I HAVE a friend who is also a columnist, and I wish that his column were published daily in every newspaper in the United States for I can't help believing that what he has to say is in the light of God and of the future welfare of the nation, more important than all the columns about politics, economics and world affairs. His name is Calvin Byers. He teaches school during the week and is bringing up a family of several children. In the evening and over the week ends he farms a little place in the Honey Creek Valley near Mansfield, Ohio, with the aid of his lusty growing children.

BROMFIELD

In the sense of money he is certainly not a rich man for he has nothing but his school teacher's salary which, by comparison with the salaries of big industrial executives and labor leaders, is peanuts. Yet he is, I think, the richest of men.

His column is concerned with the small things of existence which, in the last analysis, are the great things because they are the things we live by—such things as the color of the sunset and the water cress, which fringes the edge of the little spring pond outside his door, and things like the infinite variety of life in that pond and how his neighbors think and the history of the old farmer over the hill and the chirping of the first robin to arrive North as the season warms and the buckets are hung on the sugar trees.

Sometimes I reflect upon the difference between his life and that of my middle-aged "important" friends who are dying off like flies, often enough without ever having lived at all, the ones who are so driven by ambition or the traps laid by ambition, and at length by their own achievement that somehow the delights of the universe pass them by and they are dead suddenly without ever having had time to live.

My friend is no Thoreau, trying to live in a hideaway in the suburbs, in the illusion that he has escaped from the pressures of law, taxes and all the irritating barbs and restrictions which come when men gather together and set up government.

My friend lives in the world as it is, adjusting himself and his family to the conditions of the life about him.

He understands that life is not the same in Honey Creek Valley as it was a hundred years ago, and that there are such things as tractors and frozen foods and automobiles which have made life easier but not essentially richer than it used to be.

He understands that today, even on a farm, men and women work less hard and have more time for leisure; but I think he also understands that most of them don't know what to do with that leisure time and waste it sinfully in a universe that is filled with beauty and interest and fascination.

* * *

Similarity Noticed.

NOW the odd thing is that only last night I heard on Broadway the same kind of thing in almost the same voice coming from another part of the world and translated out of another language in what is very close to being a great play by one of the cleverest and wittiest of French writers called Jean Giraudoux. The play is called "The Madwoman of Chaillot," and its plot is very simple.

It concerns a distracted old woman in a wig and false teeth, fantastically dressed in feather boa and plumes and cheap jewelry, who uncovers a plot by a group of promotors, big business men and speculators who plan to pull down Paris, a monument to history and civilization, in order to drill for the oil that they believe lies beneath.

She claims that there is oil in her cellar and they come there to see for themselves. After they have tricked her into signing away all her rights, she admits them through a trap door into the sewers which lie beneath her cellar dwelling place and from which there is no return. They are never heard of again.

* * *

Arrive At Same Point.

NOW the interesting thing is that the mind of my country neighbor columnist and that of one of the most brilliant philosophers of a very civilized nation like France have arrived at the same point—a point which is immensely important in a world of Pyramid clubs, Fair Deals and other countless schemes for getting something for nothing.

The trouble is that the something they all want to get is the wrong something which can be destroyed so easily by folly or inflation or by political demagoguery.

My friend in Honey Creek in his column and my friend from Paris in a theater in New York are talking about the same thing or rather the same things — the things which are indestructible and the things by which we all must live if we are to live at all.

In this country the average citizen confuses plumbing and automobiles with civilization, which they certainly are not. They are no more than the means of making us more comfortable and giving us more leisure time to become civilized. Success, ambition and money are all right and they have contributed much to the world at times; but when they become the only goal and an obsession, they can destroy us and the world about us relentlessly and beyond repair.

We could use some balance in American life and a better sense of values. It would help us not only individually, but also as a nation. As Giraudoux has put it in his play, "Nowadays we construct, and construct only to destroy."

I wish the column of my friend from Honey Creek could appear in every American newspaper and that every American could read it, for it is full of wisdom on how to lead a successful life.

The odd thing is that "The Madwoman of Chaillot"—a witty, difficult, profound play beautifully staged and acted—is a great success in New York, of all places. There must be a lot of people who are starved for the message it has.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Has Lost His Political Strength

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Four months ago triumphant Harry Truman came back to Washington reaffirmed President of the United States without help from his late friend FDR, and with surprisingly large majorities in both houses of Congress. During the past week, in contrast, he has suffered three major defeats at the hands of this same pro-Truman Congress, and, what is far more important, by a Congress which has discovered that it's fun to thumb its nose at its alleged boss in the White House.

PEARSON

Furthermore, the Republican members of that Congress are quietly determined to make Mr. Truman eat his own words and prove to the country that Truman's own 81st Congress is worse than the GOP's much-publicized and much-maligned 80th Congress. And with support from the Dixiecrats they can do it.

Nothing could be worse for Mr. Truman's program. And while the politicians aren't worried about Mr. Truman, it is also a fact that from the viewpoint of national unity at a critical time in world affairs, and from the viewpoint of economic stability, nothing could be worse for the country.

For when a nation's legislators thumb their noses at the nation's president, it does not give other nations confidence in signing pacts and treaties. Nor does it give them confidence that a pact, once signed, will later be ratified, or its provisions carried out.

* * *

Why Truman Melted.

THE MISTAKES of the past cannot be remedied. But to prevent mistakes in the future, it is important to look back and see why President Truman's supposed great political popularity melted away so rapidly. Here are some of the reasons:

Truman's Cockiness — As a humble, simple man, Mr. Truman is an appealing, popular figure. But humility does not necessarily mean ability. Also when the President's humility changed to cockiness after November, he lost some of his popularity.

This was particularly noticeable to friends who called to help and advise, but went away rebuffed and lectured to. Mr. Truman was confident that he did not need help, he was as highhanded with some senators as he was in censoring photos at Key West.

No Long-Range Strategy—At the opening of Congress no plans were made as to what legislation should come first. A military commander carefully maps out this campaign before his troops go into battle. A sales manager carefully coordinates his sales force and his advertising barrage.

But on legislation vitally affecting the nation, the Truman administration nonchalantly galloped in, sabres brandished aloft, with not the foggiest idea of what bills should be passed first.

Instead of getting rent control, housing, aid to education and other vital parts of the Truman program out of the way first, the Trumanites gallantly bared their breasts and threw their weight against a bristling concrete wall of southern filibusterers.

No Compromise—Inside fact is that many southern senators were quite willing to compromise on civil rights at the opening of Congress when they thought Truman was all-powerful. Now they won't compromise because they know he's not.

In January many southern senators figured that two of the civil-rights bills would not cause serious resentment in the South—the anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills.

About half the southern states have already abolished the poll tax; while many have undertaken forthright measures against lynching. They were, however, emphatically opposed to FEPC.

But when Georgia's Senator Russell called on Truman to talk compromise, he got nowhere. Truman wouldn't even discuss the South's greatest fear—intermarriage.

No Teamwork—FDR also had tough legislative battles. Some of his measures squeaked through with great difficulty. But Roosevelt had a team operating on Capitol Hill, buttonholing doubtful senators, turning thumbs down on postmasterships for congressmen who deserted the party.

Truman also had a team operating skillfully in the background when he was elected last autumn. But that team was nowhere to be found when it came to the all-important job of winning votes on Capitol Hill. When George Killion, former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, buttonholed Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, Kerr said this was the first time any administration leader had bothered to talk to him about the filibuster.

Patronage—When Dixiecrats came back to Congress after their defeat last fall, they soon discovered Mr. Truman had no fixed policy toward them. He was petty when it came to such little things as snubbing Governors Strom Thurmond and Herman Talmadge in the inaugural parade.

But on things that really counted, such as patronage and postmasterships, they found they could get what they wanted. The administration had no fixed policy. It floundered. So, fear in the hearts of the Dixiecrats evaporated. They knew they could continue to oppose Truman with impunity.

Florida Sunshine—Before Truman left on his Key West holiday close friends urged him not to take time off at such a crucial moment. He wouldn't listen. They even urged that, instead, he take a trip through the country, not for the purpose of scolding Congress, but to sample the temper of the people and get back some of his humility. He ignored the advice, scolded Congress instead.

Assignment: America

'The Alamo' Is Revered

By INEZ ROBB

SAN ANTONIO, Texas—There are bigger cities in Texas than San Antonio, and richer ones. But this sunny city snaps her fingers at 'em. For San Antonio possesses the unique jewel and the heart of the Lone Star state—the Alamo. What Mecca is to Mohammedans, Plymouth Rock to Mayflower descendants and the Liberty Bell to the DAR, the Alamo is to Texans—only more so. In the Alamo, on March 6, 1836, a handful of beleaguered Texans chose to die to the man in their war of independence against Mexico.

INEZ ROBB

Their ammunition gone, a little band of 182 men, many ill and wounded, refused to surrender to a Mexican force of 4,000. They chose massacre within the walls of the old Alamo church rather than haul down the Texas flag.

"Thermopylae had its messenger of death, the Alamo had none" is the proud boast of Texans. "Remember the Alamo" has resounded since wherever Texans have fought.

Sometimes Texans may seem a mite rambunctious to the rest of the world and their pride a bit inflated.

But a visit to the Alamo makes this Texas breed a little more credible, and their pride in themselves and their state a bit more understandable to those of us who only stand and wait while a Texan talks.

The bustle of heavy city traffic and the shadow of tall buildings surround the Alamo today for it nestles in the heart of downtown San Antonio.

* * *

Started As Mission.

WHAT is now San Antonio began with the establishment of a mission, that of San Antonio de Valero, by the Spanish Franciscan friars in 1718.

It was the first of five missions to be built in the vicinity, and was eventually to give its name, San Antonio, to the frontier village that grew up around the first mission.

The old mission gradually became known as the Alamo, probably because "Alamo" is the Spanish name for the cottonwood trees which sheltered the mission in its early days.

The old church seems sturdy and timeless today, empty now save for scattered portraits of the men who died there and plaques erected in their honor.

Like all old battle grounds, it seems strangely quiet and peaceful, a cloistered backwash in this busy city of 415,000 persons.

Other Texas cities wear their wealth, their sky scrapers and their giant industrial plants like a corsage of orchids. But San Antonio is the tourist and sight-seer's delight.

As a confirmed tourist, I have loved wandering through the old missions, the adobe "palace" built by Spain early in the Eighteenth century for the governors she sent out to this new world, and the San Fernando cathedral, built by grace and native labor, as early as 1749.

The old world and the new mingle here, where the tide of the Spanish conquistadores and the rush of American pioneers locked in battle and was decided, even in defeat, at the Alamo.

Sic sempter gloria: the famous old buckhorn saloon is now a curio shop. But the old Menger hotel, built before the Civil war, is still famous for its hospitality and its food.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

A single train long enough to carry a year's output of coal in the United States would stretch six times around the earth.

It Says Here:

—By KEN WOODMAN

LITTLE BOYS must have said fewer bad words last year—or maybe they just used the initials and didn't have to have their mouths washed out. Anyhow, soap sales were down. But don't run away; this is not another deflation note.

* * *

More housewives, it seems, just preferred detergents to suds. In fact, the statisticians have figured out that the sale of detergents increased 74 per cent. And not even a pessimist could work up a lather over that.

* * *

Manufacturers of the bubbleless cleaners don't claim that their products will ever replace soap entirely. They expect the sales of the two cleaning agents to run about even, eventually. In the meantime certain figures are lacking to complete our survey. Nobody seems to know just how many youngsters, when told to wash for dinner, used just plain water. It is suspected that the number was high but the water consumption low.

Listen World

What Everyone Wants

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I HAVE always been interested in people. I was curious about people—wondering what made them click. I used to speculate on what made me, myself, click, and what I would do with myself when I came into my grown-up days.

You know that feeling, don't you? You went through it all yourself in your teen years. You spent endless hours dreaming over that mysterious future, of what great things you were going to bring to pass when you were an oldster and your chance had come.

And then suddenly, almost from dawn to dawn, the years had passed. You were a grown-up just like all the rest, nursing your dreams, trying to make them come true, wondering which good gift you'd pick from life for your own self.

What lovely furs you'd buy for young Anne Louise. What splendid sport clothes for that handsome nephew of yours. What fun you'd have shoving the other fellow around. What kindnesses you'd scatter over life's rugged trail.

Yes, you were going to do great things with your life. You couldn't do them all in a week or a year but when you got around to them and when you found out what the other fellow wanted you certainly would put on a show. You'd make the others envy your power and your luck and you'd strut a little now and then for your own vanity.

But having reached this point in your great parade, you came upon a surprising thing. People had always looked so different from the outside, naturally you'd assumed they were all different inside.

They would have peculiar and outstanding dreams and ambitions which you could fulfill. They'd have talents which you could develop. But oh, what a surprise you got when you found that you had been mistaken all along.

For people weren't all different. People weren't highly specialized, awaiting the touch of your magic wand. There was just one thing that everyone wanted whether he was rich or poor, famous or humble, old or young.

FROM KING TO COMMONER, EVERYONE, ON EARTH WANTED LOVE.

Everyone wanted someone's hand to hold as he groped through the dark.

Everyone wanted some one to share his dream without ridicule, someone to comfort and brace them when they were frightened in the dark.

Everyone wanted love above all the other gifts in God's green earth. Not an elaborate 1949 model love all dolled up with chrome and leather and perfumed tapestry. No, they just wanted the plain old model T form of love that came in with Adam and went weeping away from Paradise with Eve's shamed hand in his.

Love that would understand no matter what. Love that would believe in you no matter how you had failed or faltered. Love that would welcome you home at candle light though your coat was in rags and your pride in tatters.

Love, that was what people were all about. That was what everyone needed. That was the greatest gift and the greatest service. Nothing that you might ever achieve in the way of fame could ever surpass it in beauty or power or wealth.

Timely Editorial

Pounds of Prevention.

Kent State university is setting an admirable example of fire safety which other Ohio schools might well adopt. Kent's program of fire drills, checkup of water supply and fire prevention was in force before Kenyon's tragedy spotlighted the dangers in crowded colleges and universities.

No school can take chances with inadequate fire safety precautions. The risks are too great.

Kenyon's fire should be sufficent warning to all school administrations to check up on fire drills, fire escapes and fire hazards immediately. Lack of money is no excuse. The lives of all Ohio's students must be adequately protected. — Akron Beacon Journal.

Peace At Home

—By ANNE CAMPBELL

I can effect no peace abroad,
Nor stay the flames of hate,
But on my own small bit of sod,
The sunlight lingers late.

Beneath my roof, no quarreling voice
Disturbs the tranquil air.
Peace in the household is our choice;
No ugly tempers flare.

I cannot stay the doom, if doom
Is history's vast chore.
I only have a little room,
And Peace stands by my door.

Diesel Shop Growth Due In Crestline

Expansion Planned, Pennsy Head Says

CRESTLINE — Refitting of Pennsylvania railroad shop facilities here to handle Diesel engine maintenance and repair is planned. This statement was made here when M. S. Smith, general western region superintendent of the Pennsylvania with offices in Ft. Wayne, stopped here for a freight conference

For the past six months the steam engine house here has been expanded with stall lengths improved. A crew of 300 workmen service and repair steam and Diesel locomotives here—handling 25 Diesels daily. Under the proposed expansion plan the Diesel handling will be upped to 50 a day, Smith said.

Smith denied rumors the Columbus Diesel shop was being converted and transferred to Crestline to afford additional employment here. He said the shops in both cities would continue increased operations as new Diesels on order are delivered The entire system has more than 50 Diesels on order and is getting delivery of three or four new engines monthly The western region, which includes Crestline, gets a proportionate share Smith stated.

As the Diesel load increases the steam engine load eases and there is no contemplated addition to personnel forces, he remarked. Heavier overhauling and repair work still will be handled at the main shops in Harrisburg and Altoona, Pa. Most of the work at the Ohio shops will be general maintenance and minor repairs.

Galion Church Seeks Funds In Crop Raising Project

GALION — A project to rent approximately 100 acres of farming land on which to raise crops for the purpose of raising funds for the church building program, now is underway by the congregation of First Lutheran church of Galion.

Rev. Herbert S. Garnes jr., pastor of the church is hoping to find the ground on one farm, but if not, he will accept smaller sections.

At present he has had one offer of 35 acres in the northeast section of the city.

Farmer members of the church will do the work in planting, cultivating and harvesting the crops which are to be sold next fall.

The plan has been used with success in other churches, Rev. Garnes reported.

Tag Trouble Costs Bucyrus Driver $26.30

BUCYRUS — Police Chief Arthur L. Stuckert predicted William W. Weaver, service manager of the Lott Motor company here, won't ignore the next parking meter violation ticket he gets.

Weaver was brought before Mayor R. L. Hertzer Thursday after he had ignored 13 tickets for overtime parking, Chief Stuckert reported.

He was fined $5 and costs of $8.30 plus $13 for the accumulated traffic violations.

The chief pointed out if Weaver had paid each time within an hour after his car was tagged, the entire cost would have amounted to only $3.25.

Overtime parkers are assessed 25 cents if they pay up within an hour after the violation occurred. Otherwise the penalty is $1.

Galion North School Site Poll Studied

Board of Education Meets, Goes On Record

GALION — The local Board of Education, at a special meeting Friday night, took action on last week's vote regarding the site for the new North school building. The pool was conducted by 70 high school seniors and resulted in the Stevens addition getting 513 votes to 159 cast for the Heise park site.

After the session Board President Robert M. Corry issued the following statement:

"Majority of the Board of Education went on record to take cognizance of the poll; the majority of the board agreed to take up in writing the option to purchase the Stevens land at a price of $8,000; however, the culmination of this option would be exercised: (a) as soon as test borings indicate the suitability of this area to support a building of this size and weight; (b) as soon as the area plot is accepted, approved and recorded by the proper authorities.

"The majority of the board authorized the architect to survey the land and proceed with building plans as rapidly as possible.

"The majority of the board authorized the appointment of the North School committee; Lester Ross, chairman, to make certain the Stevens plot is accepted by the city, recorded in the city offices and secure a statement from the city officials covering availability and costs for streets, sidewalks, sewers, water, electricity and other needed utilities for the building.

"The board estimates the plans can be ready for advertisement in 30 days, and desires the North school committee to have secured the statement within that time.

"Majority of the board approved appointment of a Park advisory committee to recommend procedure toward either the upkeep, supervision and improvement, or the disposal of the picnic area of Heise park. W. M. King was named chairman of the committee, Roland Flowers to serve from the board of education, and membership of the committee to be representatives from the following organizations: Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs, Elks lodge, Business and Professional Women's club, city council, American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

All members of the board of education were present at the meeting, and voted four to one on the above provisions.

Bucyrus Studying Rule By Manager

BUCYRUS — (INS) — Petitions for a city manager plan of government at Bucyrus may be circulated by the city's Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Councilman Victor Vollrath made the proposal of the Jaycees Satruday and claimed adoption of the other form of government would mean a 30 per cent reduction in the municipal budget.

To be placed on the ballot next November, proponents would have to secure 400 signatures to the petitions. The Jaycees said a special committee would visit other cities operating under the city-manager form of government.

Sheep Raising Secondary Enterprise In County

Lamb Output In Richland High

By BILL HERRING
News-Journal State Editor

Sheep raising in Richland county is low in comparison to other farm enterprises but the county's lamb production ranks high in the state.

This was noted Friday during an all-day lamb pool tour in this and Huron county. Feeding and lambing practices were observed and marketing discussed on the five-stop tour.

Larry Bear, extension animal husbandman for Ohio State university, assisted with the tour. A snack lunch was carried by group members who first gathered at the Faulkner farm near Shelby at 10 a. m. An hour later they made their final Richland county stop at the Haldon Cheesman farm off State Route 598.

The other stops were in Huron county and included the Irvin Coy farm near Plymouth, the Willard Fritz farm at Attica and the N. H. Sanders farm near Greenwich.

The Richland-Huron Sheep and Lamb Improvement committee, headed by Fritz, sponsored the tour. Richland county members are Lester Lantz of Mansfield, R. D. 1, Roscoe Hutchinson of Plymouth, Laurence Faulkner, T. H. Sheppard and H. H. Wolfe, all of Shelby, and E. C. Niss of Bellville.

★

The committee assists with the program and its big function is the marketing of lambs at the Greenwich lamb pool held every two weeks from September to April.

Last year's volume totaled 4,000 head of which 3,000 were graded lambs. The rest were sheep and feeder lambs raised for the meat trade. The weight of the year's sales was 276,755 pounds for an average weight of 92 pounds.

John Bricker, manager of the Producers Cooperative Commercial association in Cleveland, headed the tour committee which included Faulkner and Niss. It was assisted by the county agricultural extension agents—C. N. McGrew of Richland and John Wells of Huron.

The ram selection phase figures prominently in this area's lamb crop. Many of the lambs visited on the tour were offspring of rams purchased at the Aug. 26 'ram day' at the Greenwich lamb pool.

Pure-bred rams from various well-bred flocks in this area, and even as far as Canada, were sold at Greenwich. They were sorted and given price tags before being penned where buyers selected the ones in the price pen they wanted.

Most flocks are under 100 head of sheep and farmers make little effort at expansion-being content to hold their flock strength. Some female lambs are held out of the pool for breeding purposes to replace losses incurred by flock deaths and the inroads of sheep-killing dogs.

Most lambs are clipped before marketing. Breeding stock also is clipped for wool. Wool is an added cash crop to sheep-raising farmers who handle breeding stock. Older sheep are sold for meat purposes, if healthy and strong. There seldom is a large turnover in a flock from year to year.

McGrew said the annual lamb pool banquet will be held in the Greenwich high school on April 7.

6 Bucyrus CAP Pilots Qualify

BUCYRUS — Six local civil Air Patrol pilots last week received Air Force ratings, it was announced by Capt. W. J. Wise of the local CAP squadron. The ratings were given on the basis of completion of flight proficiency requirements and review by state and national flight proficiency boards.

The approved pilots are permitted to fly Air Force aircraft on loan to CAP. They also will assist in training activities of CAP in the air education program for Crawford county youths under 18 years of age.

Local CAP squardron pilots qualifying are Ralph P. Beahr, George P. Fisher jr., Richard Loy, Carl Lust jr., Charles Shaffer and Fred C. Ward.

Asks $499 Judgment On Crestline Work

BUCYRUS — Judgment of $499 and interest is asked in an action filed in common pleas court here by Sam and Ada Frankel, doing business as the Glass company, against W. M. Cheney of the Cheney Motor Sales in Crestline.

The plaintiffs allege the amount is due them for material and work performed on the new Cheney garage building. They allege the total bill amounted to $2,279 of which $499 remains unpaid.

BAND GIVES CONCERT

LEXINGTON — The Lucas school band presented a musical exchange program here last week consisting of vocal numbers and an accordion trio. Last month the Lexington band gave a concert in Lucas.

Shelby Finds Route Plans Get Support

Public Approving Traffic Proposals

SHELBY — With service and civic groups expressing their approval in form of letters and statements the support of the city's effort to obtain a new route for north south traffic to relieve the heavy traffic from downtown districts is growing in leaps and bounds.

It was expected that petitions, letters and statements would be in the mayor's hands by the early part of the week for submission to the engineering divison of the state highway department.

Petitions are in circulation in the affected areas for signatures in favor of the project while public sentiment expressed complete support of the proposed new route.

Upon receipt of the statements it will be up to the state engineers to conduct a survey to check the feasibility of the new route and to draw up plans and specifications if the proposal is sound.

The proposal is for the extension of North Broadway to meet with Route 61 on the present Plymouth road approximately two miles north of Shelby thereby relieving the congestion caused by heavy trucking on Main street especially in the center of town.

Wesleyan Sets 'Republican Day' In Delaware Thursday

DELAWARE. — Republican leaders from throughout Ohio will convene here Thursday for "Republican day" sponsored by the Institute of Practical Politics, Ohio Wesleyan university's unique organization for teaching political science through actual contact with political leaders and agencies.

Congressman Hugh Scott, of Philadelphia, chairman of the Republican National committee, will be the principal speaker at the general session at 4 p. m. in Gray Chapel.

Seminars on the inner workings of the party system will be conducted by Ray Bliss, state Republican chairman, and Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown, national committee woman.

Bliss and Mrs. Brown also will be the speakers at a luncheon which will number among its guests members of the Ohio central and executive committee, county central committee chairmen, county executive chairmen, and all county chairwomen.

"Republican day" is only one of many activities planned by the Institute to acquaint students with the practical side of politics. A "Democrat day" has been scheduled for the near future by Dr. Ben A. Arneson, chairman of the Institute and head of the political science department.

Plymouth Names Meiser Marshal

PLYMOUTH — Robert Meiser was appointed village marshal by council here last week following a six-month trial period. Estel Watts was named deputy marshal and council approved Fire Chief Dalton McDougal's request that 16 helmets and 16 hangers be purchased at a cost of $186.

Action on a new salary scale is expected at the next council meeting following a report made by a committee including Harold Cashman, Guy Cunningham, Whitney Briggs, Harry Tranger and Solicitor Dush.

Additional parking space near the Plymouth theater will be offered at the April council meeting. Councilman Glen West reported a parking lot on the school site was not available due to construction work there.

CLAUDIA MARKS WED TO DAVID L. UPHAM

By ANN SCHOENMAN

Four hundred invited guests attended the wedding of Miss Claudia V. Marks and David Lanning Upham which was carried out in an atmosphere of charm and elegance Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church. The Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner officiated for the formal affair.

Miss Marks is the daughter of Mrs. Claudia V. Marks, 501 Woodhill road, and Mr. Upham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Perce Upham sr., Martinsburg road, Mt. Vernon, O.

The exchange of nuptial vows took place in a most beautifully appointed church of all white appointments. Behind the organ was placed a large fan shaped arrangement of wood wardia fern from California. Intermingled were white snapdragons and select white gladioli. On each side of the organ huge ball designs of wood wardia fern were arranged and white smilax were hung in strips on the organ pipes. A blanket of huckleberry and gardenias covered the oak panel above the choir loft. In front of the chancel was a row of Boston ferns with a border of fine white tulips.

Two fifteen branch candelabra were placed in the choir loft with burning candles. Four seven branch candelabra were placed in the chancel with white candles.

The aisle for the bridal procession was marked with all white. At every other pew was a large white satin bow with gardenias and their natural foliage pinned to the streamers. Above the bows were fastened a two-branch candelabra with cathedral tapers.

At the back of the church were two large beauty baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons.

Outside the magnificent stained windows flood lights were placed to give the effect of sunlight shining through. The ledges were covered solid with huckleberry, wood wardia ferns, white gladioli and white snapdragons. Thirty-inch candles burned in the arrangement.

Miss Mable Zehner presided at the organ for the half hour of nuptial music which preceded the ceremony. Phillip MacGregor, of Akron, noted bass-baritone, served as soloist.

Miss Marks approached the altar at the arm of her cousin, Bernard Fritchie of Lima. She wore a gown and veil designed for her by Howard Greer of Cleveland.

He designed a period gown of embroidered organdy with a portrait neckline and long simple sleeves. Attached to the tight fitted bodice was the skirt in which Mr. Greer used many yards of organdy ruffles. This extended into a train, making a dramatically full skirt.

The long court veil worn by Miss Marks was of sheerest illusion and fell from a medieval type cap of shirred tulle which was edged in pearls. The bride carried a beautiful white lace heirloom handkerchief which she borrowed from her great-aunt, Mrs. George Pierman of Upper Sandusky. This handmade handkerchief had been carried at many weddings in the family.

During the ceremony the "Lord's Prayer" was sung, and "Perfect Love" was played.

MYRTIE PACE BECOMES BRIDE OF L. E. KELLOGG

Bride's Father Officiates For Wedding At Home of Brother-In-Law In Galion.

GALION—Rev. Julian B. Lively of Augusta, Ga., who came to Galion last week, officiated for the marriage of his daughter, Myrtie Jeanne Pace, and Lawrence E. Kellogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kellogg of Galion, March 10. The single ring ceremony was read at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hughes, of Hetrick Drive. An improvised altar was arranged in front of the window of the living room.

For her wedding, the bride wore a powder blue dress, designed with hand embroidery on the collar and sleeve. She had black accessories and carried a white Bible which was topped with an orchid. Her attendant was her sister, Mrs. Hughes, who was attired in a navy blue dress with accessories in navy and white. Her corsage was of white carnations. Harold Kellogg was his brother's best man.

Relatives and close friends were present for the ceremony and the reception which followed. Baskets of red roses and white flowers decorated the home. The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Kellogg, mother of the bridegroom, while the punch was served by the bride's mother, Mrs. Lively. Vera June Kellogg had charge of the bride's book.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride had an aqua suit with black accessories, and wore her orchid corsage. Mr. Kellogg and his bride will live at 435 Grand street, Galion.

The new Mrs. Kellogg was graduated from Tubman High school in Augusta, Ga., and has been employed as a secretary at the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing company.

Mr. Kellogg was graduated from Galion High school, and is a machinist at the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing company.

George Lively of Augusta, Ga., and friends from Marion, were present for the nuptials.

Horoscope

For Monday, March 21

Monday's astrological forecast bears omen of strange and shattering portent, only averted or transmuted by indomitable will, determination, shrewd manipulation and the use of thoroughly practical techniques. There is little to be expected from outside aid, encouragement or understanding, in fact the main impediment may come from failure of promised cooperation. Stand firm in crises, make no headstrong or rash efforts, and keep the far and enduring vista in sight, resting on faith.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are urged to summon all their reserve talents, skill, sagacity, resources, to withstand a sudden crash or disintegrating circumstance, sudden and shattering, revolutionary. With keen analysis of the blow, diligence, determination, faith and the far vision, toward long range security and promise, all may be surprisingly redeemed from chaos. "Perfect endurance attaineth to all things."

A child born on this day may be subject to sudden blows and crashes in life but is splendidly equipped and fortified to meet the broad sides of fate with faith, firmness and valor.

Nuptial Rite Miss Kurtzman Wed In Home

On Saturday evening, March 12 at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Bowman, Miss Pauline L. Kurtzman, daughter of John Kurtzman, and Jackson L. Bowman, were united in marriage by Rev. Lena Jennings.

The bride was given in marriage by the grooms father, the double ring ceremony being used.

The bride was attired in a royal blue dress with blue accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink camellias. The matron of honor, Mrs. Levi Marshall, sister of the groom, was attired in a gray suit with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of white gardenias.

The best man was Levi Marshall, brother-in-law of the groom. The groom's mother was attired in a black pin stripe suit and a shoulder corsage of pink sweet peas.

The bride is employed at the Dominion Electric company and the groom is employed in construction work.

The newlyweds will be at home to their friends at 194 East Third Street.

Have Your Gardens In All Weather

"The "outdoor living room" is more than a hackneyed phrase with a summertime, evening-under-the-stars or garden-party-in-the-warm - sunshine meaning. At least it should be and it is coming increasingly to be.

Plan the main section of the garden or "outdoor living room" with two approaches and two uses in mind.

Number one is the physical approach. If the garden is to be used completely, this must be easy, simple. Step out from the living room or dining room to the terrace, another step out or down and there you are! Right in the midst of it.

But there must be another sort of easy approach. Number two is the sight approach, the access of vision. The outdoor living room — the garden — should be so easy to look into as to seem "just another room of the home!"

So arranged, just outside the increasingly popular "picture window" and enclosed by trees, shrubs and flowers, a "garden party" is possible any time, in sunshine or rain.

Furthermore, "called on account of darkness" or "rain" need never apply to either the simplest family gathering or to the most elaborate social function if the easy "sight" approach to the garden is aided by the simple expedient of proper outdoor lighting.

Yes, the garden can add much of beauty, of solace, of comfort, and dignity to the home—in any weather, at any season.

Paris Presents Peek-a-boo Style

PARIS — There's a definite trend among french designers to unveil the female form this spring.

Shorter skirts (sometimes so short that the slashed variety make the midthigh visible, necklines that hit the almost censorable level and peek-a-boo wing sleeves with armholes that open down to the waist, all provide drafts that were never tolerated by that muffled old fogey called the "new look".

But biggest draft of all comes with bare midrifts — not just for sun dresses but for cocktail time and evening. They are extremely come-hither looking but should on no account be worn by those with paunchy diaphragms.

Necklines have never been so low. There are V shapes that finish at the waist but these are quite conservative compared to one on a navy blue wool day dress. This has wide white pique lapels which finish well below the navel.

Bread pudding is especially enjoyable when it is served just after it has cooled at room temperature; garnish it with a little red currant jelly for extra appeal. Shredded coconut is a delicious garnish for chocolate bread pudding.

Cooking School and Fashion Show to Be Given Thursday

THE MONTGOMERY WARD and Company will present a cooking school and fashion show Thursday evening of this week in the auditorium of John Simpson Junior high school at 8 p. m., according to announcement made by George A. Richner, manager.

The cooking school, which will consist of the latest modes of preparing food, along with new and practical recipes and menus, will be in charge of Marcella Finegan and Irene Oberlin of the Ohio Public Service company. This demonstration on cooking and home freezing will be for a one hour period.

Following will be a fashion display, showing the newest in spring styles in suits, coats and dresses. Local models will be seen with the latest in ready-to-wear with suitable accessories.

Harold McCuen, display manager of the company, will supervise the show, which will last 35 minutes. The event is open to the public, admission free.

FASHION NOTE

For color accent on your Spring blacks or navys add a dash of the exciting new rayve red. Let this color stimulate your wardrobe in bonnet form, in gloves, in a significantly simple flower, or a wisp of chiffon at the throat. Let rayve red be the lilt in your Spring look.

KIDDIES PARTY

Every once in a while give your youngsters permission to invite a few of their classmates home for a small party. Peanut butter and bacon, cream cheese and jelly sandwiches will make a hit with the small fry. Serve milk or lemonade, carrot and celery sticks and they'll love it. Of course this repast must take the place of dinner.

Isaly Blue Ribbon children are Mansfield youngsters who drink Isaly's Homogenized Milk. Photographs of Blue Ribbon children appear in Isaly advertisements every Sunday and Tuesday. Today's Blue Ribbon Girl is Donna Marie Bubnich, 11 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bubnich, 235 Blymyer avenue.

AN Isaly BLUE RIBBON GIRL
Donna Marie Bubnich

Donna's favorite is Isaly's Homogenized Milk. She likes its rich, creamy flavor, a flavor that is much richer, much creamier than ordinary milk. Homogenized milk digests more quickly and easily than ordinary milk, too — agrees with tiny tummies better. And its wholesome nourishment helps build sound, healthy bodies. Why not begin today to give your children the flavor and health advantages of scientifically improved Isaly's Homogenized Milk.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters Begin Rush Season Here

Mrs. Rachel Stoddard Ruff international representative of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, received over 100 young Mansfield women Friday evening in the ballroom of the Mansfield Leland hotel at an informal rush reception. Members of Epsilon Iota and Epsilon Tau chapters were in charge of arrangements for the event.

Mrs. Paul Lantz and Mrs. Frank Hoffer, presidents of the two chapters, received with Mrs. Ruff. She will remain in Mansfield for a short time to assist the chapters in the completion of their rush activities.

As the guests arrived a reception committee, composed of Miss Ruth Spring, Mrs. Joseph Speakman, Mrs. Donald Krichbaum and Miss Ruth Hammer greeted them and presented them with name cards, which were pinned to their lapels by Mrs. Charles Young and Mrs. Richard Dickson.

Official hostesses were Mrs. Richard Colwell, Mrs. W. L. Crail, Mrs. Theo Brown, Mrs. Vaughn P. Thompson and Mrs. Steven Grassel.

The group viewed a display table, holding the sorority's scrapbook, official jewelry and magazines. These were in charge of Miss Norma Prion, Mrs. Ramon Phipps and Miss Mary Pollock.

The highlight of the evening's program, which was in charge of Mrs. Lantz, mistress of ceremonies, was the talk by Mrs. Ruff and later a resume of the sorority given by Miss Kaye Niman. She spoke on "The Background, Purpose and Ideals of Beta Sigma Phi". Miss Loretta Ann Fink gave a paper on "Local and State Activities".

Miss Joyce Greenwood spoke on "Honorary Members" of the sorority. Violin numbers were played by Mrs. Joy Cunningham, who was accompanied by Mrs. V. P. Thompson. Her selections were "Poems" and "Two Guitars".

This was followed by a paper on "Sorority Programs", both culturally and socially, by Mrs. Richard Colwell. "Contests and Rambles" was the topic presented by Miss Paula Brunk.

Mrs. Lantz then introduced Mrs. Jack Saylor, who spoke on "Friendship and Social Activities".

The speaker's table was beautifully appointed with a centerpiece of spring jonquils and was draped with the sorority's white satin altarcloth, bearing the shield of Beta Sigma Phi. During the refreshment period music was played by Miss Betty Keller and Mrs. Cunningham. The centerpiece for the serving table was a yellow floral piece and tall yellow tapers in candelabra. Two punch bowls graced each end of the long table where Mrs. Albert Rimmer and Mrs. Manning Perkins presided.

Later a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Ruff, Mrs. Hoffer and Mrs. Lantz were presented with Talisman rosebud corsages. This is the sorority flower.

Circle Three Entertained At Handleys

Circle Three of the First Methodist church met for a dessert luncheon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Handley, 543 Park avenue west. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. John Kemble and Mrs. Charles McKinley. There were nineteen members present.

Trays were decorated with St. Patrick's Day appointments. The meeting was opened with members singing Irish songs and old familiar hymns. Mrs. R. H. Crowell, president, conducted the business meeting.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. B. S. Jennings, who used as her topic, "Alcoholism." Mrs. Paul Sowash gave the book review on China.

Plans were made for a rummage sale March 25 to be held in the church basement.

The next meeting will be held April 21 at the home of Mrs. B. S. Jennings, 236 Bartley avenue. A dessert luncheon will be served.

Circle Four Has Luncheon

Fifteen members and three guests, Mrs. Louis Matoska, Mrs. Charles Stoneburner and Mrs. Clarence Lisle, were present at the 1:30 dessert luncheon of Circle Four of the First Methodist church. The session was held at the home of Mrs. Stuart Cramer, 325 Rowland avenue, Thursday afternoon. St. Patrick's decorations were used throughout the room.

The president, Mrs. C. A. Crawford, opened the business session. Mrs. W. C. Peterson led the group in devotions.

"China" was the topic of the program given by Mrs. Della Richardson.

On April 1 the group will meet at the Women's club with Mrs. W. H. Gugler and Mrs. Charles Shafer as hostesses.

Dorcas Bible Club Names Committee

The Dorcas Bible club met at the home of Mrs. Charles Kafer, Sloane avenue, Wednesday. A guest, Mrs. E. May Traut of Youngstown was present. Mrs. Sam Burrows led the devotions and presided for the short business meeting.

A nominating committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Lowell Hamilton, chairman, Mrs. Rose Baughman and Mrs. Jay Chubbs.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Ritter. Mrs. Frank Vild will conduct devotions and the lesson will be led by Mrs. Lowell Hamilton.

MRS. N. S. BRAMMER

WED FRIDAY—Miss Janeen Funston and Norbert Stanley Brammer were married at the First Methodist church, Friday evening, March 12, in a double-ring informal ceremony. Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner officiated. Miss Funston is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy K. Funston, 354 Hammond avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Carrie Brammer of Lodi. They will make their home at 475 South Diamond street.

Bible Club Holds Annual Tea

Mrs. Arthur Grau, 628 Arlington avenue, was hostess to the Neighborhood Bible club when they held their annual guest tea.

Mrs. C. E. Frankeberger gave the devotions on the thought, "After What Manner Pray Ye?" Two Bibles were purchased by the club to be presented to the Friendly House.

Mrs. Bernard Schneider presented the lesson study on the 25th chapter of Acts and discussed the special subject, "Future Destiny of Unbelievers." Eleven members answered roll call with Scripture verses.

The guests in attendance were Mrs. E. C. Frampton, Mrs. F. J. Poland, Mrs. Cora Rand, Miss Bertha Landis, Mrs. J. C. Boyer, Mrs. Lillie Parker, Mrs. David Martin, Mrs. John Lorentz and Mrs. Hobart Cashell.

When tea was served, Mrs. Morris, club president, presided at the table which was beautifully appointed in a green and white color scheme. A lovely floral arrangement was flanked on either side by candles.

The next regular meeting of the group will be April 6 at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. K. Smaltz, 301 Ruth avenue.

B.-P. W. Glee Club Concert To Be Today

The annual concert, presented by the Business and Professional Women's glee club, will be given today at 4 p.m. at John Simpson junior high school auditorium.

The Mansfield Music Study club orchestra will present one part of the three part program, under the direction of Mrs. E. D. Gibson. The glee club is under the direction of Miss Myrtle Booth, with Miss Estella Arras assisting. Mrs. Minnie Marks Cahall will be the accompanist for the glee club.

Hostesses for the concert are Dorothy Clauss, Falsom Teeter and Margaret Casperson.

The ushers are Helyn McCullough, Bertha Scanlon, Martha Rexrode, Doris Dean, Sue Smith and Marjorie Comer. Tickets have been handled by Grace Bonnell, Dorothy Garver, Mary Eggert, Thelma Bogan and Bee Prewer.

Mrs. Hoyer Re-elected President

Mrs. Charles Shook, Lind avenue, was hostess to 17 members of the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. A. E. Courtney and Mrs. Fred Proctor were the associate hostesses.

Mrs. Orlan Hoyer, president, presided for the business session. "China" was the subject of the program given by Mrs. Shook. Her talk was based on "The Christian Voices in China." Mrs. E. M. Martin and Mrs. W. E. Shane conducted the devotions.

Previous to the general session, the missionary prayer meeting was conducted by Mrs. E. C. Craig.

The nominating committee reported that the same officers had been elected for the coming year. They are as follows: Mrs. Hoyer, president; Mrs. Craig, vice president; Mrs. W. S. Wilson, treasurer, and Miss Anna Rouch, secretary.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Courtney, 140 Sherman avenue, with Mrs. Flora Barnett as the associate hostess. This session will be held on April 20.

REGULAR MEETING

The Jolly Damsels met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Susan Grossel, Lexington avenue. Luncheon was served and bridge the diversion of the afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. Daniel Nagle and Mrs. Anton Schweitzer. The next meeting will be held March 31 at Mrs. Schweitzer's home, 104 Arthur avenue.

MRS. W. C. MAINS

DOUBLE RING CEREMONY — Miss Eileen Mae Hoffman and William Cletis Mains were united in marriage March 5 at 4:30 p. m. in the First Methodist church with Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Simon Hoffman, R. D. 6. She was residing at 598 McPherson street. Mr. Mains is the son of Mrs. Helen Mains, 177 Lexington avenue. The couple will reside at 598 McPherson street.

Marks-Upham Nuptials Held At First Methodist Church and stephanotis centered with a special 12 X albor orchid, used later as her going away corsage.

Mrs. Stephan P. Upham jr., of Mt. Vernon, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor. Miss Mary Daugherty of Rensselaers, Indiana, a close friend of the bride, at Monticello college, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Ehalt, Miss Shirley Anson, Mrs. Bruce McGinty, all of Mansfield and friends of Miss Marks, and Miss Susan Hetlage, of St. Louis, Missouri, suite-mate of the bride, at Monticello.

Little Cynthia Magnuson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Magnuson of Columbus, very close friends of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. Jack Fritchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fritchie, cousins of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The attendants' gowns were all alike, of white organdy over blue taffeta. These had portrait necklines with tight bodices. Sashes with huge blue bows centered the dresses. Their gowns were ankle length, showing matching blue satin slippers. In their hair they wore blue bows, carrying out the quaintness of the period dresses.

The small four year old flower girl wore a white embroidered organdy dress. The ring bearer, who is six years old, was attired in a white gaberdine suit made with a short jacket and long trousers.

Modern style front bouquets of blue carnations and blue gardenias were carried by the matron of honor and the maid of honor. The bridesmaids carried the same style arrangements of blue carnations and white gardenias.

A white basket filled with white and dyed blue snapdragon blossoms was carried by the flower girl. A pillow of white satin trimmed with adiantum fern at each corner was carried to the altar by the ring bearer. Upon the pillow was placed Miss Marks' wedding band.

Mrs. Marks' gown was in mist grey. The skirt had many yards of chiffon falling in a three tiered effect. With it she wore long white gloves and three white phelanopsis orchids. Mrs. Upham was attired in a gown of beige and lace coffee chiffon. The long fitted bodice ended with a circular full skirt of chiffon. With her gown she wore beige gloves and three tan cymbidium orchids.

Mr. Upham sr., father of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The guests were escorted to their pews by Stephan Perce Upham jr., Bradley Upham, of Mt. Vernon, brothers of the bridegroom, John Claypool, of Canton, friend of the couple, William D. Bogardus, of Mt. Vernon friend, Lyle Irvine, of Columbus, friend, and Stanley Price, of Columbus, roommate of the bridegroom at Denison university.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for four hundred guests was held in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. A large four-tiered twin wedding cake connected by three tiers was placed in the center of the bride's table. Around the base of the cake was placed strings of cultivated smilax with adiantum fern, gardenias and white stock. On each side of the cake were placed antique crystal candelabra from the E. D. Gibson family, close friends of Mrs. Marks. The two four tiered sections were topped with white rosebuds to match the trim on the cake.

Centering the canap table, filled with hot and cold delicacies, was a troth arrangement of white sweetpeas, pompons, gardenias and adiantum fern. In the center of the troth was placed a silver fountain with water continually flowing from it. The tables were all laid in silver and crystal.

The two champagne tables placed on each side of the orchestra from Columbus which played for the reception, were decorated with huckleberry and carnations. Palms were placed at each window.

The east section of the ballroom was arranged in a parlor style where the receiving line stood. Four beauty baskets of white snapdragons and gladioli decorated it.

Blankets of southern smilax covered each chandelier. White dainty wedding bells on white satin streamers were attached to the flowers. A wide white band of satin ran from each chandelier to a large wedding bell hung in the center of the ballroom.

For her honeymoon to Mt. Gabriel, Ski Resort, Canada, the new Mrs. Upham wore a tan driftwood winter suit with a mink collar trim. At one side of the jacket was a double peplum, and the shirt was straight. A white silk blouse with rhinestones and lace trim was worn under the suit. A dark brown hat with velvet trim, matching shoes and bag, with white gloves completed the ensemble.

The couple will be at home at 801 Yale drive after April 2.

Mrs. Upham is a graduate of Hathaway Brown school in Cleveland, Monticello junior college. Alton, Illinois, and attended Rollins college, Winter Park, Florida. While attending Rollins college, Mrs. Upham was pledged to Pi Beta Phi national sorority.

Mr. Upham attended Kemper military school in Missouri, is a graduate of Mt. Vernon high school, attended Duke university, Durham, North Carolina, the Merchant Marine academy, Ringsport, New Jersey, and graduated from Denison university [illegible] he became affiliated with the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He is an employe of the Harding and Loughridge Insurance Agents in Mansfield.

Out-of-town relatives present at the wedding were in attendance from Mt. Vernon, Loudonville, Upper Sandusky, Washington, Pennsylvania, Lima, Mineral Wells, Texas, and Fort Worth, Texas. Friends traveled from Washington, D. C., St. Louis, Missouri; Pickford, Michigan; Fort Wayne, Indiana; Columbus, Cleveland, Canton, Granville, Toledo and Shelby, Ohio.

Aging Mansfield Man Laughs at Money Worries

An elderly gentleman near here has been getting a retirement income from my company for many years He's 78 now . . . healthy and happy with lots of hobbies and he dearly loves to josh!

Said he recently "Besides yourself Mr Brandenburg, there's just one other man I'd rather see come up that path. That's the postman bringing my Phoenix Mutual check on the 18th of every month!"

On another occasion, he said "Phoenix Mutual ads often how a man in fishing togs, with rod bent double and a big Rainbow on the end But so far, the nearest I've come to that is owning those goldfish there in the bowl"

Sooner or later, however, this man never fails to recall how we saved him from "losing his shirt" in the market crash of '29 by getting him to invest with us the year before. And that always renews my zest for telling others how best to plan for future security.

MISS EILENE JESSON BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. BATES

THE BEAUTIFULLY decorated altar of the First Presbyterian church in Lexington was the scene, Saturday, of the nuptial vows for Miss Eilene R. Jesson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Paul Jesson, of Lexington, and E. Edward Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Bates, 494 Edgewood road.

The Rev. G. U. Chapin officiated for the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms, two seven-branch candelabra and two beauty baskets filled with white roses and pink snapdragons. Miss Betty Pagnard was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a fitted suit of soft petal pink with a scalloped collar that dipped in a cape-like effect across the front of her jacket. Her matching bonnet was trimmed with a shower of roses across the off-the-face brim. She wore navy accessories and an antique gold bracelet which has been worn by the last two generations of her mother's family.

She carried a lace handkerchief which was carried by the bridegroom's mother at her wedding. A pure white hybrid orchid and white stephanotis daintily topped her white Bible.

Her only attendant was Mrs. J E Garrison, who was attired in an empire beige suit fashioned with a box jacket and straight skirt. She wore coppertan and green accessories and carried a cluster of cymbidium orchids in a small cascade arrangements

The bride's mother chose a grey silk crepe dress, for her daughter's wedding, with lavender accessories. She wore a lavender orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a silk print dress with a side drape. She wore a primrose pink straw hat and an orchid corsage.

James Roberts, a friend of the bridegroom, served as his best man. The ushers were H. A. Ford, brother-in-law of the bride, and Fred Zumsteg, cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception, at the Sky Club for 150 guests, followed the ceremony. The table was centered with a five-tiered cake surrounded with an arrangement of white snapdragons and roses. Mrs. Gene Cusic and Miss Mary Ann Cusic served punch from another long table decorated with a lovely floral arrangement of spring flowers.

The bride is a graduate of Lexington high school. She attended Bowling Green university where she was affiliated with the Zeta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority The bridegroom is a graduate of Mansfield senior high and he attended Ohio State university. They are both employed at Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Two pre-nuptial showers honored Miss Jesson last week. The first was given by her co-workers at the Westinghouse Electric corporation accounting department. It was held at the home of Miss Katherine Robinson, on West Fourth street, with Miss Eleanor Brooks, co-hostess. Bridge was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Garrison and Miss Martha Bricker. Refreshments were served from a table centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom and tall pink tapers.

A gift of crystal was presented to the honoree from the payroll department and another crystal gift was presented from the treasury and accounting departments.

Mrs. Carl Horchler and her daughters, Mrs. Richard Nixon and Mrs. Fred Zumsteg, feted the bride at the Horchler home on Lexington road. A shower of miscellaneous gifts was presented to the honoree. The gifts were hidden throughout the house and Miss Jesson was led to them by alarm clocks sounding off at short intervals throughout the evening.

Bridge was played and guests also hemmed tea towels. Miss Daisy R. Gordon, the honoree's aunt and Mrs. Earl Bates, mother of the bridegroom received high scores.

A lovely color scheme was carried out in green and yellow. Yellow spring flowers and greenery were placed throughout the house. A luncheon was served late in the evening. Ice cream was served with "Eddie and Eileen" lettered across the top.

At the close of the evening Miss Jesson modeled the beautiful ivory satin wedding gown worn by Mrs. Horchler on her wedding day. The gown is handmade and contained delicate insertions of lace and beadwork.

Jolly Nine Club Meets At Frontz's

The Jolly Nine Pinochle club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frontz Vale avenue. Two tables were played with prizes going to Mrs R H McGregor and Mrs. Peter Stupanski. Guest prizes were presented to Mrs. Edward Jeffries and Mrs. Robert Jeffries.

Luncheon was served on small tables with St Patrick's Day appointments. The next meeting will be held March 30 at the home of Mrs R. H McGregor South Franklin avenue.

Studer-Bishop Wedding Held In Attica Catholic Church

MISS FREDA MAE STUDER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alfred Studer, 182 Poplar street, and Linus John Bishop of New Washington exchanged nuptial vows Feb. 26 in the Catholic church at Attica.

The double ring, open church, ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. Monnin. Mrs. Howard Rauth was organist and Mr. and Mrs. Rauth were soloists for the ceremony. The church was decorated with potted flowers on the side altar and the main altar. A mixed bouquet was placed in front of the Blessed Virgin. The church was lighted by candlelight.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with a sweetheart neckline. The long, fitted sleeves gathered at the shoulders and formed points over her wrists. The gown was in the princess style with a four inch row of lace extending from each shoulder. There was also lace around the waist and the back of her neck. The skirt formed a circular train. Her finger tip veil was trimmed with lace to match the gown. She wore three strands of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white carnations with narrow braided pink and blue ribbon mixed with the flowers and wide satin streamers.

The bride's sister, Miss Agnes Studer, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink satin with a marquisette skirt and yoke. The gown had short puffed sleeves and a pink bow just below the yoke. Her bouquet was white carnations with a blue one in the center. It was trimmed with a blue satin ribbon. She wore a rhinestone necklace. Blue flowers were worn in her hair.

The bridesmaids wore light blue gowns with short puffed sleeves and sweetheart necklines. The waists were scalloped with gathered skirts. They each wore a band of pink flowers in their hair and gold crosses about their necks. They carried bouquets of white carnations, centered with a pink carnation. Wide satin ribbons streamed down from their bouquets.

The flower girl was Judy Ann Ziegler. Her dress was fashioned like those of the bridesmaids with short puffed sleeves and sweetheart neckline. She wore yellow flowers in her hair and a locket about her neck. Her flowere were white carnations tied with a wide yellow satin ribbon.

The bridegroom's brother, Joseph Bishop of New Washington, served as best man. The ushers were Carl E. Bishop, another brother of the bridegroom and Raymond Miller, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Attica recreation hall. There were 70 guests present. The hall was decorated with blue, pink, yellow and white crepe paper.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Florida following the reception. The bride wore a navy blue suit with a white corsage. They will make their home at 136 Western avenue.

Guests were present from New Washington, Mansfield, Chatfield, Attica, Bloomville, Republic, Bucyrus and Shelby.

The bride was employed at Westinghouse Electric corporation at the time of her marriage. The bridegroom is employed by the New York Central railroad.

Hearth Can Be Heart of Home

Your hearth is the heart of your home and its mantel, more than anything else in the room, should truly express your interests and personality.

There are a few simple rules which apply to any mantel decorations. Most important is to keep it clear of clutter; second, have on it or over it at least one sizable object, and last, decorate it with things you love.

One of a number of these interesting suggestions from this month's issue of the Woman's Home Companion might be just the ideal decoration for your mantel. Particularly nice for an informal room is the candlesticks-and-clock trio. The personal touch comes from the type of clock and candlesticks used. Two pet prints, hung one above the other on either side of the clock add freshness and character.

Greens bring softness and warmth to any room. Try hanging a good-sized wooden bracket just above the mantel shelf and fill it up with ivy and green leaves. To make the mantel express you, line up your favorite collector items on either side. For a room with Victorian feeling your mantel treatment may well be on the dressy side. An oval mirror surrounded by miniatures and silhouettes is feminine and formal.

We like to make the ever famous "tin roof" sundaes with generous scoops of creamy vanilla ice cream topped with a almonds. It's a party dessert if sprinkled with toasted slivered there ever was one but it is also rich chocolate sauce and then an easy-to-make treat for special family occasions.

We've been hearing lots about the Basic-7 food groups that we should be getting in our diet every day. Luscious canned cling peaches are both plentiful and economical, and belong with the group which includes two or more servings of potatoes and other fruits and vegetables.

Reds Win On Errors In 12th

LAKELAND, Fla. — (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' defense faltered in the 12th inning yesterday and they dropped a 5 to 4 decision to the Cincinnati Reds.

It was the second straight Grapefruit league overtime affair for the Tigers, who played a 17-inning 2-2 tie with the New York Yankees Thursday.

The National league club broke up the extra inning duel in the 12th inning when with one out, Lloyd Merriman singled over second base.

The ball got by Tiger outfielder Don Lund for a two-base error, sending Merriman to third. Charlie Kress then tapped a grounder to Tiger shortstop Eddie Lake, who let the ball go through his legs to let in the winning run.

Browns Go Ten To Beat Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif. — (AP) — A tenth inning double by Gerry Priddy drove in Roy Sievers with the run that gave the St. Louis Browns a 4-to-3 victory over the Oakland Oaks yesterday.

A home run by Les Scarsella, Oakland first sacker, off Bill Kennedy deadlocked the score at 3-all in the sixth. Priddy and Sievers drove in two runs apiece.

The teams will play the rubber contest of the three-game series here tomorrow.

Pirates Hit Four Homers In 7-6 Win

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates belted out four home runs yesterday to defeat the San Francisco Seals, 7-6, in an exhibition game witnessed by 2,500.

The payoff blow, breaking a 6-6 tie, came in the top half of the ninth when Outfielder Wally Judnich hit for the circuit. Other Pirate homers came from the bats of Ralph Kiner, Clyde McCullough and Earl Turner.

Giants Slug Out 11-4 Win From Sox

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (AP) — The New York Giants evened up their series with the White Sox yesterday, hitting three Chicago pitchers freely for eleven hits to win, 11 to 4, before 4,122 fans.

A pair of singles and Whitey Lockman's double netted two Giant runs in the third. Clint Hartung had a spell of wildness in the Sox' half of the inning and walked three men, which, with a pair of singles, produced three runs.

Bob Elliott Leads Braves to Victory

SARASOTA, Fla. — (AP) — Bob Elliott's clouting sparked a pair of four-run rallies yesterday as the Boston Braves downed Boston's Red Sox 9-4.

Elliott hit safely four times in five trips—including a double and a triple—to pace the Braves to their first citrue circuit victory in their last five starts. It was also the Braves' initial victory over their arch Boston rivals whom they will meet six more times before the start of the regular season.

Cagers Growing Old Gracefully; Chat With 'Peck'

By Fred Tharp
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

FROM THE MAIL BAG:

Dear Fred:

Although I have been gone from Mansfield for several years, I have continued to read the News-Journal sport pages with interest.

Too often in the past, the writer has felt that an outstanding group of Mansfield athletes have passed on into obscurity without a pause to review their achievements while they were active in Mansfield athletic circles. For this reason I would like to pay tribute to a group of individuals who have practically dominated the basketball leagues in the Mansfield area for the past ten years, and now could be classed as "over the hill." These names have been associated with championship teams on Mansfield sport pages for many years, and the end of this city league basketball season will undoubtedly mark the end of practically all their careers. I refer to such individuals at Ed Chatlain, Tom Scott, Dave Shelley, Jack Lyons, Noel Morgan, Fred Lewis, Russ Hoff, John Hallabrin, Don Rose and Bruce McGinty.

Whenever these fellows organized as a team, it almost always meant a championship was forthcoming, prewar as the Athletic Supplies, and later as the Smokehouse. Many have already called an end to their outstanding accomplishments through high school, college, and city amateur competition. Others are now concluding their activities this year by playing a final year with the Martin Hardware team.

Age is taking its toll, as it is significant that the average age of the Martin Hardware team was somewhere between 29 and 30 this season. Those old fellows still did quite well against the youngsters moving in to replace them, and sometimes it seems quite tragic that Old Father Time has to say, "Move on fellows, you have had things your own way long enough."

Yours truly,
JOHN V. BURNS,
Troy, Ohio

(Note: We agree with Mr. Burns that the above group of fellows have been a success in basketball. This year, they were still a threat in the City A cage league and Chatlain was the leading scorer and second outstanding player of the Richland county Gold Medal tourney. Chatlain made the first all-tourney team in the Gold Medal joust and Lewis garnered honorable mention. Both starred on the Mansfield all-star team which defeated the Cleveland Browns Wednesday.)

★ ★ ★

SAMMY BAUGH, the Washington pass-master, is still planning to play some more pro football. . . . He is 35. . . . And talking of ages, Bobby Jones, the old "Grand Slammer," is 47. . . . Steve Belloise, who wants a crack at Marcel Gerdan's middleweight crown, will battle Jean Stock in Paris on April 23. . . . Stock is the middleweight champion of France. . . . Notre Dame has had winning basketball seasons for 26 straight years. . . . Since the cage sport started at the South Bend school in 1898, the Irish have won 599 games and lost 238. . . . This year ND drew 188,780 fans in winning 17 of 24. . . . Rogers Hornsby's baseball school which opened Feb. 15 will continue through March 31 at Hot Springs, Ark. . . . The school is approved by the GI Bill of Rights and last year 102 boys from the school signed professional contracts. . . . Sam Breadon, former St. Louis Cardinals owner, is getting fidgety in the calm of the real estate business. . . . Says Sam, "You can get out of baseball but getting baseball out of your system is something else again."

★ ★ ★

WE TALKED sports with Roger Peckinpaugh, former Cleveland Indians' player and club vice-president, the other day. . . . "Peck" was one of the Indians' officials shunted aside when the Bill Veeck regime took over in Cleveland. . . . He still follows major league baseball but is not the avid fan he once was. . . . Says if he started to attend all of the games it would take too much time from his business. . . . "Peck" is also of the opinion the Indians should repeat in the American league, but admits "I was in baseball too long to go out on a limb with any selections. Injury to one key player can wreck a team's drive for the championship." . . . He recalled the 1945 season when a "hot" Cleveland streak put the Indians into the thick of the pennant fight but an injury to Lou Boudreau (broken ankle) knocked the Tribe out of contention and back to fifth place. . . . Peckinpaugh had been manager of the Indians before Boudreau took over but he gets his biggest kick out of the way high school athletes train for baseball these days. . . . "Peck's" youngest son, John, is a senior at Cleveland Heights high school and comes home each night these days all worn out. . . . "You'd think he was out for football or basketball," Peckinpaugh grins. "All the boys do is run, run, run in the gym and that isn't necessary. If pro baseball players trained down as fine as football players they would be physical wrecks by mid-season. All a baseballer has to be able to do is get from first to third on a long hit. If he can walk to the dugout, he's in good shape." . . . So the chat shifted to crew and finally to football and the free substitution rule. . . . Says Peck, "If I couldn't have played the whole game, not just offense or defense. I wouldn't have bothered with football. The present rule seems to take all the fun out of the game."

Athletics Edge Dodgers In 15th

VERO BEACH, Fla. —(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics went fifteen innings yesterday before they beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 9-8.

With two out in the 15th, Brooklyn't Phil Haugstad walked Eddie Joost and successive singles by Elmer Valo and Ferris Fain scored the tie-breaking run.

Loyola Beaten By 48-47

NEW YORK —(AP)— The University of San Francisco won the national invitation basketball tournament last night in the final 58 seconds with a 48-47 decision over Loyola of Chicago.

A free throw by Ross Guidice gave the Dons the victory. Loyola, which had never led, knotted the count with less than a minute to play. Ralph Klarich of Loyola stole the ball as the West Coast club stalled for time. He raced in, sank his basket, and the score was tied at 47-47.

Then, seconds later, Ed Earle fouled Guidice. The short, dark haired guard who had played only as a reserve in the tournament, took aim calmly and sank the point.

BEEGEES WIN

Bowling Green of Ohio won third place by defeating Bradley university, 82-77, before the standing room only crowd of more than 18,000.

Bradley scored the first three points but trailed from the three-minute mark to the end. Three times the Braves from Peoria, Ill., moved within a point of the towering Falcons, but never could they keep the drive going.

It was a wild contest, filled with both spectacular ball handling and wild passes that went nowhere.

Paul Unruh and Charles Grover of Bradley topped the scorers with 20 apiece. Check Share, 6-11 center from Bowling Green, had 17.

Softball Plans Getting Under Way for 1949

Although play is still a good six weeks away organization of Mansfield's city softball program is already under way. City recreation director Stan Kam has sent out questionnaires to teams which played last year and several have indicated they will have teams ready.

Seven holdover clubs have definitely signed up for play. They are Farm Tools, Industrial league champs, United Brethren, Ideal Electric, Tappan Stove, First Presbyterian, Mansfield Tire, and First Methodist.

Office Cafe has taken over the Penn-Auto franchise and will be back in the Independent league. Westinghouse has also indicated it probably will field a team.

Kamen plans to run the leagues much the same as last year with the possible addition of a recreational or Class C league. The Phi Sigma Chi fraternity and Independents have requested a league of this sort and it will operate if another four to six teams can be found.

Questionaires for new teams interested are available at the West Fourth street recreation offices.

Coaltown Easy $20,000 Winner At Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla. —(AP)— Coaltown, Calumet farm's great four-year-old, yesterday equalled the world's record for the mile and a quarter in winning Gulfstream park's $20,000 handicap by seven lengths.

Under 128 pounds, Coaltown galloped under the wire in 1:59 4-5—the record time set nearly 10 years ago in Brighton, England, by Saint Andrews II and equalled for the first time on the American turf by Shannon II at Golden Gate Fields on Oct. 23, 1948.

Mrs. E. L. Hopkins' Three Rings was second and Coaltown's stablemate, Armed, was third, a half length behind Three Rings.

Although they will not be entered in the record books, Coaltown shattered two world's records in fractional times.

The bay speedster was timed at :45 flat for the half mile—two fifths of a second faster than the world record set by tie score on April 1, 1945, at Mexico City, Mexico.

The mile time was clocked at 1:34 1-5, a fifth of a second faster than the record mark set by Equipoise on June 30, 1932, at Arlington Park, Ill.

Razorbacks Win

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— The Arkansas Razorbacks outclassed a listless University of Wyoming team 61 to 48 for consolation honors in the National Collegiate Athletic association's western basketball play-offs last night.

TEACH 'EM YOUNG—Can't start teaching sports to kids too early, insists Ray Flaherty, coach of the Chicago Hornets' pro football team, as he briefs tiny Michael Esposito, age 4, on the rudiments of the gridiron game. This action signalled start of a city-wide athletic program to prevent juvenile delinquency.

4 Newcomers In Women's City Tournament Top Ten

36 Bar and PD's Bar held the top spots but new names appeared in the third and fourth place brackets of the Women's City bowling tournament last night at the Colony alleys.

McCarrick's Gulf fired a 2474 score to move into third place while Kay Shoppe took over fourth with 2450. Other newcomers among the leaders was Mitsch's Corner store in sixth with 2412 and Ingram-Martin in tenth with 2391.

Single and doubles will be completed in two shifts at 1 and 3 p. m. this afternoon. Team finals will be next Saturday.

Kirby Takes Over Top Spot

AUGUSTA, Ga. — (AP) — Atlanta's Dot Kirby continued to change her golfing name from Lady Runner-up to Miss First Place yesterday when she took a third round lead in the women's titleholders tournament.

Her 225 total for 54 holes put her two strokes ahead of Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., with whom she was tied for first place Friday.

The lanky Georgian's grip on first place is the first time in this titleholders that no tie has complicated the top runners. That 225 total also leaves Kirby only 79 strokes short of breaking the all-time titleholders record of 304 in four rounds. Babe Zaharias set that mark when she won the event in 1947.

Indians and Cubs Are Rained Out

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Rain forced cancellation of the Cleveland Indians' exhibition match with the Chicago Cubs yesterday after some 1,000 fans waited an hour in hopes the skies would clear.

It was the first inclement weather the Tribe has encountered since it opened spring training in Tucson, Ariz., more than two weeks ago.

Bobby Feller, who was to have made his second start of the season, now will open against the Cubs tomorrow. The clash will be the first on the Indians' Pacific coast tour.

Bob Lemon is expected to pitch the last half of the contest.

Wrestling Too Rough, Ref Stops Show

After 24½ minutes of wild and wooly, plain and fancy grappling at the armory last night, Jim Wright got a little too rugged for the referee and was disqualified in his bout with Ronnie Etchison.

The Etchison-Wright match led off the three-bout mess of tangled arms, grunts and groans and was followed by the Stacey Hall-Benny Trudell set-to. Trudell bounced Hall around the hall for 14 minutes to cop the first fall then dropped the next two in a row to lose the match. Hall pinned his moaning opponent in 10 minutes for the second fall then polished off the evening in a whirlwind three and one-half minute finale that left the crowd dizzy.

In the third match Whitey Whittler and Karol Krauser split the first two falls, 14 and 17 minutes, respectively, with Whittler wasting little time in the third and final stanza. He mopped up the floor with Krauser in two minutes and 40 seconds, just about par for course.

COLUMBUS, O.—The last of Ohio's undefeated high school basketball teams fell out of the state championship race last night as both Class A and B divisions were narrowed to four teams.

Toledo Central Catholic, Niles, Hamilton Public and Akron St. Vincent qualified to battle it out here Friday and Saturday for the Class A title relinquished by Findlay, while New Lexington, Lockland Wayne, North Canton and Delphos St. John remained in the Class B race, starting Thursday.

Akron St. Vincent, beaten five times in 21 previous games, turned in the most startling Class A performance of the regional finals as the Rubber City crew erased Lakewood, winner of 19 in a row, by 46-42.

In Class B little Salem township of Wyandot county, with 28 straight scalps at its belt, bowed 65-44 to Delphos St. John.

North Canton is the lone member of the final octet to repeat from last year. One former champion remains in each class, North Canton having won the Class B laurels in 1939 and Hamilton Public the Class A crown in 1937.

For the first time in history, two Catholic teams will be among the Class A state finalists. They are Toledo Central Catholic (25-3) and Akron St. Vincent (17-5). Hamilton Public with a 23-1 mark is the best-record team in Class A, Niles having the poorest with 13-9.

North Canton's 22-6 record is the poorest in Class B, while Lockland Wayne, an all-Negro school, is tops with 30-1 as well as having the best offensive and defensive averages.

Delphos St. John, another Catholic entry, holds an early-season victory over Toledo Central Catholic, one of the Class A finalists, and is expected to give Lockland Wayne a tough fight for the "B" championship. St. John has won 27 of 30, while Wayne's only loss was a three-pointer to Class A Hamilton Public.

NEW LEX TOUGH

New Lexington, fourth of the Class B clubs with a 25-1 record, has shown power all season as well as a tightly-knit defense and may be the dark horse.

Coaches of the eight finalists will meet Sunday at 11 a. m. in the offices of Commissioner H. W. Emswiler for the pairings. A straight draw will be made, all the finalists being from different sectors.

The Class B semi-finals will be played at 2:30 and 8 p. m. Thursday, with the Class A semi-finals at the same hour Friday. The "B" championship game is at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, with the "A" finals at 8.

Local Bowlers Blast Toledo

Toledo may have held the edge in basketball but Mansfield bowlers took it out on the up-state opponents yesterday with a vengeance.

Local keglers won 33 out of 42 games in the annual trophy match between Mansfield Westinghouse and Toledo DuPont rolled on both the Colony and Richland Recreation alleys.

Eighty-five bowlers from Toledo competed with the best being able to roll only a 535. Lou Tridico paced Westinghouse with 206-224-175—605. Fritz Kudika had 567, E. Lucas 564, and Bob Gressmer 553.

It was the first victory for Westinghouse in the last three years.

Blue Forster Quits; Post To Brickles

OXFORD, O. —(AP)— W. J. (Blue) Forster resigned yesterday as head basketball university and John L. Brickels was named as his basketball successor.

Dr. Ernest H. Hahne, president of Miami, who made the announcement, said no choice of a baseball coach has been made. He explained that Foster would continue his duties until the end of the current school term and thus would coach the 1949 Diamond equad.

NAMED IN '42

Foster was named head basketball coach at Miami in 1942 after directing high school teams at Harrisburg, Ill., and Newport, Ky. His seven year basketball record here showed 54 victories as against 59 defeats.

His baseball team won 43 of 66 games and Miami lost only six times in the last two years.

Brickels came to Miami recently in a football coaching shakeup that came about when George Blackburn quit as head grid coach to join Sid Gillman, a former Miami mentor, at the University of Cincinnati.

Subsequently, Woody Hayes, former coach at Denison, was named to the Miami head football coaching job and Brickels was brought here as an assistant.

CAME FROM BOWNS

Brickels, who had an outstanding record as a basketball coach, resigned as chief scout for the Cleveland Browns of the all-America professional football league to take the Miami job.

He coached basketball for six years at New Philadelphia high school and his 1938 team lost in the finals of the Class A tournament to Newark, his home town. For the next six years he coached at Huntington, W. Va., high school and his teams went to the state tournament four times. He won the state crown once and was runner-up twice.

Brickels later coached for one year at West Virginia university and his team played in the national invitational tournament.

Foster, who will leave tomorrow for Seattle, Wash., to attend a meeting of the Basketball Coaches' Association said he had "no plans for the future."

Miami now is a member of the Mid-America conference.

Girls' Basketball League Opens

Play in the Girls' Basketball league of the city recreation program will open Wednesday night at Johnny Appleseed with three games on the card.

The first set of games as announced yesterday by Mrs. Virginia Kirby, director, will pair the Rams against the Eliminators, Independents against the Gripers, and Zipperettes against the Eagles.

All games are open to the public. Girls rules will be observed. The league will run until April 27, after which softball and golf is to be started.

Operating in conjunction with the basketball on Wednesday nights is a table tennis "ladder" tournament. This affair is run under the procedure that any girl can challenge the two above her and the one at the top at the end of the five-week period.

Entered in singles, starting at the top of the ladder are: Janet Banks, Betty Nelson, Joan Wragg, Mary Miller, Joan Banks, Janice Inscore, Virginia Zara, Donna Thomas, Norma Blandi, Peg Gardner, Margaret Walters, Mary Lou Wade, Joan Bennett, Doris Miller, Teenie Schmidt, Madine Tschantz, Evelyn Winters, Ruth McFarland, Maxine Guthrie, Agnes Schmidt and Norma Gilchrist.

Doubles teams are: Maxine Guthrie and Agnes Schmidt, Evelyn Winters and Ruth McFarland, Doris Miller and Christine Schmidt, Margaret Walters and Janice Inscore, Norma Blandi and Donna Thomas, Joann and Janet Banks, Virginia Zara and Joan Wragg, Betty Nelson and Mary Miller.

Regular schedule for Thursday night badminton play has not been drawn up as yet. Fourteen girls signed up for the program last week, Mrs. Kirby said, and there is room for 10 more.

March 28 Fight Card Announced

A ten bout card for the Friendly House-40 et 8 amateur boxing show of March 28 was announced yesterday by F-H athletic director Mike Wentz.

As previously set up, Don Esbenshade, the 157 pound Senior high school student heads the list. He will meet Dick Butcher, Akron middleweight novice champion of this year in the three round main event.

Friendly House boys will meet out-of-town opponents in eight of the nine other fights. Bill Eberhardt, 135, is set to meet Paul LeMaster, 135, of Akron, and Bill Eccles, 160, will take on Ray Harris, 160, also of Akron.

Other bouts include: Cecil Wright, 116, vs. Jack LaFolette, Akron, 116; Bruce Heinberger, 115, vs. Jr. Lowery, Marion 116; Tom Weaver, 185, vs. Red Mythies, Galion, 191; Ulysses Calloway, 131, vs. Harold Reed, Ashland, 130; and Larry Inscore, 134, vs. Jim Reynolds, Ashland, 134. Howard Carney of the Friendly House and Dick James of Marion will also appear on the card but opponents have not been secured for them as yet.

The show will once again be held in the Colby and Earick show roms, Wentz said.

★

Four F-H boys will fight Tuesday night at Galion. Bruce Heinberger is to meet Tom Anderson of Ashland, Bill Eberhardt boxes Carol Combs of Marion, Gene Ayers goes against Howard Dixon of Galion, and Lofton Fugua takes on Billy LaRue of Galion.

Bowlers Ready for N-J Headpin Tourney

Charley Stine:

Nate Says Grid War Will End

The last wire reports to come out of pro football headquarters said that peace between the two major leagues was definitely off—for good.

But Nate Wallack, publicity director of the Cleveland Browns says that this is all bosh and baloney.

"Peace is a certainty—the only thing not set is the date," Wallack told your reporter last Wednesday night. "It won't happen before next season because schedules are already made up. But magnates in both leagues are too shrewd as businessmen to let it go any farther."

Wallack was here as "coach" of the Browns basketball team—another venture which indicates smartness with which the pros operate. Wallack says the cage squad serves four different purposes. First of all it is good publicity for the Browns—it lets fans get a close-up look at their heroes who are just so many hunks of muscle in football suits.

STINE

Then it helps the players themselves. It keeps them in condition, builds up better friendships among them and last, but certainly not least, it gives them a chance to make some extra money.

Not that any of the Browns are hard up for cash. Of the eight who appeared here Wednesday, five have fine jobs in Cleveland in which to while away the off-season.

Mac Speedie sells sporting goods, Lou Rymkus, automobiles; Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones, trucks and Marion Motley, beer. Otto Graham is sales manager for the Hotel Hollenden, and Cliff Lewis, who did not make the trip here, works for an auto adjustment firm.

Dante Lavelli only recently graduated from Ohio State, Lou Groza is still going there and Horace Gillom, the big end, works at his home town Massillon. The boys take time off to play basketball two or three nights a week and have won 18 of 26 games this year Last season, the first for the team, they won 23 and lost seven.

Publicity Director Red Hamman of the Penn Auto baseball team says the fence at Blue Goose park will be raised considerably this year. A row of advertising billboards is being built around the top. Mrs. Virginia Kirby, head of the women's recreation program, has an unusual problem for a sports official. She is looking for the owner of a wrist watch left last Wednesday at Johnny Appleseed gym.

Members of Bellville high school's Richland county basketball champions were guests of one of their strongest backers, C. J. Kozak, at the Browns-All-Star game. Madison high was supposed to start baseball practice last Monday but so far the Rams have yet to do as much as set a spiked shoe outside the gym floor. A week ago we filled these columns with baseball, golf and spring fever. For our efforts we were rewarded with the biggest snow of the winter. So this week we will predict ict, snow and sleet and will still shine up our golf clubs.

Bucyrus Grid Sked Listed

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus' high school football team will play nine games, four here and five away, next fall, retiring Head Coach Al Pesek announced yesterday.

All but two of the contests will be Northern Ohio league tilts. The schedule opens Sept. 16 at Plain Columbian Other games are Sept. 23, Norwalk, Sept. 30 at Wilford Oct. 7, at Shelby Oct. 14, open Oct. 21, at Crestline, Oct. 27 Upper Sandusky Nov. 4 Bellevue and Nov. 10, at Marshall Madison.

Pesek has resigned to accept a coaching job at Miami college.

New London Five Honored at Fete

NEW LONDON—Eight players and Manager Edgar Reynolds were presented with varsity letters at the New London high school basketball banquet.

Letter winners were John Jetter, J. W. Kelley Dave Harrod Dave White Ted Parker Stuart Chase, Milton Seiler and Joe Duta.

Annual Meet Will Begin On Saturday

By CHARLEY STINE

The second annual News-Journal headpin tournament—Mansfield's biggest pursuit of the bowling pins—will get under way Saturday noon at the Colony alleys, it was announced yesterday by tournament manager Art Hilborn.

"All arrangements for handling of a record turnout have been made," Hilborn said.

The tournament will be divided into three classes for men and three for women with cash prizes in each class. A trophy for the high man and high woman will be presented by the News-Journal, regardless of whether the top score comes out of Class A, B, or C ranks.

CUPS ON DISPLAY

Trophies are already on display at the Colony alleys. Firing will begin at noon Saturday and will continue for 29 days until 8:30 p. m. Sunday April 24.

Anyone may enter, whether or not he or she is a league bowler with a registered average. Only handicap of an outside bowler will be that he must compete with the Class A keglers. Men with averages over 175 in their best league are considered Class A, 160-175 Class B, and under 160 Class C.

Women's figures are Class A—over 150, Class B—130-150, Class C—130

Bowlers are allowed to try twice for a score to satisfy their ambitions but must pay separate entry fees of $1.25 per series.

For those not familiar with head-pin bowling, there are automatically 12 frames in each game and only one ball per frame. Scores are not effected by the continuity of strikes and spares as there is no carry-over from one to the next. Highest possible score per game is 120 and a perfect series is 360. All rolling is from scratch with no handicaps involved.

PIN MUST FALL

The name "head pin" comes from the fact that no pins may be counted in frames which the head pin does not fall.

The top one-third in all divisions will get cash prizes to be determined by the number entered. Thirty-five cents from each entry fee goes into the prize kitty. The other dollar is the alley fee.

Newman Advances To Semi-Finals Of Grade Tourney

Newman advanced to semi-final play in the Grade school basketball tournament by blasting Carpenter, 15-8, at John Simpson gym Newman will meet Brinkerhoff at 8 p. m. tomorrow on the Simpson floor for the right to play in Tuesday's finals against West Fifth.

In other action yesterday, Roseland walloped Carpenter, 16-4, in a consolation bracket game, and Carpenter split even in a pair of reserve games losing to Newman, 7-4, but winning from Roseland, 16-5

Brinkerhoff reserves, which had finished in a tie with Hedges for the southern division championship, captured the title in a playoff, 13-5.

Middlecoff's 68 Takes Lead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. —(AP)— Fighting a biting northeast wind couldn't slow down Cary Middlecoff yesterday as he knocked four strokes off par for a 68 and the halfway lead in the Jacksonville golf open at 134

The 29-year-old Memphis dentist was about 30 degrees hotter than the weather and three strokes ahead of his nearest competitors.

They were E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Albuquerque, N. M., who shared the opening day lead with Middlecoff at 66 and the top money winner of the year, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago

Harrison was only one under par with 71 while Mangrum shot 69 that gave them each 137 for the 36 holes.

Yankees Have Problems At First Base, Behind Bat But Keller's In Form Again

By WALTER L. JOHNS
(Central Press Sports Editor)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The first base problem which has afflicted the New York Yankees in recent years continues to be just that. Not that the Yanks haven't any first basemen, because they have four of them, but the job Casey Stengel faces in his first season as Yankee master-mind is to pick the right guy.

Manager Casey Stengel

And, if he doesn't, he's not too badly off because there's always Tommy Henrich, the old reliable, ready to take over. The Yanks have catching miseries, too, and Bill Dickey was hired to do something about that. All in all, the Yanks have a veteran club and must be picked as one of the contenders. They still have that old power and the pitching should be a lot better than last year.

Old Casey Stengel, who has discarded the clowning for a serious job trying to put the Yanks back on top, has four men seeking the first base job.

Norman (Babe) Young, ex-Giant who spent last year with the Reds and Cardinals, probably has the inside track because of his experience but Jack Phillips, the 6-foot 4-inch giant who divided his time between Kansas City and Newark last year, has impressed in camp games.

"That boy is a good fielder and he has a mighty fine throwing arm," says Stengel.

The other first base candidates are Joe Collins, who hit .273 for Newark and Dick Kryhoski, who had a good year with Kansas City

Yogi Berra, still the butt of all camp jokes, will stick to catching this year, instead of shifting to the outfield. His potent bat is needed and if he can improve on his defensive ability Stengel will feel happier.

Ralph Houk, who came up late from Kansas City where he hit .302, is bidding for the No 2 spot which Gus Niarhos held last year Niarhos played in 83 games and hit 268

The coast star, Charley Silvers, who hit 301 and knocked in 85 runs for Portland last year, also has been outstanding in camp

The rest of the infield is solid with George Stirnweiss at second base Phil Rizzuto at short and Bill Johnson at third Bobby Brown one of the Yank heroes last year, also must be considered at almost any infield spot although he has been working at short and third

Condition of Joe DiMaggio's heel hasn't caused too much concern this year although Joe took a flying visit back to Baltimore for a checkup shortly after camp opened here. Joe is taking it easy in camp

"I don't worry about Joe," says Stengel. "And I don't plan to use him too much in camp games until he's ready. I don't care about winning these anyhow."

Showing of Charlie Keller, the slugging outfielder, has been the talk of the camp.

"He's wonderful," says Stengel in expressing how Charlie has come along. Apparently he has recovered much of his old form following that serious back ailment. He has been hitting 'em far at Miller Huggins Field here, where the Yanks train.

Tommy Henrich is his usual brilliant self, not only with his hitting ability but with his cooperative personality.

Two rookies figure to stick with the Yanks as gardeners despite the solid front of Keller, DiMag and Henrich. They are Hank Bauer, a .305 hitter with Kansas City last year and Gene Woodling, the prize package from San Francisco. Woodling's .385 batting mark in the Coast league last year has earned him respect and his camp hitting had added to it.

Stengel is highly impressed with Woodling.

"He's going to be a good one," the veteran boss man enthuses. "He's bending over more in his batting stance, much like Lou Boudreau, and he's really hitting them."

The Yank pitching wasn't up to pennant-winning standards last year. Spec Shea, who was so overweight, had a disappointing season after having such a good freshman year. But Shea has streamlined and he may be the one to give the Yanks that needed starter.

The Yanks will benefit by the experience of Bob Porterfield, who came up from Newark in mid-season. And the addition of Fred Sanford, one of the best pitchers the St Louis Browns had, will make the Yank hill corps that much tougher.

Vic Raschi, Ed Lopat and Allie Reynolds make up the big three.

Stengel is happy over the showing of Lopat and Reynolds.

Among the young recruits hopeful of winning places on the mound staff are Don Johnson, who traveled from Newark to Kansas City to Portland last year, and Clarence Marshall, who won nine games for Newark.

Other flingers are Tommy Byrne and Frank Hiller, both with the Yanks last year, and the old reliable relief artist, Joe Page.

Johnny Lindell, formerly a pitcher, is being considered only for the outfield, according to Stengel, but Lindell has been working out on the sidelines as a pitcher.

Stengel is happy over the work of his coaches.

"Dickey's doing a good job and so are Jim Turner and Frank Crosetti," he says.

Stengel says he doesn't plan to work his young pitchers too much in the camp games, "unless they are ready."

"Anybody who's ready now will pitch for us down here"

Stengel, who keeps a watchful eye on all proceedings, has two camp workouts a day when the club is not playing exhibitions.

Letter-Winners Are Announced At Mt. Gilead

MT. GILEAD — Sixteen football and eight basketball letters were awarded to members of the Mt Gilead high school athletic squads at the annual all-sports banquet at Mt. Gilead high school. Ed Ulinski, offensive guard of the Cleveland Browns of the All-American football conference, was the speaker and showed films of the Browns in action

Varsity football letters were awarded to the following: Captain Dale McClarren, Art Irons, Dave McCarty, Dale Hord, Dick Mosher and Bill LaRoche, seniors; juniors, Captains-elect Jack Lancaster and Don Galleher, Ray Dunn, Bill McManis, Dale McClelland and Dick Osborne; sophomores, Sherm Levings, Dale Meeker, Tom Case and Jim Campbell, and Freshman Wayner Lust

Houtteman to Be Out In a Week

LAKELAND, Fla. —(AP)— The patient was downright frisky, for a young fellow recovering from a skull fracture.

But Art Houtteman, the hospitalized Detroit Tiger pitcher, still looked like the loser of a 15-round slugfest. His left eye sported a brilliant shiner and a cut on his forehead was covered by a gauze patch. Another bandage was on his head, back of his left ear.

The 21-year-old hurler was very evidently on the road to recovery.

His father, A. J. Houtteman, said the doctors had told him today that Art might be able to leave the hospital in another week

Set Bout Site On Wednesday

CHICAGO —(AP)— Joe Louis and his partners in the newly-formed international boxing club will meet Wednesday to set plans for the Walcott-Charles heavyweight bout.

Harry Mendel, Louis' manager, said the date and place of the match was expected to be announced at the meeting.

Several Changes In U. S. Golf Rules

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK —(AP)— U. S. golfers got another order yesterday to speed up their play.

The USGA, announcing several changes in the rules, explained that effective immediately a golfer delaying the game may be penalized two strokes in medal play or lose a hole in match play.

And if the player persists in the slow-down, he may be disqualified. Previously disqualification was the only penalty. It was so severe that it seldom was enforced.

SECOND ORDER

The rule change is the second time this year that the deliberate player has been told officially to start moving. At the USGA business meeting in January, the field in the U. S. open tourney was cut from 169 to 162 because of "the increasing tendency toward slow play."

"Slow play in recent years has created a condition which jeopardizes the possibility of completing each day's play on schedule," Richard S Tufts of Pinehurst, N. C., said at that time Tufts is chairman of the tournament committee.

Isaac B. Grainger of New York, chairman of the Rules committee, said that other changes in the code made roads, previously listed as hazards, a part of the fairway; and gave players permission to brush across the line of a putt to remove a loose impediment.

The new rules forbid players from testing the condition of a hazard and also forbid players and caddies from influencing the position or movement of a ball.

In the future a player may place his ball when it is moved from an unplayable lie in a hazard. Previously it had to be dropped

Junior Church Loop Leaders Score Wins

St. Paul's and First Christian notched their fifth consecutive victories in YMCA Junior church league play yesterday afternoon. St. Paul's shredded all scoring records in blasting First Presbyterian, 68-16, while First Christian beat Park Avenue Baptist, 29-22.

Tourney Game Is Protested By Dunbar

DAYTON—(AP)—Dayton Dunbar high school yesterday asked the Ohio High School Athletic commission to rule on a disputed class A tournament basketball game.

A. P. Richardson and Luther White, principal and coach of the all-Negro school, said referees in a game with Lancaster high school March 17 failed to call three technical fouls, which affected Lancaster's 44-43 win.

NO AUTHORITY

In Columbus, however, a spokesman in Commissioner H. W. Emswiler's office pointed out that rules of the high school association "do not give the commissioner authority to order games played over."

The spokesman said Dunbar's protest had not been received and declined to comment on it until Emswiler had seen it.

"Protests arising from the decision of officials will not be considered," he said. "Great care should be exercised to secure competent officials. Then their decisions shall be accepted as final."

The same view was echoed in Cincinnati by Coach Barney Francis and Principal John E. Brown, who said they didn't think "Dunbar has a complaint."

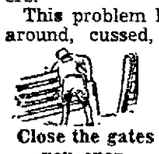
When sportsmen-farmer relationships come under discussion it's usually the hunter who draws fire for his rowdiness and all breaches of ethics. Few ever stop to consider that fishermen pull the same 'boners,' destroy property, and in general wreak just as much havoc as the hunters.

This problem has been kicked around, cussed, discussed, and hashed over until it seems there is no possible solution except for farmers to close their grounds to sportsmen. This would be about as tragic as kissing a girl in a moonlight dance and after the lights discovering it was your sister.



Close the gates you open.

What seems to be one of the better means of resolving these farmer-sportsmen differences is the Williamston method which originated in Michigan. Here the farmers in a given area get together, agree to open their lands to hunting and fishing, then sets a limit on the number allowed to use his farm each day. The hunters and fishermen must park in the farmer's yard and then is given a ticket, good for that one day's hunting.

Don't shoot near livestock

Sportsmen themselves get behind this move and trespassing and other violations took a welcome drop in these areas. It isn't a finished plan by a long ways, but it has plenty of promise.

Several compliments have been passed along on our plea for fishermen and hunters to take a youngster along whenever possible. That's highly gratifying but so far Kenny Wassem is the only one to take a definite step towards doing something about acquainting these sportsmen of tomorrow with the proper code.

Youngsters should be encouraged.

Unfortunately, I have no son of my own but you can bet your bottom dollar I'm going to make it a point to get my two little nephews out as often as possible this summer in order to pass along some of the things my Grandfather handed down to me. His creed was simple but effective. Whenever I'd bring a pretty good fish to the bank and several were already on the stringer, he'd look at it, grin a little, then say, "Do you really need it?"

Nine times out of ten the fish would go back in the water and I'd have a nice warm feeling inside. If the day had been a poor one and fish scarce he'd bolster my youthful spirits with a quiet, "Makes a fella feel good just to be outside on a day like this."

Yes, there are a great number of things the youth can learn to enjoy if some qualified person deigns to lend a hand.

Today marks the initial day of the twelfth National Wildlife Restoration week, designed to acquaint the general public with the need for conservation of our natural resources. It's a highly commendable feature but there's just one little thing wrong. Most persons are highly enthusiastic about wildlife restoration for this one week then shed it like an old and worn out coat when something else comes along. To be effective, National Wildlife Restoration week shouldn't come along once a year and then be forgotten. It should be a 52-week-per-year proposition.

The 'do-gooders' and well wishers will praise natural resources to the skies for this one week and cry about what SHOULD be done. Once this week is safely past their interest will turn to the Queen Bee society for Knitting Warm Sweaters for Alley Cats or some such similar organization. As usual, it'll be a few of the old wheel horses who shoulder the burden and carry it for the remaining 51 weeks of the year. These workers receive little recognition and about their only reward is in knowing they are doing something for future generations.

More power to you, wheel horses. We would have a lot more of you than we do!

Berates 'Pest Control' Idea

Dear Sir:

This so-called 'pest control league' of Richland county is killing off the farmer's best friends, the foxes, hawks, and owls. They are our protectors. They work for us while we sleep.

I can't understand any farmers believeing the propoganda this group of gangsters is putting out. What if the foxes, hawks and owls do catch rabbits and game birds? They are only helping us farmers. We have to feed them. They live off our efforts.

The rabbit is just another rodent . . . he kills our young fruit trees, eats us out of our garden and grain. . .The pheasant is of no benefit to the farmer either. All these good sportsmen want us to do is raise and feed a big crop of game (regardless of how much they destroy for us) so they can come out and have a big time shooting and killing—and the only reason they don't have this big crop is because they don't know when to stop killing. And they blame it on the predators.

These brave sportsmen can't match wits with the poor little fox singly so they have to surround him and don't give him a chance for his life. Are these guys sportsmen?

This is enough to cause the farmer to put a stop to all hunting. I have forbidden this kind of hunting on my farm and hope the time will soon come when the farmers all over the country will see what they are doing to us and stop it.

Yours for better sportsmen,
Dorsey Hart,
Lexington, Rt. 1—

EDITOR'S COMMENT — I don't agree with you on a single point but it's a free world. To me a fox drive is just a get-together and one good trapper can raise more heck with the foxes in a week than four such drives. If state conservation officials condemn the fox for being a predator it's good enough for me. I haven't made it a lifelong study as they have. D.M.

Angler Hooks Barracuda In Florida Area

Fishermen from the Mansfield area, a fortunate few, at least, don't let the 'off and on' weather bother them a bit.

Word comes from the Island City Fishing tournament officials of Key West, Florida, that Mrs. O. D. Steil of 25 Pinecrest recently landed a 27 pound barracuda in that area. The sharp toothed fish, four feet two inches long, was taken on a rod and reel.

Mrs. Steil was fishing from the charter boat Christina, guided by Capt. William Cates. As is customary with the Key West Junior Chamber of Commerce, a citation will be awarded Mrs. Steil for her barracuda. The group makes this award to visiting fishermen who make good sized catches as tournament entries.

This past week was also a good one for Bert Ogle of Crestline and J. C. Applemarr of Mansfield who managed to boat eight sheepshead at Port Aransas, Texas. Swede Swanson was the guide for this group.

Lands Big One On Light Rod

When it comes to fishing thrills there are few persons who can equal that enjoyed by Joé Bates jr., outdoors writer.

Bates, an enthusiast of spinning, landed a 31-pound, 12-ounce rainbow in Idaho's Lake Pend Oreille. That makes a five and one-quarter ounce rod subduing a fish weighing in just under the 32-pound mark.

FOX HUNTERS—Members of the Richland County Foxhunters' association held their last hunt of the season Saturday, concluding an active schedule of hunts and a celebration dinner held Wednesday night at the First Methodist church. The picture above, taken at the banquet, shows H. A. (Buck) Rider, Ohio conservation commissioner, addressing the crowd of 175. Seated on Rider's right is Harold Snyder, president of the association and on his left O. M. Beveridge, treasurer. The banquet served as a climax to a busy season, but one more action remains to be completed. On Monday night association members will meet at the courthouse at 7:30 p. m. to elect officers for the coming year. Combined pictures at left are photos taken by L. S. Barr at a recent fox hunt near Butler. Women from Bunker Hill church served a dinner at Pleasant Hill school, and some of them are shown in the foreground of the crowd picture. Several hundred hunters took part in the hunt, only a small portion of the crowd is shown in the photograph. Lower scenes show two youthful members of the group holding two victims of the hunt. Circle inset shows Charley Kimmel, former Richland county game warden (right) and Willis Countryman of Bellville, an oldtime hunter and sportsman.

Know Your Fish

Scarce Yellow Bass Rate High On List of Game Fish

Due to the comparatively restricted area which it inhabits, the yellow bass is not widely known. However, it would be of benefit to the overall fishing picture if this fish were propagated more extensively because it has outstanding fighting qualities.

The yellow bass is closely related to the white bass and white perch, resembling them in body structure, is a true member of the sea bass family and in reality is a small freshwater edition of the saltwater striped bass.

It is a ready taker of artificial lures and flies and deserves a place of high rank among our larger panfishes. In fact, many anglers who have made a close study of this fish place its scrapping qualities on a par with the black bass.

NAMES — Barfish, Brassy Bass, Streaker, Striped Bass.

CHARACTERISTICS — Generally speaking, the yellow bass resembles the white bass; however, the lower jaw does not project forward as far as that of the white bass, but can be termed even with or slightly receded from the upper jaw. The yellow bass does not have teeth at the base of its tongue, whereas the white bass does.

In coloration, the yellow bass has a brassy, yellowish cast which assumes a light green shade towards the back. Distinct black longitudinal strips, usually seven in number, extend along the body from gill cover to the base of the tail. Those stripes appearing below the lateral line are broken or offset on the rear third of the body.

RANGE—Primarily a southern fish, the yellow bass is most abundant in the Mississippi valley. It ranges north, however, as far as southern Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio; also south to Texas, Louisiana and Alabama.

Although the yellow bass is found in large rivers, it is most abundant in lakes and evidently prefers this type of water. Early in the season it will be found frequenting the more shallow waters, especially around and over bars.

SIZE—While the average size runs from one to two pounds, yellow bass slightly over five pounds have been reported and three pounders are not rare. There is no authentic world's record.

FLAVOR—Excellent and the best tasting member of the bass family, outranking the white perch and white bass.

FOODS—Yellow bass are lusty feeders and the noise they make while churning the water in pursuit of a school of small fish is audible for some distance. Their favorite food is shad minnows but they will take also shrimp, worms, insects and flies.

LURES—When on the feed, yellow bass will strike anything resembling a minnow or small fish. Favored lures, however, are small plugs like the midget digit and midget river runt, together with pork rind lures, spoons, and spinner and fly combinations.

METHODS—Yellow bass are an ideal fly rod fish and give an outstanding fight when taken on light tackle. Fly rods in the four to five ounce class having "standard trout" action are recommended.

As mentioned previously, a great many fishermen have never met up with the yellow bass. Until you have, your fishing memoirs of fighting fish cannot be complete.—(Heddon Fish Flashes).

2-Way Fuss Puts Beavers On the Spot

WARREN — (AP) — The industrious beavers of little Yankee creek were caught today in the middle of a farmer-sportsmen row.

The beavers have constructed a small dam in Hartford township. Trumbull county commissioners authorized farmers to use dynamite to clear it away because some of their land is being flooded by debris.

County Game Warden William Mumjoung protested the use of dynamite, saying it would endanger fish and the small beaver colony.

Local hunters have asked the farmers to wait 90 days, to give them time to buy the dam site. Saturday there'll be a meeting on little Yankee creek in an effort to settle the matter.

Sportsmen believe the beavers migrated here from Pennsylvania.

Fishing Has Hall of Fame

NEW YORK —(AP)— Fishing, one of the world's most popular sports, has come up with a hall of fame.

The Sportsman's Club of America, following a poll of outdoor writers and sportsmen throughout the country, announced the past week that 38 present-day anglers and 16 outstanding rod casters of the past have been named to the shrine.

Sir Izaak Walton topped the fisherman of the past. Walton is the author of "The Compleat Angler," regarded as the most famous book in fishing history. It was written in 1653 and has been reprinted more than three hundred times.

Thermometer Aids Anglers

Hooks, lines, and rods used to be the main ingredients of items in a tackle box but the lowly thermometer is gaining almost as much interest with present-day fishermen.

Although it has been known for years that different fish thrive in water of varying temperatures, it is only in the past two or three years that anglers have started testing the water before casting for their desired fish.

Starting with bass which likes water ranging around the 70 degree mark, the fishermen can soon determine for himself just where other fish range.

OLE ANGLER SAYS:

Look for stumps and snags in the water. That's where the biggest fish like to hide, especially crappies and bass.

Post Goes To Ogden

League Picks Ashland Man

Dr. J. W. Ogden, president of the Ashland county Wild- Life league, has been appointed a trustee-at-large of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, it was announced this past week.

The league also announced it is seeking to have the national defense appropriation for rifle practice upped to "not less than $1,000,000."

The league board, meeting in a regular session, voted to oppose amended Senate bill 13 which the group claims will throw the conservation "back into the laps of politicians" by making the commission simply an advisory board for a political director.

They urged all sportsmen's groups to attend the hearing before the Ohio House of Representatives Tuesday, March 22, in order to fight to make these three amendments to the bill:

1—Take out the Metzenbaum amendment which will leave the present department undisturbed.

2—Give powers of program and policy to the overall commission instead of just giving it advisory powers.

3—To have the director appointed by the commission instead of making the job a 'political plum.'

Restrictions Still Exist

Despite the lifting of closed seasons, daily bag limits and legal lengths on fish taken from Charles Mill dam and Pleasant Hill reservoirs, state officials warned this past week that there are still restrictions on parts of both waters.

Besides the regular laws which must be followed with the exception of the above changes, that portion of Charles Mill north of Highway 30 is open to fishing only from March 1 through August 31, both dates inclusive.

The same date regulations are effective for the upper end of Pleasant Hill within the confines of the state game refuge.

State officials said creel census and other data would be taken on these waters and urged local fishermen to co-operate with field workers who will be gathering this information.

Fresh Water Fish Often Get Large

Don't ever believe that big fish are to be found only in salt water. Catfish taken from the Mississippi and other southern waters often top the 50-pound mark.

Arkansas rivers contain alligater gar which will outweigh a man and way up in Oregon and Wisconsin fishermen nail sturgeon weighing well above the 100-pound mark.

(Slightly Anonymous)

Spring is here; there's no doubting it. Birds are coming back from their winter vacation, early flowers are beginning to bud out—and—fishing tackle is scattered all around the house.

From now on until snow flies next winter I'm going to be of about as much interest to my better half as a piece of furniture.

Instead of a bright and cheery breakfast at 7 a. m. I'll be roasted from bed 30 seconds after I fall asleep in order that my husband can have hot coffee with a carload of old cronies. That's my first gripe.

All year long he demands that his coffee be just "so" and with "just a dash of cream, please." Now it's fishing season again and he forgets his little politeness, dashes into the kitchen, and wants to know why the tarnation his coffee isn't strong enough to walk into the bedroom where he's pulling on a pair of old muddy boots.

Then comes the leave-taking. You'd think three or four fishermen could sneak down the stairs and climb into a car without waking the whole neighborhood. Instead, look what happens. With one loud yell they take off down the steps like a jet-propelled plane, skid past the landlady's window, and slam all heck out of the car doors.

About that time the neighbor's dog starts barking, so they answer with the car horn. And nine times out of ten that horn sounds like a weird banshee wailing in the night.

Ignoring the lights that flash on and the muttered curses which come from next door, I slink wearily back into the bedroom for the rest of a ruined night. Usually I sit in the large chair for a moment or two in order to regain my strength. At least I used to.

Now I'm too smart for that because after the wild man takes off on his weekly jaunt there are all kinds of hooks, plugs, reels, etc., lying around. I've picked enough Hula Poppers, River Runts, and Silver Minnows from what the French delicately call the "derrierre" to completely outfit a regiment of fishermen!

All this sounds bad enough, but just about the time I manage to get a few dollars hid out in a sugar bowl and have an eye on a new hat, HE finds the money. Net result—my new hat looks surprisingly like a casting reel. It should, that's what it is! And just in case I manage to keep the funds hidden and actually purchase the hat I still lose. He swipes the feathers to tie a new fly of some kind!

Girls, it's a losing fight!

Hunt Coyotes In Kentucky

Shades of the Old West, a coyote hunt is scheduled for northern Kentucky!

A number of cattle have been killed recently in the northern section of the state, leading Stanley Shelton, Fifth District wildlife supervisor, to instigate the hunt.

A large male coyote was killed a short time ago but his mate escaped. Later a female was killed and three young ones found in a nearby barn. The full scale hunt will be held March 27.

Offer Prizes In Kite Contest

"Go fly a kite" will mean just that on April 2 when the Mansfield Recreation department and the YMCA will jointly sponsor a kite-flying contest.

The Mansfield Kite Carnival will be held at Liberty park baseball diamond April 2 at 9 a. m., co-directors of the carnival, John W. Fike, YMCA physical director, and Stanley Kamen, city recreation director, announced yesterday.

Both boys and girls are eligible for the contest which has been divided into two age classes—Class A for boys and girls 13 to 16 years old, inclusive, and Class B for children 12 years old and under.

Prizes will be awarded in each of the age groups for the largest, smallest and most unique kites, and the highest flying kite.

Winners of a race to determine who can get their kites into the air the fastest, known as a 100-yard dash, and a contest to see which boy or girl can get a piece of paper blown up the string to their kite, known as a messenger race, also will be awarded prizes.

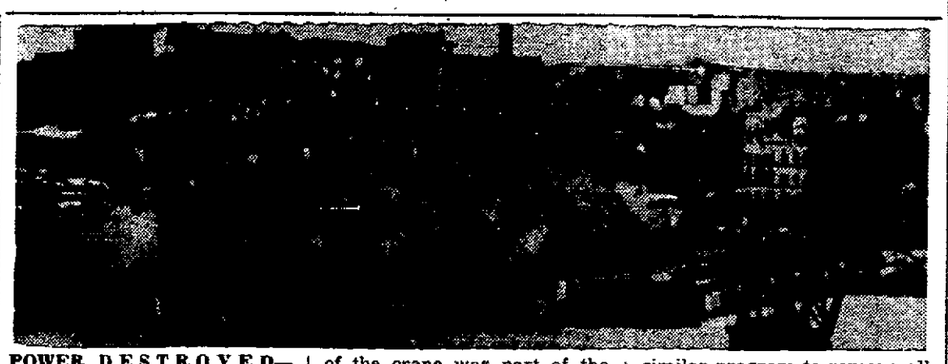
All kites entered in the Kite Carnival must be made by the entrant and ready to fly.

The handicraft shop at the YMCA will be open on weekdays from 3 to 5:30 p. m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. and on Saturdays from 8:30 a. m. to noon for the construction of kites.

Ralp B. Chapman, director of the craft shop, said boys need not be members of the "Y" to work in the shop.

Plans and suggestions for building kites are available at the YMCA and the city recreation department, 14½ West Fourth street.

Applications for the carnival will be distributed at all city schools Monday and also will be available at the recreation department and the YMCA.



POWER DESTROYED—Smoke billows outward as an explosion destroys a huge traveling crane in a Kiel, Germany, shipyard. Destruction of the crane was part of the systematic dismantling of Nazi war machinery carried out by the British military government in control of the area. A similar program to remove all traces of the former German war potential is also being carried out in the American Occupation Zone. (International)

Club Backs 'Swim to Be Thin' Course

A series of weekly "swim and slim" classes for women, sponsored by the Mansfield Business and Professional Women, will be held at the YMCA beginning Wednesday night. Classes will be held from 6:30 to 9 p. m. each Wednesday.

Both beginner and advanced swimming classes will be held and there will be a period without instruction for those who already know how to swim.

Along with the swimming classes there will be conditioning exercises with the use of an electric belt machine and rowing machines.

Instructors will be at the YMCA Monday night to answer any questions and to take reservations for the classes.

Nerves Taut as Electric Chair Claimed First Woman Victim 50 Years Ago Today

OSSINING, N. Y. — (AP) — In chill and cheerless Sing Sing prison, nerves were taut as violin strings on a late winter day just 50 years ago.

The tenseness was felt outside the prison. It reached into the executive mansion in Albany. It was felt by the men and women who read newspapers. For the first time in history, a woman was to go to the electric chair.

In a solitary cell in the prison's old death house sat a middle-aged graying housewife named Martha Place. Until the night of February 7, 1898, Mrs. Place had been an obscure middle-class Brooklyn housewife. Suddenly she had the dubious distinction of being the most notorious murderess of her time.

There was no doubt Mrs. Place was guilty. The issue was whether a woman—no matter what her crime—should be executed. Governor Theodore Roosevelt was forced to establish the precedent: He refused to interfere when the appeal for clemency was based only of the fact that the criminal was a woman.

So Mrs. Place, on the night of March 20, 1899, went to her death as prescribed by law.

Prison records in those days were sketchy—merely bookkeeping notations. The yellowing pages of Sing Sing records, bound in cumbling leather, relate only that Mrs. Martha Place, aged 44, housekeeper, gray eyes and hair, weight 130, height five feet, five inches, literate, temperate and Protestant, was executed for the crime of murder in the first degree.

There were no probation reports concerning conditions which provided a motive. There seem to be no records of how she spent the days that carried her up to the electric chair.

Old newspaper and court records in Brooklyn sketch in the background.

Martha Place had been a widow for 10 years when she married William W. Place, an insurance adjuster. His daughter Ida was the sole survivor of five children by a previous marriage. Place originally hired the woman as his housekeeper. She exhibited great affection for the child and proved an efficient housekeeper. So he married her.

She changed, apparently, after she married Place. She was jealous of Place's affection for his daughter; she complained bitterly because the title of their house on Hancock street, Brooklyn, was in Ida's name. She became mean and ill-tempered. All this drew Place and his daughter closer together, which only infuriated Martha more.

She reached the breaking point that night of Feb. 7, 1898. Mrs. Place arranged to be at home alone with Ida. She gave the maid—the only servant—an extra $5 and sent her out. Ida was in her bedroom, dressing to go out for a bicycle ride with her fiance.

Mrs. Place entered the girl's room and threw the contents of a bottle of acid into the girl's face. Then, in a fury, the woman threw the blinded girl onto the bed where with mad strength she strangled her with her hands and the bed clothes.

Leaving the body, Martha Place armed herself with an ax and stationed herself by the front door, waiting for her husband to return. She set upon him, beating him over the head several times. He managed to break away and stagger outside, where he collapsed, his skull fractured in two places. Neighbors found him, still living, and called police, who subdued the woman.

It was a brutal crime, easily solved. It gave to Mrs. Place her own niche in history—history which has repeated itself in New York state only five other times, although the Sing Sing electric chair itself has been used more than 500 times.

During 1948 The Equitable family of policyholders was increased by thousands of new members who wanted the security provided by life insurance.

From every state in the Union—from big cities, from country towns, and from farms—these new members who joined The Equitable widened its family circle to a total of 4,150,000 men and women with Ordinary and Group insurance amounting to over $13 billions.

It is the thrifty action and self-reliance of this huge family banded together for mutual protection that makes possible the record of accomplishment which The Equitable brings to you in this annual report.

Of the $307,600,000 disbursed last year to policyholders and beneficiaries, $70,086,000 was paid out as dividends, thus reducing the cost of the insurance coverage; and $108,500,000 was paid in death benefits. Payments to living policyholders were approximately 65 per cent of all disbursements made to The Equitable family during the year—indicating a continuing trend of utilizing life insurance as a means of providing living as well as death benefits.

This year The Equitable celebrates its 90th Anniversary. That milestone is approached in a difficult economic period. We have spoken out against the causes of some current economic conditions and will continue to do so, firm in the belief that the best interests of life insurance policy owners are concurrently the best interests of the people in general.

We shall be glad to send you a copy of the President's Report to the Board of Directors for the year 1948. This report gives in detail The Society's finances, the main features of which are outlined below.

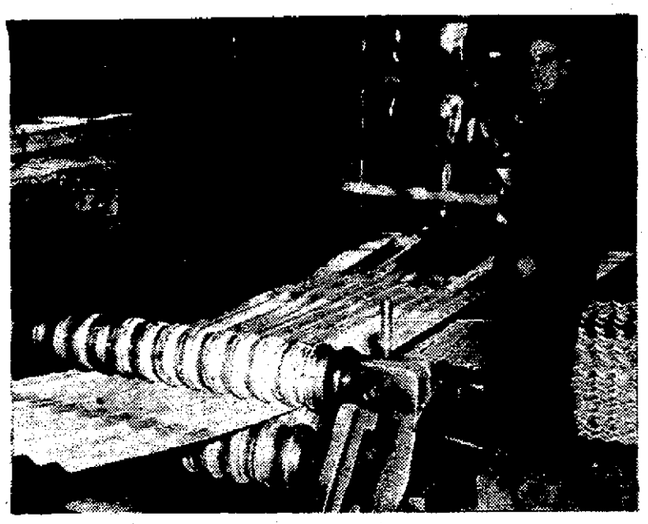
SHEAR—This machine, a shear, cuts metal sheets to the desired sizes, slicing through steel with the same ease a photo trimmer cuts through paper. It will cut through much heavier metal than the sheet shown in the picture. Operating the shear are Charles Green, Mansfield R. D. 1 (foreground), and J. E. Prather, 371 North Mulberry street.

PUNCH—This massive machine punches holes wholesale, up to 50 at one time. The operators, Herschel Frisby, Shiloh R. D. (left) and Ben Johnson, Shiloh Route 2, were working with rhythmical precision when this picture was taken, feeding the long metal plates into the punch with a minimum of lost motion.



GETTING THE CURVE—Giving corrugated sheets the curve required to fit a building is done on rollers which fit the corrugations. Each set of rollers gives more curve to the sheet. Feeding a sheet through the rollers is C. Howard, 659 Lida avenue. Beyond is a second set of rollers on which the same function is repeated.

ASSEMBLY—Some parts used in the metal farm buildings are assembled in the plant, although most assembly is done during erection of the building. Here Fred Partin, Bellville Route 2, and Willie Psimer, 278½ West Fifth avenue, are shown putting together vent pipes used in silo-like structure called a haymaker.

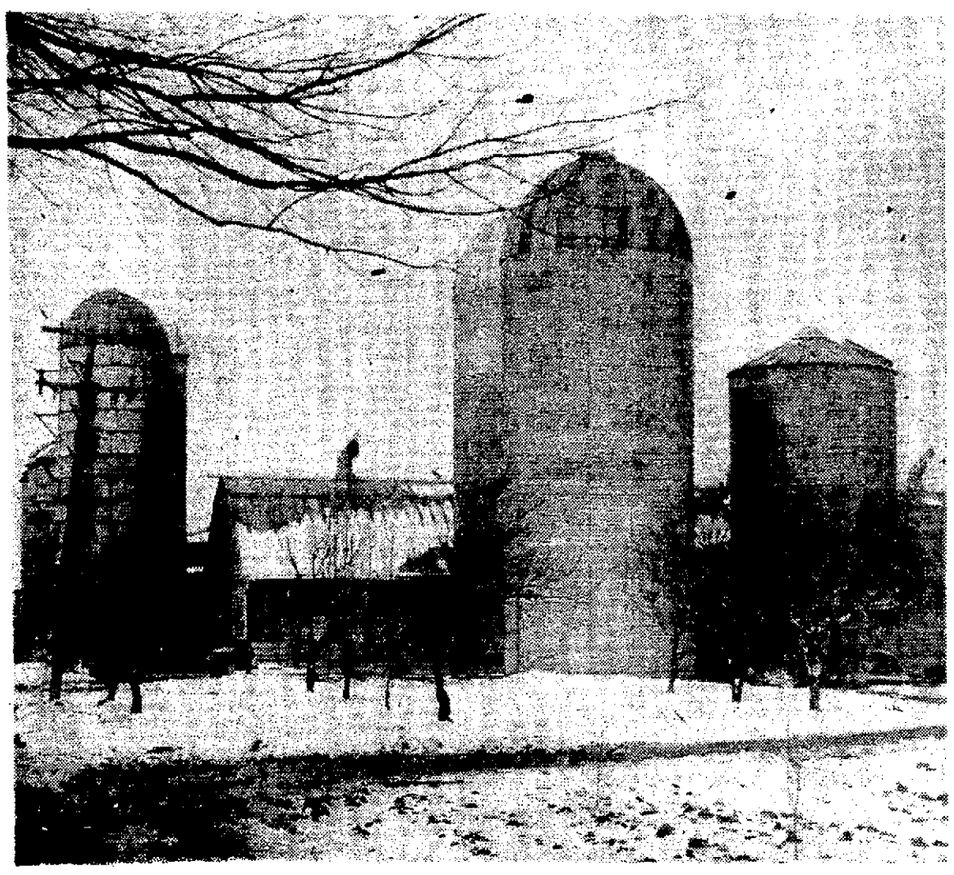
Firm Aids Farm 'Revolution'

Produces 'Tailored' Buildings

Products Win Acceptance

By MALCOLM HARTLEY



COMBINATION JOB—These steel buildings on the Martin Steel company's farm on the Millsboro road about three miles from Mansfield have a double duty. They are given day-to-day use in the operation of a modern dairy farm, and at the same time they serve as test models for the company. All the buildings are of metal construction. From the highway they might be mistaken for an industrial plant. The two round buildings in the foreground are the latest type haymakers, and at the right is an older model. To the left of the huge barn is a metal silo.

Although the day of mass migrations to free western lands is a thing of the past, today's business world still has its frontier—a wilderness of passive resistance to change, which faces the maker of nearly any new product.

Carl Oberlin, a native Mansfielder, knew this when he decided, back in the era of the first world war, to become a pioneer in the introduction of steel farm buildings tailored to fit specific needs of farmers.

Now, as owner and president of the Martin Steel Products corporation on Longview avenue, he can look back on his progress as vindication of his early faith in the product which he manufactures. The company, at present employing about 150 men, is busily turning out a wide assortment of farm buildings as rapidly as the available supply of steel will permit.

The firm is the only one in the United States devoted to the manufacture of a complete line of metal farm buildings, and its products are sold in all parts of the nation.

KNOWS SUBJECT

Bolstered by facts gained through years of experimentation, study and experience, Oberlin can now speak with authority on farm problems and farm needs. He is quick to point out that the great agricultural revolution brought about by mechanization has antiquated farm buildings made to fit horse and wagon needs.

By becoming a manufacturer, Oberlin also became a farmer—by chance rather than design. Back in 1914, after graduating from the University of Michigan, he needed a job. He went to work for Charles E. Martin and Brothers. This was originally a tin, sheet metal and roofing shop, first located in an old church at South Park and Diamond streets.

The firm began shifting to the manufacture of metal products in 1910. Its best-selling item was a steel roof for silos, adapted from the roofs used on a round corn crib which the company was making.

Oberlin, who had started as a plant worker, later became a salesman for the firm. He then set up a sales agency to sell the corn cribs. Eventually the sales organization swallowed the company.

By 1917 the company had swung entirely to manufacturing. Charles Martin died in 1918. Oberlin, on whom the responsibility for policy decisions now rested, had to decide whether to develop the farm building line, or to make some product which had more immediate widespread acceptance.

He staked his chances on "tailored" farm buildings, but farmers were hard to convince. They were slow to accept the idea that new farming methods called for adoption of buildings which would permit faster handling and processing of crops.

GOVERNMENT ORDER

That was the year the government purchased hundreds of storage bins in connection with the farm price stabalization program. The Martin Steel Products corporation received a big portion of the orders. Tents were erected around the plant to provide more working space to meet the stepped-up production schedule.

At present the company is again producing grain storage bins under government auspices, although the structures are not being purchased by the government. The plant has been provided an allocation of steel to construct storage bins in a move by the department of agriculture to encourage farmers to provide their own storage space for surplus corn and wheat.

The Mansfield firm makes a wide assortment of buildings, including a small circular crib and bin, a large oblong crib, high round cribs, slat cribs which can be used as double units with a joining section which forms a wagon shed, silos, haymakers, and barns. The newest addition to the line is an aluminum utility building.

While it is not the prupose of this article to elaborate on the claimed technical advantages of metal farm buildings, yet his aspect deserves at least a brief summary. The basic advantage comes from the quick processing of crops. Corn gathered by a mechanical picker can be put into storage immediately, and the moisture content then cut to the percentage which will prevent spoilage.

Use of the haymaker permits the storing of hay the same day it is cut, providing green hay higher in food value than that which is allowed to dry in the fields. Quick storage is possible because the haymaker has an inner core which provides air circulation. The metal sheets which form the structure are perforated. Air is drawn through the hay to the inner core, or forced outward to achieve the same purpose of curing hay without "sweating" or spoilage.

Oberlin, still in active charge of the Martin company, spends as much time as possible at his pleasant home and lands on the Millsborough road a short distance from his test farm. He had the spacious home built before the war after he had become convinced that the conflict was inevitable.

Materials for farm buildings were not available during the war. During that period the company's buildings were occupied by the Strand Steel company. After the war the local firm began gradually to return to its regular product, although still hampered by material shortages. At present the plant is being expanded to provide more floor space. Company executives anticipate a constantly growing market for "tailored to needs" farm buildings.

DOME ROOFS—Dome roofs for silos, haymakers and other round buildings require careful shaping. Flat sheets of steel or aluminum, 36 inches in width and of the length required, are cut on the bias into two pieces. Then they are rolled for curving, and flanged. Two sheets are being flanged in the photo above. Operators are, left to right, Charley Marsh, Mansfield Route 3, Harold Yeager, 334 Fourth avenue, and Joe Getten, 535 Oakenwald avenue, foreman of the dome roof department.

DIP PAINTING—Framework and metal pieces which are not galvanized are painted by the dip process, excess paint dripping back into the paint troughs. Roy Howell, 272 North Mulberry street (left), and D. F. Conley, Mansfield R. D. 1, are shown at work in the paint room. In warm weather this work is often done outside.

Money Gets Tighter On Home Loans

Terms Call for One-Third Down

One-third of the purchase price in cash is the median down payment required for non-veteran home loans throughout the country, reflecting the tightness of the money supply, the National Association of Real Estate Boards reported Saturday on the basis of its 49th semi-annual survey of the real estate market which covered 505 cities in 47 states.

Even with down payments ranging from 30 to 50 per cent or more in many parts of the country, money for the most ordinary non-vet home mortgage is no longer readily available in one city of every three.

If the veteran wants to buy a house, 4 per cent loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration are hard to get in 84 per cent of the cities, according to the reports from the 505 real estate boards. They are not being made at all in one city of every seven. Combined FHA-VA loans are no longer readily available in 57 per cent of the reporting cities.

As a result of this tightness, the once outmoded second mortgage has again come into use for home purchase in 38 per cent of the reporting cities.

These large down payments were credited with holding up home sales and slowing down the escalator movement through which used homes become available for sale or rent. They are delaying the complete solution of the housing shortage.

With the shortage being whittled down by the industry and the disappearance of the sellers' market, sales prices of used houses are lower than they were a year ago in 71 per cent of the surveyed cities. They hold to last year's level in 24 per cent of the cities, and are higher in 5 per cent.

PRICES STAY HIGH

For new houses, the continuing high prices of labor and materials keep selling prices somewhat higher than they were a year ago in 45 per cent of the cities. However, home builders have attained a selling price lower than last year in 16 per cent of the cities. Prices for new-built houses stay about where they were a year ago in the remaining 39 per cent of the cities.

Volume of sales of used houses is lower than it was a year earlier in 84 per cent of the reporting cities, primarily as a consequence of the abnormally high down payments but also because of the natural decline with the passing of the peak of the shortage. Volume remains at last year's high level in only 14 per cent of the cities and is higher in 2 per cent.

The same factors have slowed the volume of sales on new houses also, with 62 per cent of the cities reporting less turnover than a year ago, and 22 per cent listing volume the same as a year earlier. Sales volume of new houses is higher than a year ago in the remaining 16 per cent of the cities.

The commonest interest rate at which first mortgage loans are now being made on new moderately-priced homes is still 5 per cent in a majority of the reporting cities (63 per cent). This includes cost of mortgage insurance, if used. However, the most general rate is now 6 per cent or higher in one city of every five throughout the country.

The outlook for the remainder of 1949 is for still increasing interest rates in 58 per cent of the cities, while hope for lower rates is practically non-existent. An overwhelming 94 per cent of the cities look for no improvement in mortgage money supply, and 49 per cent believe the money supply will grow tighter.

Prices for new residential property during the rest of the year are expected to be stable at about their present level in 48 per cent of the reporting cities. While 23 per cent of the cities think they may go lower, 29 per cent look for them to rise.

For used dwellings, mortgage conditions and the growing volume of new construction will be likely to bring a gradual adjustment downward in 71 per cent of the cities, while 24 per cent expect a stabilized price situation. Only 5 per cent look for a price rise.

SITUATION CHANGING

The new situation, in which acute shortages have been met and in which the primary aim of new house construction must eventually be the betterment of housing standards, will mean lower general volume of real estate sales. This is the outlook for the remainder of 1949 in 66 per cent of the reporting cities. Rate of turnover is expected to stay about what it now is in 26 per cent of the cities, and to rise in 8 per cent.

The home building industry is concentrating on the production of a house low in cost, even under today's prices for materials and labor. The NAREB survey included reports from 442 cities in the reply to this question: "What is the lowest price at which new housing can now be produced and marketed in your community?"

The market price is $7,500 or less in 52 per cent of the reporting cities. This sales price is not restricted to the smaller cities, moreover. For example, new houses are being produced for sale at $7,500 or less in 53 per cent of reporting cities in the population group of 100,000 to 500,000.

The "minimum-cost house" that is being marketed today, described by the reporting real estate boards, is a modern house, as to heating and plumbing, of 4½ or 5 rooms, usually has two bedrooms, and is frame or asbestos (sometimes of brick). It uses a wide variety of the new construction techniques, but in most cities is not a prefab.

Fifty per cent or more of the total housing production today is in the low-cost field in more than half the reporting cities. More than one-fourth the surveyed cities are putting at least 75 per cent of their new housing construction into the type they feel is low-cost housing. (The minimum acceptable house may still be a $10,000 house in many high-grade residential suburbs.)

Prices for vacant lots stay on an even keel. They are about the same as they were a year ago in 60 per cent of the reporting cities, have gone down in 19 per cent, but have risen in 21 per cent. Sales of vacant lots are in smaller volume than a year ago in 45 per cent of the reporting cities. are unchanged in 36 per cent, and are higher in 19 per cent.

Small Home Design Number 7

Unusually Compact Ranch Type Home Has Ample Room

By Dean H. ROBINSON

This is an unusually compact one story ranch type home which, with the attached garage, looks more pretenious than it really is.

The scale model shows this home constructed of white beveled horizontal wood siding complimented by a reddish brown roof and shutters of the same color. However, the exterior would look equally well if built of brick or cement or cinder block.

You enter from a covered front porch into a reception hall which leads to the kitchen, bedrooms and living room. You will note how few steps are necessary to go from the kitchen or utility room to the front door thereby saving the busy housewife many unnecessary steps.

Living room and dining room are combined and are actually 27 ft. 4 inches long by 11 ft. 4 inches wide. This is an exceptionally large open planned area for this small house. There is a large picture window along two-thirds of one wall of this area and a door leading on to a very pleasant living porch or terrace. The two bedrooms are large and have ample closet space, and the bath is convenient to both.

Linen storage is in the bathroom proper, and the closet in the hallway could be used for bulk storage of many kinds.

There is a roof over the service entrance and the front of the garage, providing sheltered passageway from these two areas.

The kitchen is unusually well and compactly designed with an exceptional amount of working space and shelf area. There is room enough for a counter area where the children can eat their lunches, or where the family can gather for quick snacks.

The utility room is compact and there is plenty of room for tubs and other laundry equipment. The heater is in one corner of this room and uses the same chimney as the fireplace in the living room.

This home has no basement and radiant heating is recommended.

Another convenient feature that has been added to the house is storage space for garden tools at the back of the house. This same area could be used for the storage of outdoor furniture which would be used on the living porch during the summer months. Complete building plans at $7.00 and additional sets of building plans at $2.50 are available from Scale Model Home Planning Co., 505 Lafayette Building, Detroit 26, Michigan.

Lions Club to Hear Talk By Capital U. Professor

H. R. Cotterman, professor of education at Capital university, will be the guest speaker at the annual charter night dinner party of the Mansfield Lions club.

The dinner to be held at the Moost lodge hall at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, will be a "ladies night" party.

Cotterman, who also is an author, farmer, and humorist, will speak on the subject, "Women, Women, Everywhere."

Charter members and past presidents of the club, which was started seven years ago, will be honored at the dinner.

Among the guests will be Alvin Fankhauser, of Mansfield, district governor of Lions clubs in this area; Dr. Ray Finney, president of the Marion Lions club; and the district governor from the Elyria area.

J. R. Roby will serve as toastmaster and dinner music will be furnished by Miss Shirley Lay, accordionist.

Roby is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Other members of the committee include James Miller, president of the club; Peter Mayer; Morris Marquis; Claude Ewing and Vaughn Davis.

Organize Auxiliary

Group Studies Police Work

Reorganization of the Mansfield Auxiliary Police, dormant for several years, was recently completed. The name has been changed to Mansfield Police Department Auxiliary Police, Fred Caster, publicity chairman, stated yesterday.

New officers are Alden Lash, president, Gerald McCready, vice president, and B. W. Doolittle, secretary - treasurer. Robert Thierklein is membership chairman.

Meetings will be held every Monday night at the City hall at 7:45. Membership will be limited to 50 at present. Auxiliary police are now taking a course in first aid, conducted by Paul Herlihy, which will be completed in seven weeks. Instruction is given from 8 to 10 p. m. each Monday.

Plans are being completed for a summer program of target shooting, gun study and other phases of police work.

Auxiliary police carry on their activities under the direction of Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab, and the direct supervision of Lt. John Steel.

Tax Listings Due By April 1

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe warned yesterday that the listing period for personal property is April 1. He said that so far some 2,300 persons have gone to his office to list their personal property for tax purposes.

Deadline for paying the first half taxes is April 10. Wolfe said that on written application the time for listing may be extended 30 days if there's sufficient cause.

Former Mansfield Nurse Taken By Death

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Kate Kohlsaat, former Mansfield nurse Mrs. Kohlsaat died in Baraboo, Wis. Tuesday following an extended illness. Funeral services and burial were held there Thursday.

Mrs. Kohlsaat served as director of Visiting Nurse association here for a period of several years in the early 1920's.

Mansfield's New Citizens

Bauer Family Found Borders Unstable

JUST AMERICAN, THANKS—That's the way Konrad Bauer, 320 Third avenue, feels about his citizenship. A native-born Austria-Hungarian, he moved to Germany at an early age and became a citizen there. After World War I he found himself in Poland. Now he's ready to settle down in the U. S. permanently. He hopes to get his papers this May.—(News-Journal photo)

Konrad Bauer, 320 Third avenue, could almost be classed a citizen of the world, and even he admits it's a bit confusing

Bauer, who hopes to get his birthplace straightened out so he can have his American citizenship papers by May, was really born in Austria-Hungary.

Then his native part of the country was taken into Yugoslavia. His father moved to Germany and became a citizen there. So did the Bauer children.

After World War I, the part of Germany where the Bauers had settled became the Polish corridor and was partitioned to Poland.

When Bauer applied for his papers, his birthplace was listed as Kapetanero, Yugoslavia, making him a Yugoslav citizen. Bauer contested this.

"I suppose my papers would have gone through all right," he said, "but it wasn't correct and sooner or later they would have caught it and that would make more work. "It's better to get it right in the first place," he added genially.

Bauer was 22 years old when he came to America in 1923. With him came his parents and a brother, John Bauer, who now resides at 302 Second avenue. His mother, Mrs. Eva Bauer, only parent surviving, resides in Ontario.

Mrs. Fred Miller, 335 Central avenue, and wife of the present Fifth Ward councilman, helped them in their passage over here. Mrs. Miller, a sister of Bauers, came over in 1911.

But that wasn't the end of the exodus of the Bauer family to the United States. Another sister, Mrs. Robert Ickert, Grace street, followed the family here in 1937.

Asked what country of the many he's lived in suits him best, he quickly replied:

"It's easiest living over here. Anyone who tries can make a living in this country."

Bauer recalls the inflation which hit Germany after the first World War.

"They talk about inflation here — it isn't even a start toward the inflation Germany had at that time.

"People would throw five and 10 marks on the street and even the kids wouldn't pick them up."

He explained that a mark, before the war, was worth approximately a quarter in German money.

"Everytime we got paid (Bauer was working for the railroad near Berlin at the time) we'd rush out and get a newspaper to see what it amounted to in American money. Usually the week's pay would be about $2 over here."

That, he continued, was when he was getting 26,000,000 marks a week.

"We got three and four pay raises a week, but it didn't do any good. I sold a bicycle for 50,000,000 marks because I thought I could buy a pair of shoes for that, but I didn't have quite enough."

Bauer, who has his own trucking business, has established himself as one of the city's coal dealers. He is the father of two sons, Robert, 19, and William, 17, both at home.

TOLEDO MAN LOSES 38 LBS. WITH RENNEL

"My wife and I both praise Rennel highly," writes Mr. C. C. Bruce, 227 Broadway, Toledo 4, Ohio. "Since taking Rennel I have lost 38 lbs., and I haven't had to go hungry or deny myself of foods. My wife has also lost weight and double praises Rennel. Since losing those extra pounds her high blood pressure is reduced and she feels better than she has for years."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on genuine Rennel.

Play Try-Outs Set Thursday

Try-outs for the next production of the Little Theater will be held Thursday night at the common pleas court room, Earl Heasley, director, announced yesterday.

The next and final play of the season will be "Western Union, Please" a comedy, which is to be presented at John Simpson junior high school on May 11 and 12. Student night on May 10 will preceded the adult performances.

Thursday, Heasley said, there also will be a reading for next year's productions. The first of these will be "Joan of Lorraine."

Donathan Child Taken By Death

Marsha Diane Donathan, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Donathan, Plainview avenue, died suddenly Saturday afternoon at home of a heart ailment.

She was born at Portsmouth Dec. 2, 1948. She is survived by her parents.

The body is being returned to Portsmouth today where funeral services and burial will be held Monday afternoon. Arrangements are in charge of the Jones Memorial.

Creamed ham is delicious served over crisp Chinese noodles; the noodles may be bought in cans. Serve a salad of canned yellow cling peach halves, watercress, and French dressing with it.

Look at it, look into it!

SEE IT NOW

It's the great New Plymouth — engineered from the inside out to give you the greatest Plymouth value in history!

Built to ride in

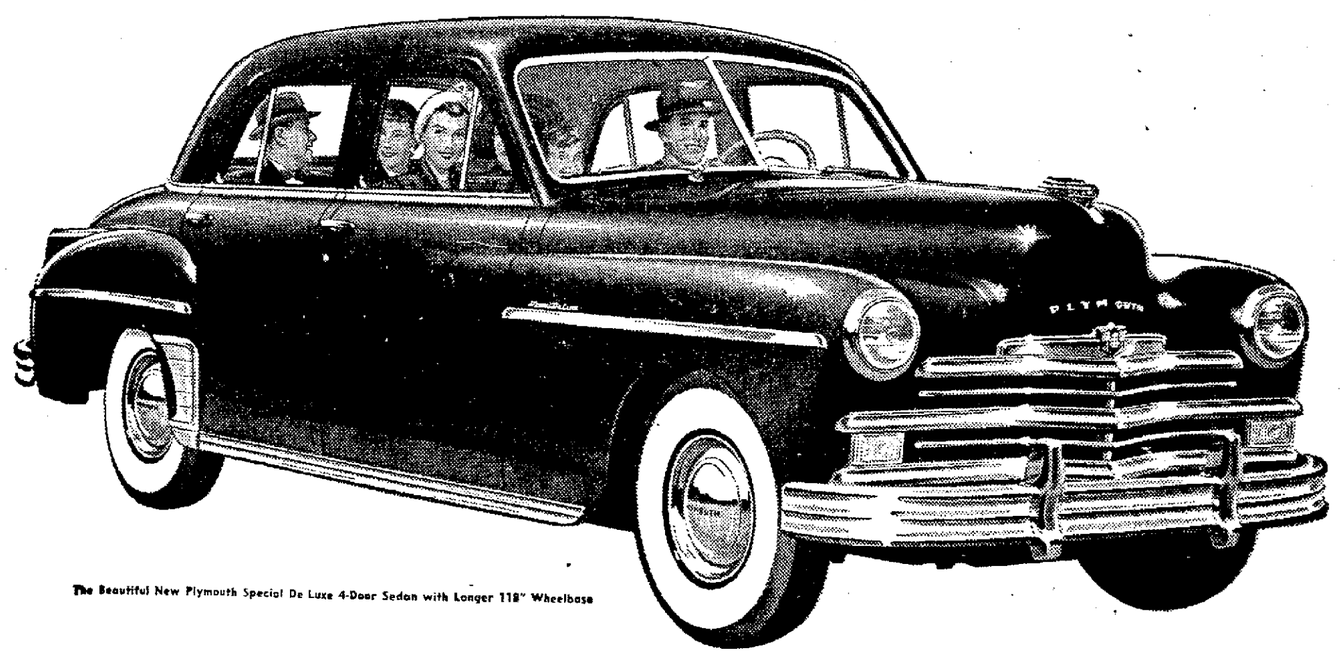
This proud young Plymouth beauty is the latest, greatest product of engineers who cling stubbornly to one idea! That new automobiles are made—above all else—to ride in. Every part of these cars—inside and out—must combine to make motoring easier, safer, more pleasant. And that's exactly what the great New Plymouth does!

Its beauty belongs

The new beauty really belongs in the New Plymouth. The sweeping, new low lines mark the outer form of a car that's easy to drive, easy to park, easy to put in the garage, easy to service. Fenders blend beautifully into the body, but they're separate and detachable—and you don't have a whopping repair bill if you happen to dent one!

Room you use

The outside dimensions have been reduced — to make driving easier. But inside—where you ride—those famous chair-height seats are even wider! You relax at a comfortable angle. Long legs stretch out, high hats stay put. Diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers reduce sidesway. You ride in quiet comfort you've never known before.



The Beautiful New Plymouth Special De Luxe 4-Door Sedan with Longer 118" Wheelbase

Far better vision

Both windshield and rear window are larger in the New Plymouth. Your "eyeline" passes over the curving low hood to a clear undistorted view of the road. The entire exterior of this car is designed to make the most of the greatly increased glass area—to give you far better vision in all directions—day and night, rain or shine!

More powerful engine

Newly designed cylinder head, higher compression ratio, new intake manifold. These three new features combine to give the New Plymouth a livelier, more powerful engine. New chrome compression ring — another Plymouth "first" in the lowest-priced field — reduces wear on the cylinder walls, helps prolong engine life.

More for your money

If you haven't seen this great new value car, step at your Plymouth dealer's now. From bumper to bumper it's a greatly improved Plymouth. And millions of motorists know that when you improve a Plymouth — you've got an automobile!

Jaycees to Name Outstanding Young Man

MANSFIELDER OBSERVES WAR EXERCISES—Marine Corps Pfc. Albert Bair, at rear with Gárand rifle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Bair, 348 West Sixth street, is observing an artillery barrage laid down during the recent Atlantic Fleet exercises in the Caribbean sea. The Mansfield Marine is shown with Pfc. D. L. Reed, partially hidden behind the tropical grass, of North Adams, Mass., and A. L. Coughlin, at right with a Browning automatic rifle, of Columbus, while the three were at Vieques, Puerto Rico, playing an active part in the Marine Corps share of the war games.

Winter Digs Into City's Street Fund

9-Day Snow Battle Cost $2,265

The battle against snow and ice has cost Mansfield more during the past nine days than all the rest of the winter.

Street Supt. E. W. Davis said yesterday the late-winter storms, which have coated the city's streets with snow almost nightly, have drained $2,265 from the street department funds.

Street workers spread 55 tons of salt and 85 truckloads of cinders on slippery intersections and grades.

In the nine-day period ended yesterday, there were 1,380 man hours charged to the project of clearing snow and ice from the streets.

The labor cost was estimated at $1,380 by E. W. Davis.

The 55 tons of salt cost the city $615. Cinders, 350 cubic yards of them, were received free of charge from industries and the Ohio Public Service company.

However, 50 truck loads of cinders were hauled from Melco, a trip of 15 miles. That contributed to the city's gasoline bill of $156.

Included in the expenses was the rental of a grader and an overhead loader from the Darling Construction company on Thursday, the first day of the snow. That cost $114.

There were five trucks and five drivers loaned to the street department by the garbage department, and were not charged up to the job.

The street department's trucks and labor were shifted to other necessary jobs as they could be spared. But over the nine-day period there was an average of 20 men and six trucks working constantly on snow and ice control, Davis said.

Selection To Be Made Wednesday

Fesler Scheduled As Speaker at Party

The Distinguished Service Award to the outstanding Mansfield young man in 1948 will be presented Wednesday night as a special feature of the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce "Bosses Night" dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The Mansfield young man must have been between the ages of 21 and 36 on Dec. 31, 1948. Jaycee membership has no bearing on the eligibility of the person to receive the award, Jaycee officials said. Selection of the outstanding young man is made by the same committee that picks the monthly Honor Citizen in connection with the Jaycee-sponsored "The Best Is Yet to Come" show.

Eligibility for the award is based on the man's contribution to the community welfare during the year, his participation in all-around community activities, evidence of lasting contributions to Mansfield's civic programs, exhibition of leadership qualities, evidence of business progress and cooperation with individuals and organizations working for a better Mansfield.

The award is part of a state and national program designed to bring recognition to young men.

COACH SPEAKS

Wesley Fesler, head football coach at Ohio State university, will keep the night moving for football fans attending the banquet. Fesler will combine a blackboard presentation of some inside-dope on football plays with a movie showing the highlights of Ohio State's games of last fall. The movie shows in action many of the plays he will describe and sketch on the blackboard.

Alumni of Ohio State and other Mansfield football enthusiasts have been invited by the Jaycees to attend the dinner and hear Fesler.

As an added attraction, several business firms which sponsor the Jaycees will display their products at the hotel.

A smoker for the Jaycees and their guests and bosses will follow Fesler's talk. There will be entertainment by Gene Gump and the Humdingers, Mansfield's barbershop quartet.

Tickets for the annual affair, arranged by James Guest, Junior C. of C. social chairman, may be obtained at Tawse's Pharmacy and the Richman store.

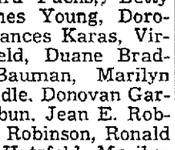
Mansfield Senior High News

Twenty Seniors Elected To National Honor Group

By MARGIE GOODMAN

Twenty Seniors elected to National Honor Society were announced at an assembly March 17. The girls are Barbara Bowles, Marilyn Brandt, Mathilde Endrody, Pat Jackson, Gizella Knefely, Norma McCally, Despina Nickas, Jean Robinson, Martha Shiplet, and Nancy Sorenson. Boys: Richard Butts, Richard Dillon, George Freund, Harold Leiendecker, Harry Osbun, Thomas Owen, Richard Rohleder, Thomas Swisher, Richard VanVoorhis, and David Wappner.

These students were chosen by a committee who base the choice upon the following qualities — leadership, scholarship, character and service. Another group of seniors will be added to the membership at the end of the year. This new group will be "tapped" by the present members at Class Day exercises.



MARGIE

Seventy - one MHS'ers made the honor roll for the fourth term. The nineteen sophomores are Kenneth McCally, William Cline, JoAnn Christman, Beatrice Divelbiss, William Reale, Harlean Laughlin, Doris Schaaf, Evelyn Schroeder, David Ebbert, Norman Drake, Barbara Jiso, Shirley Jones, Shirley Jurliss, Ralph Sorenson, Barbara Shaffer, Mary Alice Laser, Daphne Maras, Dolores Ferrick, George Stonebrook, and Mary Ann Taylor.

Here are the twenty-six seniors who made at least three A's in their major subjects: Harold Leiendecker, Marilyn Brandt, Gizella Knefely, Despina Nickas, Mathilde Endrody, George Freund, Edward Fuchs, Betty Erickson. James Young, Dorothy Kurko, Frances Karas, Virginia Brownfield, Duane Bradrick, Betty Bauman, Marilyn Bell, Mary Biddle, Donovan Garber, Harry Osbun, Jean E. Robinson, Jean A. Robinson, Ronald Keith, Robert Hatzfeld, Marilyn Klee, Joann Tooker, Norma Touby, and Robert Clouse.

Ask Friendly House Bids

Bids for the sale of the old Friendly House building on North Main street will be received immediately, Russell Gimbel, director, said yesterday.

They may be either mailed to Gimbel at Friendly House, or be made by personal contact, he said.

Sale of the old settlement house now is necessary so that more funds may be provided to apply on the new building on North Mulberry street, Gimbel said.

The grounds that go with Friendly House have a 120-foot frontage and extend 135 feet to the rear. There is an alley on both sides of the property. The building contains 15 rooms, a large kindergarten and a large gymnasium.

"It would be an ideal place for storage, a showroom or factory warehouse," Gimbel suggested yesterday.

The new building on North Mulberry street is expected to be ready for occupancy by late spring or early summer. But there are still funds needed to complete the building and equipment costs, Gimbel said.

Thief After Auto, Piece At a Time

Someone, if he's planning to get it a part at a time, has a start toward a new car.

Roy Herring, manager of the Herring Motor Car company, yesterday reported to police that the keys to a 1949 car in his auto showroom at 30 South Walnut street were stolen after 3 p. m. Friday.

Possibly, if it's the same person, the thief plans to get a whole car before April 1 when 1948 license plates expire. C. M. Dunlap, 103 Crouse street, reported to police yesterday that the 1948 tags have been stolen from his car parked in front of his home.

The thief also took an instruction book and service policy from the new car at Herring's.

Sues for a Million But Gets 2 Dollars

DALLAS—(AP)—Harry M. Hoxsey was awarded $2 damages here in his million-dollar libel suit against the Hearst newspapers and the American Weekly, Hearst Sunday supplement.

Hoxsey operates a cancer clinic here. The award was made by Federal Judge William H. Atwell.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A 37-year-old mail clerk who served as an army lieutenant in the war, Solomon Lester, was held today on a mail theft charge.

151 Escape at OSR In Year, 145 Caught

Mansfield reformatory and its honor farms accounted for 151 of the 207 escapes from Ohio penal institutions in 1948, the state welfare department reported yesterday.

Acting Reformatory Superintendent George J. Allarding said, however, that 145 escapers were returned to the reformatory during the year. Only five of the 151 escapes were made from behind reformatory walls, the other men fleeing from farms or honor camps. Seventy-eight inmates walked away from the farm at Mansfield and 74 from the honor camps at Sandusky, Grafton, Osborne, and Mt. Vernon.

Allarding said the escapes represented seven per cent of the inmates on the farms. He said he considered the percentage "very low."

Allarding added that the institution has a large turnover on the farms since the average time spent on a farm is about five months before paroles are granted. He said because of the large turnover there were more chances for escape.

Pointing to the fact that inmates average 20 years of age, Allarding said they are more unstable than the older inmates at the penitentiary and London prison farm.

ESCAPERS GO INSIDE

Allarding said inmates are put on the farms to create in them an incentive to behave and to show they can be trusted. Once a trustee escapes from the farm and is returned to the institution he usually is kept inside the prison walls until he is paroled, Allarding said.

The 207 escapes in Ohio last year was 37 more than the 1947 total, the welfare department said. In 1947 Ohio was third in the number of escapes in the nation. Only Georgia and Alabama reported more.

The penitentiary listed seven escapes last year and nine returns, including two who had escaped in previous years. None of the seven escaped from within the walls. They were on honor details around the city of Columbus.

Of the 43 listed as escaping from the London Prison farm, 23 fled from the honor dormitory outside the walls, and 20 from the Lebanon honor camp in Warren county. Thirty-seven escaped inmates were returned to London last year.

The department's report also said that there was not a single escape at the Marysville Reformatory for women.

College Gets Gift

WILMINGTON —(AP)—Wilmington college yesterday announced receipts of the largest bequest in its history, a gift of $125,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Lida K. Johnson, of Urbana.

Drivers Pay Court $60

6 Traffic Violators Draw Fines

Six motorists, arraigned on six different traffic violations, appeared in municipal court yesterday were fined a total of $60 and costs.

Paul Gemzer, 243 Longview avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of unsafe operation and was fined $10 and costs. His right to drive was suspended for 60-days. The arrest was an outgrowth of an accident on Newman street, March 13.

When he pleaded guilty to a charge of crossing the yellow line on U.S. Route 42, William E. Nentzling, Mansfield R.D. 2, was fined $5 and costs.

William B. Shoup jr., 274 Myers avenue, was found guilty of five separate parking violations and was fined $5 and costs.

Speeding on U.S. Route 42 cost Charles H. Semans, Ashland, a fine of $10 and costs.

Jimmie Walters, Ontario, pleaded guilty to a charge of making an improper left turn on State Route 181, and was fined $10 and costs.

Charged with failure to yield the right-of-way, Willie Picklesimer, Greenwich R.D. 2, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

Charles Wakefield of Columbus, charged with speeding, forfeited a $25 bond when he failed to appear in court.

Meets Monday

Members of the North Lake Park association will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the park pavilion, Frank Gillingham, president, said. Recreation plans for the summer will be discussed.

Nurses Have 775 Calls

During the 140 working days of the first half of the fiscal year, the Visiting Nurse association made a total of 775 calls. This was an average of 5.5 visits per nurse per day. Of the total calls, 650 were made to homes and 125 to industrial plants.

Receipts for the quarter totaled $1,954, and operating expenses were $2,428. Of total receipts $567 was from home nursing visits, $256 from industrial plants, $38 from the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, $1,086 from the Community Chest, and the remainder from miscellaneous sources.

An analysis of nursing visits in the quarterly reports shows 542 of home visits were noncommunicable diseases, four were acute communicable diseases, 25 tuberculosis, 68 maternity and 11 unclassified.

Sixty-two of the industrial visits were to Farm Tools, Inc., the other 63 to Ideal Electric company.

Of the total visits made, 458 were full pay, 78 part pay, 191 free, 40 Metroplitan Life Insurance, and eight outstanding accounts.

Crash Hurts Mansfielder

Jasper Stricker jr., 23, of Mansfield, R. D. 4, was reported in "fair" condition yesterday at San Antonio hospital, Kenton, where he was taken following an automobile accident Thursday.

He is being treated for shock and internal injuries. The accident occurred on U. S. Route 30 near LaRue when Stricker lost control of his car and it overturned and rolled through a fence.

Another Mansfield man escaped injury in a similar accident near Kenton Thursday. Dale Lytle, 33, told patrolmen he swerved the truck he was driving to avoid colliding with a car and the vehicle overturned in a ditch and rolled through a fence.

GOP Seeks Return to Power

Republicans Map Appeal To Voters

Hope For Swing In 1950 Polling

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republicans are going to the political bank to attempt to collect six per cent in 1950—the six per cent reverse swing in some of last November's votes they need to win back the House of Representatives.

Some pretty elaborate plans are being cooked up by House GOP chieftains to sell the voters in 29 states on the idea that what President Truman said about the Republican 80th Congress goes double for the Democratic 81st.

In those 29 states—scattered from Massachusetts to California—are 107 congressional districts where the difference between a Republican and a Democratic victory usually keeps politicians guessing.

The Republicans first are going to have to hold their own in 63 districts where the Democrats were breathing down some uncomfortable necks last fall.

Then they are going to have to change the minds of up to six per cent of the voters in 47 districts where Republican entries got from 45 to 49 per cent of the vote in November. Those 47 districts, plus present GOP membership of 171 in the House, would give the party the 218 majority that President Truman helped snatch away.

The President pitched his campaign against the Republican Congress, calling it the "worst" in history. He seems to have sold the idea mighty well in such pivotal states as California, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

By all the odds, those same states will decide whether the House stays Democratic in 1950 or whether it goes back into Republican hands. They represent the nut of opposition the Republicans have to crack to cash in on possible victories in other areas.

ERP Costs 17 Billion

NEW YORK — (AP) — Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul G. Hoffman has placed the full cost of the Marshall plan at $17,000,000,000. If it succeeds, he said, "our way of life will be secure."

If this American investment in European recovery fails, Hoffman said, "the Kremlin will make an all-out effort to communize western Europe."

Should the cold war thus be prolonged and intensified, he predicted, "huge" military outlays will continue, government controls may be restored and high tax rates in the United States will "sap the vitality of a free economy."

"The one certain way to get taxes down and to keep our economy free is to win the cold war in Europe and thus avert both World War III and the threat of World War III," the foreign aid administrator said

Ohio Ranks Third In Tractor Use

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Tractors are rated the chief mark of the mechanized farm, and Ohio has more than any state except Iowa and Illinois.

The Agriculture department, reporting on a newly completed survey of U. S. farm machinery, said Ohio had 182,000 tractors last May 1 against 239,000 in Iowa and 217,000 in Illinois.

ARE YOU A GOOD LISTENER?

Cleveland, O.—The engineering department of Paravox Research report that "soft" words like "he", "his", "your", "one", "four", sell", and many others —when measured on extremely sensitive scientific instruments have a sound wave pattern that indicates they are difficult to hear. A single word, muffled to the hearing, can cause a completely opposite mental impression than intended. A good listener should follow and clearly hear every word of a conversation. This is especially apt advice to persons over 50 whose hearing may be gradually declining in sensitivity.

To help correct bad hearing, the Paravox Veri-small provides a means of amplifying sound to correspond to the users' individual hearing condition. Extremely sensitive, but ruggedly built, the Paravox is entirely different than any other hearing aid, with features of construction and performance that will provide more natural hearing, more pleasure and a happier life. If your hearing has not been tested within the last 12 months, write Paravox Research, 2032 East Fourth St., Cleveland, Ohio for "Home Hearing Test" instructions and free booklet.

Denison Glee Club Plans Tour

Schedules First Concert In Mansfield

The Denison university Men's Glee club will appear in concert at the John Simpson junior high school Friday, March 25, at 8:15 p. m., under auspices of Denison alumni in Mansfield and the Lake and Campbell classes of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

In its annual spring tour the club of 37 members will make its first stop in Mansfield, following the close of college for the spring vacation period at noon Friday. They will later go to Toledo, Grosse Pointe, Milwaukee, Evanston, and Muncie on a four-state tour.

George F. Lake, senior at Denison and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lake, 195 Mapledale avenue, is business manager of the club. He is also baritone and is scheduled to sing one solo number on the regular program and a solo part in the club rendition of "Erie Canal."

Robert W. John, director, is instructor in music education at Denison's Conservatory of Music, and is in charge of the club while Prof. Karl Eschman is on sabbatical leave.

March of Science

Allergies Often Just Emotional Reaction

NEW YORK — (AP) — Are you allergic to work? or to your wife or husband?

That's not just a joke, said Dr. Harry Swartz, allergist of New York City. People use the word "allergic" that way in fun, but it does have a scientific basis.

You can get asthma, skin troubles, or other effects from things you touch or breathe on your job. A husband can get an allergic reaction from the feathers in his wife's hat. A wife may be allergic to her husband's shaving lotion.

One in every 10 Americans suffers from a major from of allergy. Half of us may sometime have a mild allergy. The rest of us could get one under the right conditions, Dr. Swartz writes in a new book, "Allergy. What it is. What to do about it." (Rutgers University Press). Allergies cause so much misery, and even deaths, that they should be tackled as a public health problem, he says.

Allergies can work in strange ways. Emotions may cause the reactions.

Dr. Swartz tells of one women who gets sick when she eats watermelon. Now even the sight of watermelon nauseates her.

A woman who suffers from rose fever had an allergic attack when she smelled an artificial rose, which she thought was a real one.

Hayfever victims may get worse if they're told the pollen count is high that day, when actually it is low.

One businessman was a tough case. Each April his attacks of asthma became worse, and stayed bad until October. He would lose weight, and be in bed for weeks. He was sensitive to pollens, but only mildly.

The real trouble was deep anxiety. He manufactured clothes, and had to decide in March on his seasonal "line." Not until September did he know if he had guessed right, making money or losing a fortune. He had never guessed wrong, but feared he might. His severe asthma disappeared when he changed to a business that brought a steady income each month.

Emotional upsets bring on allergic attacks if the pathways of reaction have already been set up, Dr. Swartz says. Basically, the reactions are due to release of a substance, histamine, from body cells. But "the emotional factor almost always plays a role in the symptoms of allergy."

A few people get hives or other allergies from exposure to cold, heat or sunlight. Others get hives if their skin is rubbed or tapped.

Dr. Swartz tells of a four-year-old boy whose skin was so sensitive you could write on it. If a word was traced gently with the fingernail on his skin, it would appear in large, reddened swollen lines a few moments later.

Most allergies are due to material agents.

Mark Made By Younger Dramatists

Fledglings Do Excellent Job

NEW YORK —(AP)— A healthy sign amid the Broadway playwrights ranks is that there now is a continuous flow of fledgling dramatists to augment such dependable veterans as Robert E. Sherwood, Elmer Rice, George Abbott, George S. Kaufman and others of their proven school.

Some of the old-timers have their failures, such as Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh" of last season, and some of newer element have their failures such has Garson Kanin's "The Smile of the World" of this season. In fact, Kanin encountered a double setback with the failure of his own play, which ran on Broadway for only one week, and the earlier failure of "The Leading Lady," from the pen of his wife, Ruth Gordon. "The Leading Lady" also lasted only a single week.

Kanin ,a veteran actor but a newcomer as a playwright, softened the disappointment of his family's double failure with the fact that his hit comedy, "Born Yesterday," continues as a fiesta attraction on the Rialto after more than a year's run.

Arthur Miller, another newcomer as a dramatist, scored again with his second resounding hit in "Death of a Salesman," a sensitive and moving play which seems likely to win several of the drama prizes which will be awarded at the ending of this drama season. Miller had scored once before when his "All My Sons" won the Critics Circle prize.

Tennesse Williams has developed over the last ten years into a playwright who can be depended upon to produce scripts regularly which are almost guaranteed hits before they open. "A Streetcar Named Desire" has been an outstanding hit on Broadway for more than 15 months.

TEX BENEKE

Traditions Carried On By Beneke

Tex Beneke, who took over the Glenn Miller orchestra, could have organized a band of his own years ago, with the aid and blessing of Glenn himself. But Tex preferred to remain in the Miller ensemble.

Tex, who brings his orchestra to the Madison theater on Tuesday for a one-day engagement, admits that leading a band was one of his life's ambitions. But he always refused to leave Miller.

Then, shortly before the outbreak of the war Miller began to think it was time Tex should go out on his own, and they frequently discussed the possibility of Tex starting his own band. The tragedy of war brought this about much sooner than either had anticipated.

Glenn Miller, serving as an army major and leader of the American band of the AEF, disappeared on the night of Dec. 14, 1944 while on a flight across the English channel.

Tex is carrying on the Miller musical traditions just as if the bespectacled leader still had charge of the unit. The entire Miller music library has been turned over to the band by Mrs. Miller.

Curtain Call

Local Stage Gives Novices Best Chance

By MARGUERITE MILLER

If you plan to hie yourself off to New York and take Broadway by storm, better read Lehman Engel's "Letter to a Would-be Duse" before you start packing.

Engel, who wrote the score for Maxwell Anderson's latest "Anne of the Thousand Days," has auditioned an average of 5,000 singers and actors a year in his 15 years as a Broadway composer and conductor. His article, which appears in the New York Times magazine section, is worth the attention of every budding Bernhardt or Barrymore who might be willing to give their all for the "theatah"—but who, alas, must also eat.

Engel starts out his article —an answer to a Mississippi miss who aspires to the bright lights—with the not-too-encouraging fact that 80 per cent of the 6,000 paid-up members of the Actors Equity association were unemployed last year. These "at liberty" actors did not include grads of drama schools.

He goes on to relate that only a handful of Broadway show casts work more than an average of five or six weeks a year and this sometimes includes the principals. The average is pretty true of both musicals and dramas.

Even acclaim by the critics at opening night isn't ironbound assurance that producers will be storming your door, Engel warns.

Even "names" like Ethel Barrymore, Tallulah Bankhead, Ina Clair, Jane Cowl and Helen Menken do not depend on Broadway for their bread and butter. Their comfortable financial status is won on those movie and radio jobs.

Speaking for himself, Engel wrote: "I would not remain in the theater with all that I know about it for five minutes longer if I could not also work on radio, film, records, concerts and a thousand other jobs that give me opportunity for personal expression—and money."

But there is a field for every aspirant to the stage, Engel continues. It's the community theater project—as successful in Hoboken as a Rodgers and Hart musical on the Gay White Way.

"Use the time you have been spending looking for a small temporary job for yourself to get together with other actors and directors to find your own theater," Engel advises, "a theater which will belong to you, yourself.

"Stop this daily door-to-door round of producers' offices. Instead, make a door - to - door round of homes and offices in a community, collecting money and subscriptions for a theater that will be the community's and your very own. Others have already done it. You also can do it. More and more this must happen. It is your salvation and the theater's."

NICK STUART

Actor Likes His Job As Band Leader

Nick Stuart, handsome young film star, leads the orchestra which highlights the next edition of "The Best is Yet to Come," scheduled for Tuesday at Johnny Appleseed junior high auditorium.

The show is one of a series brought to Mansfield under auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Stuart's last picture was RKO's "Twenty Girls and a Band." This was No. 126 in the parade of movies in which he has appeared as star or featured attraction.

The young musician has more movie work ahead, but his first love is music—he would rather lead a band than drop anchor in Hollywood.

Broadway Actress Back On Own Terms

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Joan Tetzel, the New York stage actress, is in Hollywood again, but on her own terms this time.

Miss Tetzel, of recent fame with Charles Boyer in the Broadway production "The Red Gloves," is doing a brief stint in "Thelma Jordan," at Paramount. When she finishes, she's going to Europe for the summer.

The first time Joan came to Hollywood she was tied to David O. Selznick by an exclusive contract. "He let me sit around month after month, without a single screen assignment," she said. "That's never going to happen to me again. If I hadn't been able to do a play now and then, I couldn't have endured it. As it was, I sacrificed a year and a half of my contract just to break free."

Same thing happened to Beatrice Pearson, another Broadway actress, and half a dozen others in the Selznick stable.

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Actress Corinne Calbet says it's an old trick with French women: losing weight just by thinking about it.

"Fashions change frequently in France," explained the little Parisienne. "The perfect figure at the beginning of the year may mean full bust and small hips. Six months later, perhaps, the mode is small bust and narrow hips. Or small bust and wide hips. One must be alert."

French women, she asserted, don't worry about politics. They worry about their men, about their love life. It follows that they worry about how they look she said on the "Rope of Sand" set.

"So, I can gain or lose just by worrying," she said. "I look in the mirror at night, and I say, 'Oh, this won't do' I talk to myself. It is awful, I say. I worry very much. I must lose weight. This thought goes into my subconscious mind while I sleep."

Mebbe. But Hollywood must be short on subconscious minds. There is plenty of evidence among portly males and plumpish females around here that worry alone gives an ulcer, but only.

Miss Calvet, married recently to Actor John Bromfield, insists that she can redistribute her weight in three weeks solely by the above method. "In one week I lost 3½ inches around the waist," she declared proudly.

This sounds like Dr. Coue of "every day in every way I am getting better and better" fame, but some people made that work too. Corinne at least has inspired a lot of wishful thinking among the Andy Devines, Jack Oakies and Sydney Greenstreets of the business. To date they're still on the hefty side.

Women, chiefly, take issue with Miss Calvet's system. But she just says, "Actually, they worry for one minute and give up for ten. Mental discipline takes time. Some minds have not been trained in that direction."

Corinne herself is her only material proof of the theory. And there are those who charge that she maintains her excellent figure by exercising secretly. Challenged directly on this, she emitted a "No!" which was a real Gallic explosion. "Exercise," she added bitingly, "bores me to death."

Well, she'll get plenty of agreement on that point.

YEAR-ROUND BEAUTY AND YEAR-ROUND COMFORT . . . for it's Thermopane REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

CUTAWAY VIEW OF THERMOPANE

Thermopane makes big windows practical whatever the climate. For it is a glass insulating unit, two panes or more, with dehydrated air sealed between. That's why it adds comfort and eliminates excessive heat loss. You leave Thermopane in all year.

Because the inner surfaces of the two panes are sealed from dirt and moisture, there are only two surfaces to clean.

Call us for a free estimate on Thermopane—for new construction or remodeling.

2—Card of Thanks

WE WISH to thank our many friends, relatives neighbors, pall-bearers, and pastor, for the kindness bestowed for us during the return and burial of our beloved son and brother.
Mrs. Cynthia Heifner
Mrs. George Yingling

WE WISH to thank our neighbors, friends and relatives for their many generous deeds of kindness shown during the illness and death of our beloved wife and mother, Carrie B. Harter. We especially want to thank Rev. Buchholtz for his consoling message and words of sympathy, those sending the beautiful floral offerings and articles of food, Wappner funeral directors for their very kind and efficient services, Snyder funeral home at Bellville for their kindness and use of their funeral home. In fact all those who in any way assisted during these trying hours.
